WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Political prognosticators today were analyzing President Hoover's Lincoln day address, broadcast from the White House study last night, with a strong suspicion apparent it constituted the first serious document in his campaign for re-election.

Although the speech was brief, it was a masterpiece of utterances, Mr. Hoover managed to:

1. Attack the "unhealthy agitation" for federal assumption of new financial and regulatory burdens which, he asserted, belong peculiarly to the states and local governments.

2. Declare against "nullification," and call for law obedience and adherence to constitutional processes.
3. Plead for party regularity and majority rule.
4. Praise the Republican party as the "party of responsibility."

The president's remarks were sent out over the complete hookup of both broadcasting systems, while G. O. P. headquarters here arranged Republican rallies all over the country to listen in. It was his first speech of consequence in a little over four months.

Must Fight Way Out
Mr. Hoover was quite positive in his stand on the question of state's

PA NEW OBSERVES

"Pick up Your House and Travel" seemed to be the slogan of two young men Pa New saw today. Parked in Sycamore alley Pa New observed coal smoke coming from the top of a truck and upon closer investigation, there it was issuing from a nice little coal stove set up in the front of the truck, which was equipped as a travelling home. Along one side was a sink, with running water, where it ran from or to could not find out; a couple bunks were cozily fixed up for sleeping, a book shelf well filled, spoke of recreation hours and a couple chairs denoted comfort. One of the young men had just emerged from a local store with a nice rug, which he placed in front of the stove. The young men drove away before it could be ascertained where they were going, but the car bore a Pennsylvania license.

Of course there is no need for Pa New to remind you that today is—Friday the thirteenth.

Rain today has been quite consistent and it looks as though the end of the long drouth has been reached in this area. From the national statistics, Pennsylvania and especially Western Pennsylvania didn't feel nearly as severe a drouth as other parts of the nation. We could almost advertise as the favored spot of the nation last year and the past winter, in the matter of rain fall.

Postmen are carrying heavier burdens today—Valentines are still being sent through the mails, Pa New discovered.

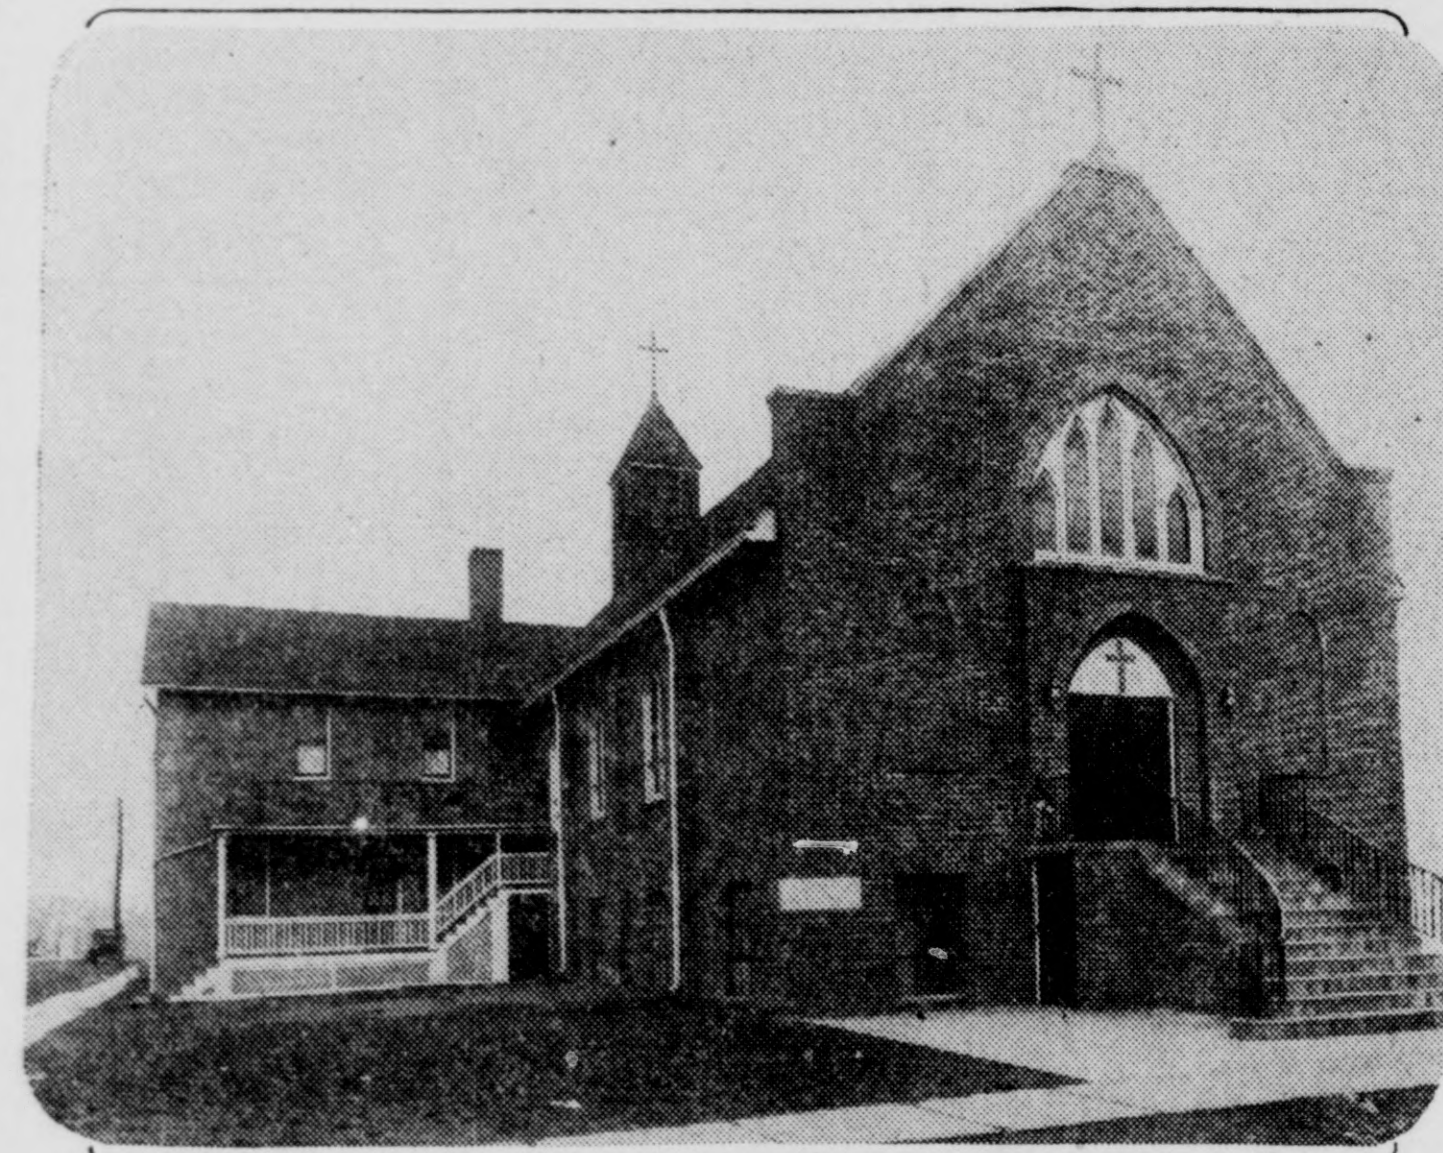

Electric lights were out on the North Hill shortly before midnight last evening, according to residents in that district who were up late.

Some women are just as careless as men, when it comes to smashing folks with their cars. This morning, one of Pa New's boy, got half drowned on Mill street, when a woman drove close to the curb and sent out a geyser. And she was so nonchalant about it. We hope some motorist reciprocates on her some time.

WILL DEDICATE NEW CHURCH IN SEVENTH WARD ON SUNDAY

ST. LUCY'S CHURCH AND PARSONAGE

Sunday will mark the culmination of many years of earnest and conscientious effort on the part of the pastor and members of St. Lucy's Catholic parish, in the Seventh ward district, to have a place of worship in keeping with the importance and activities of the parish in the life of this city.

At eleven o'clock on that morning, the fine new brick church edifice, corner East Wabash avenue and North Cedar street, will be formally dedicated to the services of the Roman Catholic faith, with all the beautiful rites of the Catholic church.

The Very Rev. Herman, Seidel, of Beaver Falls, Pa., by special authority invested in him by the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, will dedicate the new church, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito and many other priests of the city and surrounding districts.

Special Music

There will be special music to add to the beauty of the rites and ceremonies incident to the dedication of the new church, furnished by some twenty of the city's best singers from St. Vitus, St. Mary's and other parishes of the city, and adding to the effectiveness of the singing and service will be the accompanying violins, cornets and other instruments used in addition to the organ.

Following the dedication services, the pastor, Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito will entertain at dinner in honor of the Very Rev. Herman Seidel and the other priests taking part in the ceremonies. This will occur in the new home of the parish priest, which adjoins the new church edifice and is a part of the fine property just completed.

Began In 1912

It was in 1912, that Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus parish, caused to be erected at 207 South Liberty street, a little frame church for the Italian Catholics of the seventh ward district.

Since that time it has had five pastors, first the Rev. Joseph Daniels, who was in charge from 1912 to 1914. He was followed by Rev. Salvatore Marino, who had charge of the parish from 1914 to 1917.

In 1917, Rev. Ralph DiFilippo became the pastor and remained in charge until 1920. During his pastorate, a mortgage of $1,800 on the little frame church was paid off.

Rev. Nicolaus Mongiello became pastor in 1921 and continued in charge until August 1922. He was followed by Rev. Sebastian Ippolito, who became pastor in 1922 and has been in charge ever since. It was during the present pastorate that St. Lucy's parish began to take renewed life and assume an important place in the religious life of the city.

An indefatigable worker, deeply interested in his people and the community, he worked untiringly for the advancement of the parish and the present new church is the result of his efforts. His efforts among his own people won their love and interest and they backed him up in every way to place the parish in its true light and position. His efforts have not only won the respect of the members of his own parish but the entire seventh ward community.

Purchase Property

Adding to the esteem in which he is held is the fact that he is a veteran of the World War, having served two years in the Italian Armies during that terrible conflict.

In 1925 he purchased the lot on which the new church and priests' residence is now located.

Shoots Prisoner To Death

(International News Service)
CHARDON, O., Feb. 13.—Eugene Purcell, 32, alleged Pittsburgh bandit, was shot and killed by a deputy sheriff when Purcell attempted to escape from the Geauga county jail.

Sheriff Ben Hotchkiss reported today in revealing an unsuccessful plan for a wholesale jail break. Says to be used in the jail delivery have been picked up by the sheriff.

Purcell, according to the sheriff, made the first break for liberty by climbing up the chimney to the roof of the jail. He was shot as his head emerged from the chimney. His body was hurled back into a huge fireplace, dropping in front of many of the prisoners.

Nobody was kidding Will. I talked with the women on the committee that had to dig up the feed. I bet the editor never even knew they were there. Besides if people do send checks and things to eat for 'em, and they don't need it, why send 'em back. Give 'em to the Red Cross there.

There is nothing that a lion eats, that a human don't, and we got people hungry enough that I would even hate to trust 'em with an elephant's hay.

Well, I have to fly to California today. I got a wire from the Fox people that I work for, and they told me I better rush home to work on a picture or I would join the unemployed.

MOVING DAY FOR OVER 184 STUDENTS

(International News Service)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 13.—This was moving day for 184 student residents of the five fraternity houses ordered closed by University of Michigan authorities following police raids in which 79 students were arrested and a quantity of liquor seized.

Following a closed meeting of the university committee on student affairs members of the five national Greek letter societies were ordered to vacate their chapter houses immediately and keep them closed until September. All fraternal activities were ordered suspended in the penalized chapter houses which are Theta Delta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Sigma.

Padlock Procedure.
The disciplinary order commands the 184 members of these groups to hunt other quarters immediately and in effect constitutes a padlock procedure.

Any further discovery of liquor will result in the cancellation of chapter charters, the university warned.

What disciplinary disposition the university will make on the 79 students arrested in the raids and charged with disorderly conduct was not announced. Their arrangement on the civil charges was scheduled for today in justice court, but Prosecutor Albert Rapp indicated that

Insurgents Plan To Let Hoover Be Relief Regulator

WHEELER-BORAH
ENDORSE PLAN

Capitol Discusses "Interpretation" Of Relief By Secretary Hyde

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—An appropriation of $25,000,000 to President Hoover, to be used "in his discretion" for the relief of human suffering among persons too poor to secure federal loans, was proposed today by the Insurgent group as a supplement to the administration's $20,000,000 drought relief bill.

The supplemental appropriation would be directed to the president to be used if continued unemployment or drought create a national emergency, next summer. The money would be made available to purchase food, clothing and medicine, or provide any other relief desired by the president.

Suggested By Wheeler.
This suggestion was made by Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana and inferentially endorsed by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. Both agreed with administration leaders the pending drought relief bill would take care of farmers, able to secure loans, but protested it provided no relief for farmers who lacked security.

The whole Insurgent group was satisfied with the drought bill as far as it went.

Administration leaders announced they would hold the senate in continuous session until the drought measure is approved. It will be appended to the interior department appropriation bill and subsequently must be approved by the house. The measure already has the endorsement of house leaders and President Hoover.

Hyde Pledges Support.
The Capitol meanwhile reverberated with discussions of the "interpretation" given the drought measure by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde. After declaring it was the duty of the Red Cross to provide food, clothing and medicine to drought sufferers, Hyde admitted "there could be no prohibition against the proceeds of such loans being used for food or other supplies." He also pledged a "fair and sympathetic interpretation" in administering the fund.

This satisfied everybody the $20,000,000 could be used for the "food loans" which President Hoover assailed a month ago as "perniciously near a dole." It was also a complete reversal of policy by Hyde, but it saved the administration from the threat of a special session of congress after March 4.

Victory Claimed.
The Insurgents were quick to claim victory.

"Both President Coolidge and President Hoover declared congress had no constitutional power to provide private loans to individuals," said Senator Borah.

"The administration not only has retreated on the subject of food loans but it has surrendered on the constitutional principle it maintained was at stake. It is important to have loans for food provided but it is more important to have the administration retreat on its constitutional objections to such loans."

Death Penalty For Negro Bandits By Pittsburgh Jury

Three Negro Bandit-Slayers Are Found Guilty Of Murder By Jury

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Clarence Williams, Cleo Peterson and Robert Smith, negroes, today were found guilty of first degree murder with recommendation of the death penalty for the killing of August Braun in the latter's West Elizabeth butcher shop on August 8 last.

The jury, which received the case late yesterday, brought its verdict into criminal court when court convened today.

All three of the accused maintained their composure as they faced the jury foreman and heard the verdict. Judge Frank Reader, of Beaver county, immediately ordered the men remanded to jail to await sentence.

Armed deputy sheriffs removed the prisoners to the county jail, as they were being led from the courtroom. Williams turned to his two companions and muttered: "About the only thing left for us now is the pardon board."

Groundhog Emerges After Nearly Four Months' Sleep

Winter is over!
Coaltown's pet groundhog has emerged from his winter hibernating place, after having been asleep for the past 3 months and 13 days.

This groundhog is the property of Joseph Brooks, of Coaltown, and is now about nine years old.

The animal is watched every year as a prognosticator of the end of winter.

During November he ate a head of cabbage and then retired for his winter snooze. Now he has completed his sleep and is out for good, according to those who have watched his habits in years past.

Another head of cabbage was ordered up today for the first meal of the new year.

According to many, this little groundhog has proven a real weather prophet in years past, and it is believed that the severe winter weather of the present period has been left behind.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 13.—A short but terrific earthquake of much greater force than that which devastated Napier and Hastings last week jarred the whole of New Zealand at 1:20 p. m. today (9:28 p. m. Thursday eastern standard time).

The temblor raced east along the ocean floor and shook the Chatham Islands, several hundred miles out in the Pacific east of here.

Fresh Terros Spread.
Whether extensive damages or casualties were added to those inflicted by last week's earthquake could not be ascertained immediately. Lack of communication facilities in out-of-the-way localities and the disruption of others by the newest shock delayed investigations.

Gandhi Demands Independence For Country Of India

Qualified Dominion Status Does

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 13.—By his declaration that he will be content with nothing other than complete independence for India, Mahatma Gandhi has "burned his boats" an official of the India office told International News Service today.

In an interview with the correspondent of the London News-Chronicle, Gandhi was quoted as stating he sees no hope for peace in India in the offer of qualified dominion status made by prime minister J. Ramsay MacDonald at the Round Table conference in London.

"We are disappointed but not surprised," the India official said. "We still believe the moderates will have greater weight in persuading India to accept the proposed constitution than Gandhi's medievalism. The world must be the final judge of the justice and extent of our offer."

The News-Chronicle quoted Gandhi as saying he did not see justification in Premier MacDonald's speech for calling off his civil disobedience campaign.

"I want the substance of Independence and will be content with nothing else," India's revered "holy man" declared. "The British can keep their shadow."

Scout City Officials Dine With "Real Rulers" Here; Ellwood Officers Guests

"King For An Hour" ended just as pleasantly as it began yesterday for the Boy Scout rulers of New Castle and Ellwood City, for soon after the clock pealed out 12 gongs, they dined together with the real chieftains of both city and borough in The Castleton. Scout Executive Herbert Horton played the host.

Seated about the circle table to enjoy a repast and to recount some of the experiences of the hour before, were Mayor W. H. Gillespie with Scout Mayor Thomas Hawkins Burgess Judd C. Turner and Scout Burgess Frank MacGee and City Manager Lowell W. Monroe and Scout City Manager William Bayers the latter from Ellwood. Mr. Horton and a News representative completed the group.

For an hour the conversation continued with Mayor Gillespie explaining the part Hawkins played and Burgess Turner telling what MacGee and his administration did in the Tube city. Down there they have a city manager also, and Scout Bayers told of his work in that capacity.

The dinner marked the close of a day of activity at the city halls in both places, and the mayor, burgess and city manager enjoyed to the utmost the companionship of the scouts.

After the dinner the scout officials returned to school while the Ellwood officials and their scout chiefs motored home again.

INDICTMENTS IN DRUG COMPANY SALES OF STOCK

Nine Are Indicted In Atlantic
Drug And Chemical
Co. Case

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Indictments on three counts were returned by the grand jury against nine officers, directors and salesmen of the Atlantic Drug & Chemical company, of whom only three have today been apprehended as the outgrowth of an elaborate stock selling scheme which is believed to have netted the men about $500,000.

Specifically, the indictments charged the officials of the company with conspiring to cheat and defraud violating the state securities act and false pretense.

Those named in the indictments include Henry M. Bass, president of the company; David S. Hammond secretary; Alexander I. Thompson, allied director, and A. S. Guyer, J. Ritchie, Roy E. Smith, Joseph A. Smith, F. M. Foley and L. Williamson.

The company maintained an elaborate suite of the largest offices in the law and finance building. At the time investigators for the state securities department investigated the company's affairs, a telephone exchange with 20 private trunk wires was found in the company's offices.

Hammond, to date, is the only one of those named in the indictments who has been arrested. He recently waived hearing for court and was freed by Alderman Thomas Flanagan under $20,000 bond. Information against all the accused men were made before Flanagan.

Ritchie and Guyer were said to have posted bond before Lawrence county authorities and gained their release there on similar charges.

Investors throughout western Pennsylvania were swindled by the manipulations of the company, according to Mark I. Walker, investigator of the Pennsylvania securities commission. Information against the indicted men were prepared by Attorney Alexander P. Lindsey, special counsel for the commission, and Attorney J. Wray Connolly, his assistant.

Other officials of the company in addition to Hammond, Guyer and Ritchie are as yet unapprehended, although detectives are still seeking them.

Fail To Agree On Muscle Shoals

Senate And House Conferees
To Meet Again Next Wednesday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Another attempt by Senate and House conferees to agree on legislation concerning the operation of the Muscle Shoals power site in Alabama, failed today and the conferees will meet again Wednesday.

Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, whose bill for government operation of the site has passed the Senate and who leads the Senate group seeking government operation of the power plant and limiting the leasing of the nitrate plant for the manufacture of fertilizer and nitrogen products incident to fertilizer, declared the compromise proposal offered by the House contained a "joker."

The House conferees proposed that fertilizer manufacture be given priority in use of 85 percent of the power produced at the plants and that 15 per cent of the power could then be used for the manufacture of by-products.

"That, of course, is a joker," said Norris. "It would mean that practically no fertilizer would be produced and that the 15 percent allowed for by-products would be for chemicals having nothing to do with fertilizer."

You're the JUDGE

The wealthy Mrs. Rieves began with enthusiasm on the project of building herself an expensive country home. The work was all to be done by contractors in Mrs. Rieves' own city. She had the plans drawn by her favorite architect. She let the plumbing work to a certain contractor and gave him the specifications which read that in addition to the plumbing being done in a certain prescribed manner, the pipe used must be that of a certain firm, and so with all other work about the house.

At last the home was complete and Mrs. Rieves moved into it. When she took possession there still was some money due some of the contractors, especially the plumber. Almost a year later the balance still was due, but about this time Mrs. Rieves learned that the pipe used by the plumber was not that of the manufacturer specified in the plans. So therefore, when next the plumber asked for payment, Mrs. Rieves told the representative that unless the pipe was removed and the specified pipe put in she would not pay the bill. The plumber firm had been on the verge of suing, and this hastened it.

home is located and on which there is a frame house at the time for $4,500. Last May he started a campaign to raise funds for a new church on this site and today as a result of his efforts and the support given him by the members of the parish, there stands a new church, completely equipped and a new priests home, representing an expenditure of $30,000.

Work on the new church was started September 2, 1930 by A. H. Holland and N. Frasso, well known contractors of this city. On October 5, of the same year, the ceremonies attendant to the laying of the cornerstone were held. On last Christmas night, the first mass was celebrated in the first floor of the new church building. The parsonage, an eight room building was occupied by the pastor on January 20, of this year. The work on the church was carried on rapidly and without the least delay and this week, the auditorium was completed with new pews which provide seats for four hundred persons.

The bell of the church, the gift of James L. Adams and Joseph Adams, was blessed December 21 last and was rung for the first time on last Christmas night.

Gothic In Design
The church is Gothic in design and the interior has a high open ceiling and eight Gothic windows in which there is beautiful colored glass provide a delightful lighting effect in the interior in the daytime. The electric fixtures are in keeping with the general Gothic design, being of lantern effect and suspended from the high ceiling with artistically designed chains. They are made of brass.

Three altars are in place in the front of the church. Their design is in keeping with the church architecture. The main or center altar is beautiful in lighting effects and above the sanctuary, where the blessed sacrament is placed, there is a fine statue of the Sacred Heart.

To the left is an altar to the Sacred Heart and to the right is another dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary. New stations on the crosses are placed in position about the walls of the auditorium.

Fine new pews are placed on the main floor and to the rear of the church is a balcony for the choir and the organ. The floor of the aisles are protected by heavy rubber runners.

The church is 76 by 36 feet in size. The parsonage is 28 by 28 feet and is connected with the church.

Finished Basement
The basement of the church is twelve feet in height and its walls are finished in white brick. It will be used for the social affairs of the parish and by the clubs and other organizations of the parish. The exterior of the church and parsonage is of bricks of an artistic finish and pleasing color. Surmounting the front wall of the church and the belfry are nicely designed crosses.

Participating in the construction of the buildings mentioned, the New Castle Mining and Clay Products Company, C. H. Andrews, manager, which concern furnished the bricks; The William M. Clark Company, which concern installed the heating and plumbing systems; Chamberlain and Kline who did the electric wiring and the Sparano Electric company, which concern furnished the electric fixtures. Local firms and local labor are responsible for the construction of the fine new church property, which is a credit to them, the community and the parish.

The building committee which worked energetically and faithfully with the pastor in the building of the new church property consisted of Guy and Joseph Marchionda, Antonio Garofalo, Dominick Tomaleo, James Leone, Frank Forcucci, Thomas DeVito, James Morabito and Sisto Matteo.

Since the inception of the parish in 1918, there has been a decided growth in the membership and at the present time, the parish includes 395 families and 1,700 souls.

ROBBERS ENTER SEVERAL HOMES

the call and found that entrance had been attempted by raising a rear window. Apparently the robbers had been frightened away before accomplishing their purpose, and the reason that nothing of value was reported missing.

Second call in the same district was received about 3 a. m. from Alderman William E. Marshall, 329 North Jefferson street and was to the effect that someone had been in the house.

Officers Lockard, Hanna and Sheawalter went on this call. Arriving there, they found that entrance had been gained through a dining room window on the north side of the house.

Awakened By Burglar.
James Marshall who was in a front bedroom, was awakened by the noise of a stand knocked over by the robber as he was going about in the dark. He gave the alarm and robber rushed downstairs and out the rear door. The police report is to the effect that two men were seen leaving, as Alderman Marshall followed out into the backyard with a shotgun, which he discharged after the fleeing men as they went toward the old hospital building.

The drawers where the silverware was kept and other drawers had been ransacked and a considerable amount of valuables had been piled up ready to be taken, when the stand was upset and the robbers had to leave in a hurry. The result was that the robbers secured nothing for their trouble.

At Doctor's Home.
The third robbery in that district occurred about five o'clock this morning at the home of Dr. Mildred Rogers, 209 North Merter street. Entrance was forced through a rear window and the downstairs part of the home ransacked. Twenty-five dollars in cash was taken from pocketbooks, which the robbers found in that part of the house. The members of the household heard a noise about 5 a. m. and that is the manner in which the time of the robbery was determined. Detective C. G. Logan and Officers Crisswell and Longstreth continued the investigation of these cases this morning.

A call was received shortly after seven o'clock this morning from Dominick Bertieri, stating that the Bertieri store, 856 Arlington avenue, had been entered and robbed. Officer Lockard answered the call and found that cigars, tobacco, cheese, wieners, an eight pound leg of veal, boiled hams, candy and 85 pennies for a total value of about $50 had been taken. There was evidence that the robbers in this case had some means of transportation, in view of the amount of goods taken.

STAR LORE GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH TELESCOPE OPTICS

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

The usual refracting telescope consists of a tube with a large light gathering lens—object glass—at the far end, and a small magnifying lens nearest the eye. The light gathering lens is of long focus; the eyepiece, of short focus. The large glass produces an image of the object toward which it is directed, bringing the image to a focus at a point near the eyepiece called the focal plane. At this point the image formed will look just as large as the object itself. By removing the eyepiece and stepping back in the line of sight the equivalent of about 1-10 of the focal length of the object glass, one may see the object magnified.

POTTER SLAYING SUSPECT IS CALM UNDER GRILLING

000 holdup of the Manchester Trust & Savings bank here last December.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Hyman ("Pittsburgh Hymie") Martin, arrested here yesterday as a suspect in the murder of William E. Potter, former Cleveland Councilman, today maintained an imperturbable composure interspersed with occasional denials as Cleveland detectives questioned him closely in regard to his activities in the Ohio city.

Hymie's unflinching calm remained unshaken when detectives told him his picture had been identified by Fred C. Laub, custodian of the Cleveland apartment house where Potter was slain, as the tenant of the murder picture. Laub identified a police picture of Martin as the man who rented the apartment under the name of "J. L. Marcus," detectives said.

Rapid Developments
Developments followed rapidly on Hymie's arrest. Pittsburgh detectives left for Cincinnati in an attempt to link Jean Redlich, 27, held in Potter's murder, with the gang which last December looted the Manchester Savings Bank and Trust company here and escaped with $52,000.

Martin's arrest came when it was learned that Redlich, alias Reddick, who occupied a suite under the apartment where Potter was murdered, was a friend of Hyman's. Martin at first denied the new Reddick, detectives said, but later admitted the man was an acquaintance.

Admits Bootlegging
Although readily admitting bootlegging activities, according to detectives, Martin steadfastly denied any connection with the Cleveland crime.

"I have two brothers on the police force here, what do you think I'd want to shoot anybody for?" he demanded indignantly, detectives said. After declaring he hadn't carried a gun in seven years, Martin lapsed into silence. His last ultimatum was that until his attorney arrived he would not speak and, unless advised to the contrary by his attorney, would not go willingly to the Ohio city.

Detective Bernard Wolfe, of Cleveland, declared that if Martin refuses to waive extradition efforts would be made to bring residents of the Cleveland apartment house to Pittsburgh in an attempt to identify Hymie as a former resident.

Woman Is Hunted
Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Spurred by the capture of Hyman "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, authorities of two cities today hunted a blonde woman who was believed to have been involved in the murder of William E. Potter, 45, ex-city councilman.

Martin, arrested yesterday in Pittsburgh, has been identified as the mysterious "M. J. Markus," the man who rented the Parkway Drive apartment suite where Potter's body was found recently, according to police.

Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody stated today that it was "practically positive" that Martin was the mysterious Markus, who was believed to have fired the shots that killed the fiery Republican leader.

Photos Identified
Confronted by photographs of the reputed underworld character, Mrs.

Betty Gray, who occupies a suite directly below the apartment where Potter was found shot to death, identified Martin as the man she had seen in the building before the councilman's slaying was believed to have taken place.

Mrs. Gray was to be taken to Pittsburgh today by local authorities to establish positive identification.

While not stating definitely that he man who rented the apartment was Martin, Fred Laub, custodian of the Parkway Drive apartment building, said that photographs of Martin "looked like Markus," according to police.

Meanwhile, a blonde woman, believed to be Martin's "girl friend," was sought in Pittsburgh today, while local detectives followed a clue that the woman hunted in connection with the slaying was in Cleveland.

Identification Made
Pittsburgh, Feb. 13.—Definite identification of Hyman "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, an occupant of the Cleveland apartment house where William E. Potter, former councilman, was killed, was established today.

Queen Esther Morgan, 16-year-old Cleveland high school girl identified Martin. The latter was arrested here yesterday in connection with Potter's murder.

Betty Gray, arrested in Cleveland with Julius J. Redlich, friend, plotted to Martin's identification. Brought to detective headquarters, the woman viewed Martin from two angles through a peep-hole and declared him to be the man to whom she loaned her apartment key on the afternoon of the murder.

The Morgan girl and Miss Gray were brought here by police from Cleveland this morning. Both were positive in their identification of Martin, police said. The imperturbable Martin, however, persisted in his denials of having any knowledge in connection with the Potter killing.

Rev. Randles At Mission Tonight

"Our Heavenly Father" will be the Rev. A. J. Randles' sermon theme when he speaks at a special service in the City Rescue Mission auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The Second U. P. pastor is the first of a group of city ministers who will preach at nightly services.

Miss Emma Gibbons, local musician, will contribute special numbers. The Rev. Samuel Matland, pastor of the Greenwood M. E. church, will preach Saturday night.

ANALYZE HOOVER'S LINCOLN DAY TALK CAMPAIGN MOVE

rights and states' responsibilities and he brought the situation up to date by asserting it was up to the American people to fight their own way out of the current economic depression.

The government already has undertaken its share of the burden, he said. "Though less pregnant with disaster than in Lincoln's time," the dominant problem today in our form of government turns in large degree upon the issue of the relationship of federal, state and local government responsibilities; the president declared. "We are faced with unceasing agitation that the federal government shall assume new financial burdens that it shall undertake increased burdens in regulation of abuses and in the prosecution of crime."

"Carried to its logical extreme, all this shoudering of individual and community responsibility upon the government can lead but to the superstate where every man becomes the servant of the state and real liberty is lost."

Party Government
That portion of his address which bore inferentially on the prohibition issue was brief, but pointed. Enumerating the various principles Lincoln stood for, Mr. Hoover said:

"You will find him pointing at the public mind against nullification and for adherence to constitutional processes of government. No stronger statement has ever been made than that of Lincoln upon obedience to law as the very foundation of our Republic."

The plea for party organization also was based upon the emancipation.

"Lincoln was a believer in party government," the president said. "He realized, as we also must realize, that fundamentally our whole self government is conceived and born of majority rule, and to enable the majority to express itself we must have party organization."

"Lincoln led in founding the Republican party and he gloried in his party. His tradition has dominated to this day. It was and is a party of responsibility; it was and is a party of the constitution."

APPROVE PAYROLLS
Council met at the city building today and approved payrolls of $103 and $75 for work done in the Narrows and Meyer avenue. The pay covers the first three days of the current week.

Mrs. Prophet is scheduled to go on trial next week.

NEW ZEALAND IS AGAIN ROCKED BY SEVERE TREMBLOR

The violent tremor, climaxing a series of minor earth vibrations that so far centered around Napier and Hastings on North Island, spread fresh terror through New Zealand.

Dunedin, on South Island, reported some damage to property but it was believed that no casualties resulted there. An ominous silence isolated Waipukurau, North Island town, which suffered extensively in the previous disaster.

The violent jar today struck with lightning-like speed just as business was being resumed after the luncheon lull. It lasted only a few seconds, vanishing before the greater number of New Zealanders were able to realize what had actually occurred.

Freak Egg Bears
Bible Reference

The egg market has been flooded with hen fruit the past few weeks but it took a Buff Orpington hen at the Castle Hill Mission on the old golf grounds to do something unusual in this market.

On February 5 when the chore man, Frank Warner, went to gather eggs at the mission barn, he found one in the nest with an inscription on which was 666, Rev. 13:18; and 14:9.10, referring to "In the Counsel of Many There is Wisdom" and on this text there will be a sermon preached Sunday in the mission by Esther Schmidt, the daughter of the superintendent of the mission.

MARRIAGE OF INTEREST TO NEW CASTLE FOLKS

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Lewis of Pittsburg, Kansas, announce the marriage of their daughter, Blanche, to Mr. Roger Settle, of Harrisonville, Missouri. The wedding took place Friday evening, February 6, at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. S. Brown, in Kansas City, Missouri, with ring ceremony.

They were unattended, and only the immediate families witnessed the wedding. They left immediately for Creighton, Missouri, where Mr. Settle is principal of the high school.

Mrs. Settle is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College at Slippery Rock and was formerly a teacher in the Aiken school in New Castle. For the past year she has taught in Winslow, Arizona.

Mr. Lewis has accepted a position as district manager for the Farmers and Bankers Life Insurance Company with offices in Pratt, Kansas. He was formerly with the Metropolitan Life in New Castle, and for the last five years was assistant manager at the Pittsburg, Kansas, office of the same company.

The family will move to Pratt immediately after school is out this spring.

Violet Lewis, a graduate of New Castle high school in the class of 1924, will receive her masters degree from the Kansas State Teachers college, at Pittsburg this spring. At the present time she is supervising practice teaching in the College Junior high school (Mathematics Department) as a fellowship student.

Patsy, a twin sister, of the same class, is teaching mathematics in the high school at Buffalo, Kansas.

Open Door Class
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Millison, of Martin street, were hosts Thursday evening to the members of the Open Door Class of the Third United Presbyterian church, when they met for the monthly business and social meeting.

Merritt Reynolds presided at the business session, which took up matters of a routine nature after which a period of music, games and contests was held with prizes going to Mrs. Harry Beighley and Arthur Minnick.

Mabel Simpson of Volant and Mrs. Arthur Minnick were special guests. A dainty lunch brought the evening to a close and the members adjourned to meet March 12 at which time officers will be elected.

MRS. RICHARD FOSTER ENTERTAINS OLD TIMERS

Mrs. Richard Foster, Vine street, who has been a member of the Rachel Rebekah lodge for the past 39 years, entertained a number of the Old Timers of the lodge in her home Thursday at a tureen dinner.

The table was beautifully appointed in green and white, with cut flowers forming the centerpiece. Covers were marked for 18 and the guests presented Mrs. Foster with a beautiful white hyacinth as a memento of the long years she has been in the lodge work.

Mrs. Zella George and Mrs. Thos. Preston assisted in serving the delicious menu.

The after dinner hours were spent in making quilt patches, listening to the radio and in general conversation. The ladies decided to organize into a club, to be called Old Time Rebekahs and to meet every other month in the homes of the members.

April 8 will mark the date of the next meeting, at the home of Mrs. Leroy Whiting, State street.

Entertains at Cards
W. B. A. 98 members entertained Thursday evening in the Knights of Pythias lodge rooms on East street. 500 and beano proved delightful diversions with prizes for high score at 500 being awarded Mrs. William Back, Mrs. E. Veach, Glen Fox and Lee Whitman. Mary Elizabeth Earl was the winner of a special prize. The beano prizes were won by Mrs. F. E. Cowan and Ira Campbell.

The party was the initial one of a series of card parties, which will be held by the lodge each Tuesday evening in the K. of P. rooms.

The prizes for the preceding games were awarded Mrs. Mollie Finnegan, Mrs. John Earl and Jas. Finnegan.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Ethel Thomas, Mrs. Ed Sherbine, Mrs. Virginia Norton, Mrs. Emma McKissick, Mrs. Luella McDewitt and Mrs. Anna MacDonald.

DINNER EVENT AT FIELD CLUB SUCCESS

Thursday evening marked a most successful event on the social calendar when members of the New Castle Field Club gathered at the club house. A large number sat down at 7 o'clock to an elaborate chicken dinner.

At 8:15, after the serving of the menu, a playette entitled "The Romance of The Willow Pattern" was presented. The story of the play is based upon an old Chinese legend and was splendidly enacted by the players. The play was produced by a group of members of the Women's Club headed by Mrs. S. D. Pearson and was very capably directed by Mrs. Alva Shumaker. The players were, Mrs. E. Kaplan, Mrs. Robert Eckles, Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, Mrs. D. Duff Scott and Mrs. Harry McKee, Jr.

The evening's entertainment was concluded by a Valentine bridge game, and other amusements arranged by the social committee.

Bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. M. A. McClure, Virginia Cook, Robert M. Garland and P. F. Hyde. The program was arranged and directed by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Street, general chairman of the Field Club social committee.

King's Daughters Meet
Lois Rodgers and Beulah James were hostesses to the members of the Highland King's Daughters on Thursday evening in the home of the former on Delaware avenue.

Frances Shaw, president, was in charge of the meeting with Dorothy Blim leading the devotional period. Roll call was answered by twenty-four members, each responding with the name of her favorite Bible woman.

Helen Barr read a most interesting letter from Lillian McConnell, a missionary in India, who told the girls of the work of the nurses in the hospitals there.

Lucille Kison played "The Indian Love Call" which introduced an Indian pageant, in which Frances Shaw, Thelma Merriells, Helen Gilliland and Lucille Kison took part, each being dressed as an Indian.

A parliamentary drill was conducted by Dr. C. J. Williamson and the business meeting was conducted along the lines prescribed in the drill.

The evening closed with a delicious lunch, served by the hostesses.

Stephenson Circle
Miss Mary Hainer, East Lincoln avenue, received members of the Stephenson circle of the First Methodist church in her home Thursday evening for the regular monthly session.

Beulah Magruder, deaconess of the church, had the devotional period and used "The Light of the World" as her theme and during her talk paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. H. C. Weaver gave an interesting talk on "Indian Women" after which a period of sociability was enjoyed.

Mrs. W. J. Neff and her aides served a delicious lunch and the meeting adjourned to meet again March 12 at the home of Mrs. W. H. Thompson, 215 Edison avenue.

Mrs. G. S. Griggs of Butler, N. J., was a special guest.

Formal Musicale By Music Faculty

Westminster College Students To Present Program And Enjoy Social Time

(Special to The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 13.—Members of the Westminster College faculty will enjoy a formal musicale in the Conservatory building of the college tonight starting at 8 o'clock. Miss Florence White, general chairman, announces.

The musical program will be under the direction of Alan B. Davis, director of the Conservatory, and Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride, of the Conservatory faculty, and Miss Mae Haas, of the Conservatory faculty.

The program will consist of piano, violin and vocal numbers by students in the Conservatory of the college, and will last about one hour, following which there will be a social time and refreshments arranged by the general committee.

Piano numbers include: "November Sleigh Ride," Tchaikowsky, Mary Jane Stunkard, East Brook; Prelude in G, Bach-Bauer, on two pianos, Misses Kathryn Johnston, Belle and Marion Way, Pittsburg; "Lento," Scott, and "Snow Storm," Bibb, Eleanor, Sample, Evans City; "Of Br'er Rabbit," MacDowell, Kathryn Johnston, Bellefonte; "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor," Bach-Tausig, Marion Way, Pittsburg.

Donald Cameron, Johnstown, will play a violin solo, "Scene de Ballet," by De Berriot. Vocal numbers include: "Little Boy Love," Sandercock, Miss Lillia Goodwin, Oil City; "A Brown Bird Sings," Miss Dorothy Watkins, Parnassus; "Love's a Merchant," Carew, "I Look Into Your Garden," Coates, and "When I Was a Maiden," Smith, Miss Elizabeth Rose, New Wilmington.

Accompanists will be Miss Doris Shawkey, Polk; Miss Eleanor Sample, Evans City; and Miss Kathryn Johnston, Bellefonte.

The musicale tonight is one of a series of social activities of the Faculty Club, an organization of members of the college faculty. It is likely that a faculty dinner will be held in the spring to close the social activities for the year.

Four-Letter Club
The Four Letter Club members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Olive Bowers of 7 East Leasure avenue recently. Games and cards were diversions of the social hours, with prizes being won by Mrs. A. Womendorf, Miss Jennie Sumner, Charles Black, Mrs. Charles Bullis and Mrs. C. M. Pratt.

Dainty refreshments were served at a late hour to twenty-five guests, the menu appointments being carried out in Valentine fashions.

Out of town guests participating included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Womendorf and Mrs. Claude Spurend and son Claude Jr., of Niles, O. Mrs. A. Womendorf of Youngstown, O. Mrs. C. Bullis and daughter Eunice of Lionsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black of East Brook.

O. U. Girls Meet
Election of officers featured the monthly meeting of the O. U. Girls of the Central Presbyterian church when they met Thursday evening at the home of Ethel Douglas, Northview avenue.

Those named to fill offices for the coming year were Mrs. L. A. Campbell, president; Miss Margaret Pringle, vice president; Ethel Douglas, secretary and Lela Patterson, treasurer.

The missionary program followed election with Lela Patterson taking up the foreign subject most capably and Florence Wood giving an interesting discussion of the home topic. The March meeting will be held at the home of Lena Tucker.

Minerva Luncheon-Bridge.
Mrs. J. R. Rick of East Leasure avenue was hostess to members of the Minerva Luncheon Bridge club in her home Thursday afternoon.

After a delicious menu had been served at the prettily decorated table, the season's tones predominating, the hours were spent in playing cards. Prizes for honors were won by Mrs. Alfred Sadler and Mrs. Margie Pulkerson. Mrs. Steve L. Lewis, who was a special visitor, was given the guest favor.

The members will meet again in two weeks, the place to be announced later.

A. A. A. Club
The A. A. A. Club members met with Mrs. Earl Bishop on Ray St. Thursday. A business meeting was called and the election of officers occurred, followed by a social time. Tables of 500 were in play, and lovely favors for honors were awarded to Mrs. Alice Jones and Mrs. Harry Gilmore at the close of the game.

Mrs. Clark Kirschner assisted the hostess in serving the luncheon menu at 1 o'clock. The season's tones were used throughout in the decorations.

In two weeks Mrs. Grover Wilson of Cherry street will entertain.

Bible Class Meets.
Mrs. T. H. Reider, Lincoln avenue, received members of the Epworth Women's Bible class in her home Thursday afternoon with Mrs. J. C. Michaels presiding.

Thirty-one members were present and Mrs. Martha Hogue had charge of the opening devotionals after which a period of routine business was held.

Fancywork of all kinds and general conversation marked the social period and Mrs. Reider and her aides served refreshments.

March 12, Mrs. George Weingartner of the Butler road will receive the members.

O. N. T. Club
The O. N. T. Club members met at the home of C. E. Ritty on Porter street Thursday. Five hundred furnished entertainment and prizes for honors went to Mrs. James Steiner and Margaret Kane. A dainty lunch served by the hostess, closed the meeting.

Mrs. James Steiner was a special guest of the meeting.

In two weeks Margaret Fee of North street will be hostess to the club at her home.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

Miss Rosena Rice of Richelieu avenue charmingly entertained a group of friends in her home on Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Robert Sawatzke, who will be remembered as Miss Dorothy Taylor, a recent bride.

The hours were spent leisurely at bridge, two tables being in play and at the close of the game awards were presented to Emmy Lou Smith, The serving of a delicious collation followed, the table being decorated in tones of pink and white. A miniature bride and groom centered the table with pink and white streamers leading to each guests place. A lovely favor marked each place in a clever manner. Also, tiny baskets of candy hearts adorned the table.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. N. Rice with the menu.

The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

Honored At Shower
Miss Emmy Lou Smith proved a charming hostess Wednesday evening when she entertained a group of guests in her home at a surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sawatzke, a bride and groom of recent date.

Bridge, 500 and dancing filled in the social hours and later the tables were prettily arranged with novel Valentine favors, each guest receiving one where the hostess served a very delicious lunch carried out in the same tones. Her mother, Mrs. C. W. Smith and Miss Anna Duval assisted with the menu.

The honored couple were the recipients of a collection of many beautiful gifts.

J. G. A. Club
Mrs. Clara Rice of Neshannock Boulevard received in her home the J. G. A. Club members Wednesday afternoon. The occasion was featured with a birthday shower honor for Mrs. Geraldine Porter.

The social period was occupied with a game of 500, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Gladys Cramer and Mrs. Anna Book. Lunch was served at the small tables at a suitable time by the hostess. Valentine decorations predominated in the table settings.

The next gathering will be with Mrs. Corabelle Allen on Kathryn St. February 25.

Swastika Club
The Swastika members were received in the home of Mrs. Grant Alexander on Croton avenue. Cards were in play as the main diversion, and at the close of the game, a lunch was served. The hostess was assisted by Margaret Blaine who was a special guest of the evening. Valentines were cleverly used in the menu appointments and also in the table decorations.

They adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Harry Blaine on Dewey avenue.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT SURPRISE SHOWER

Members and friends of the Zion Luther League gathered in surprise fashion Thursday evening in the home of Astrid Nelson on Neshannock boulevard in honor of Ruth Bergland, a bride-elect of Monday, and a member of the league.

Bridge, 500 and chat were pastimes, and at a late hour, a delectable repast was served. The honor guest was seated at a table set for twelve, and numerous small tables perfectly arranged, seated the remaining guests. Valentines were used effectively in keeping with the occasion, and the center of the large table was a bridal tree with tiny red hearts dangling on silk streamers. Soft lights from the tall red tapers furnished the only light. A large cake made and baked by Hilda Johnson added to the setting. Inscribed on the top were the names "Ruth and Horace." The novel favors found at each guest's place were designed by Ingeborg Hallgren.

During the social hours, Miss Johnson gave an entertaining and original reading, dedicated to Miss Bergland. This was followed by a heart puzzle, the honor guest tracing the scattered pieces of a huge read heart, and at the end of the trail found a "treasure chest" which contained a collection of gifts, principally glassware and linens to use in her new home.

Virginia Boyd of Wilkinsburg was the only out of town guest present.

NO DEPRESSION IN GOLF

RECENT report showing that the New Castle municipal golf course was used by thousands during the past summer, despite any depression that may have existed, reflects a condition that was quite general throughout the country. Golf showed no depression. Despite the drouth, the industrial and business conditions, and the advent of miniature golf, true golf had a good year in 1930. That is the conclusion drawn from the results of a press survey. There were far more golfers in 1930 than in the year before.

Some individuals had to drop out of country clubs, but they seem to have gone on playing on public links. Many communities reported such a shift.

It was thought when the miniature golf craze broke out that it might mean the death of regular golf. The result seems to have been quite the contrary. Persons who might never have taken a golf club in their hands played on the tiny courses with the trick hazards and then felt the call of the great open spaces of a normal-sized course. Many regular golfers may have played on the tiny courses merely to practice strokes. At any rate, there was more golf than ever, of one sort and another.

Perhaps the real test of golf's resistance to hard times is ahead. But would the canny Scots ever have popularized a game that couldn't stand periods of financial stress?

JOYS OF LIVING

Who has not wished that he had lived in some remote and happy time? The magnificence of Rome, the glory of Greece, the golden chariots, the alabaster vases and the ivory chairs of Tutankhamen fascinate and enthral. Looking about upon a sick and weary man, nerve-shattered and hungry, it is not difficult to imagine how pleasant life must have been in an easier, golden day.

Yet, if we had been living in the days of the pampered Pharaohs, the vast majority of us would have been digging the irrigation ditches, sweating over the great stones that went into the pyramids, or—if we had been particularly clever—perhaps hammering the gold that went into the ubiquitous status of the king. The comforts of life were only at the top in 1500 B. C. and even the hope for improvement had not percolated to the bottom. There may be some consolation for the dissatisfied man of today in this thought—that his lot would have been infinitely worse 3,000 or more years ago.

It's easier to live today than ever before. Nearly all the woes from which the world suffers might have been prevented. But when an ancient civilization was overrun by a savage hordes, or when plague or famine decimated the population of the fairest cities, the wisest of those peoples couldn't help themselves.

Migratory tribes have since been pretty well billeted and ticketed, railroads and steamships have conquered famine, and intelligent sanitation and magnificently brave and curious medicine is less respectful of disease with each passing year.

RISING BUSINESS ETHICS

People old enough to institute comparison between the business methods of 30 or so years ago with those of today will agree that the standard of commercial ethics has more than perceptibly risen.

No one will contend that business, to use the word in its most comprehensive term, has approached moral perfection or that the Golden Rule is anything like universal, but honesty, again using a word in its largest meaning, is more generally practiced than it was three or four decades ago. Something more than a merely artful practice of the old maxim, "honesty is the best policy," has bred the alteration. The ethical consciousness of the world is greater than it was, and business has felt the inspiration of the change.

There are still men who believe in the cynical rule, "do others before they do you", but they less openly flaunt their ways before the public.

Of all the newer code of business, the change in the relations of employer and employee is the most hopeful and the most helpful. Where once there was mutual suspicion and antagonism often flaring into violent strife, there is coming mutual understanding, a realization of the two sides of the labor problem. Industrial peace is not absolute, but it is progressing and conciliation, give and take, and the knowledge that compromise when complete accord cannot be reached is more to the best interests of both sides than warfare is spreading through both the ranks of labor and capital.

Business today has the right to satisfaction in the reach it has made toward better ethical behavior.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAY MONTH

Although it is the shortest month, February perhaps holds the birth anniversaries of more famous Americans than any other. Among these, Washington and Lincoln are preeminent, but two other presidents, William Henry Harrison and Millard Fillmore, were also born in February.

This month also marks the birthdays of David Porter, naval officer of the War of 1812; Zebulon B. Pike, soldier and explorer, for whom Pike's Peak was named; General W. T. Sherman of Civil War fame; Horace Greeley and Henry Waterson, noted editors; Henry W. Longfellow and Sidney Lanier, poets; Mark Hopkins, the great educator who was president of Williams College for 36 years; Roger Williams, pioneer of religious liberty and founder of Rhode Island; Richard Watson Gilder, poet, editor and civic reformer; Dwight L. Moody, evangelist; Peter Cooper and George Peabody, philanthropists; Joseph Jefferson, actor; Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaper, and William F. Cody, the colorful "Buffalo Bill."

The February list also includes several famous American women, among them Susan B. Anthony, pioneer suffragist, and two noted woman educators, Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke Seminary, and Alice Freeman Palmer, former president of Wellesley College.

Among living Americans born in February, the most famous are Thomas A. Edison, Elihu Root and Charles A. Lindbergh.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:30. Sun rises tomorrow 6:57.

Horses have just about disappeared from the highways and so has horse sense.

A new song has been evolved through the unemployment situation, entitled, "He was only an apple vendor, but honest to the core."

It's too bad that Rand-McNally don't show us the straight and narrow path on their road maps.

Age of Cads—A woman got locked in the other day and her husband threatened to kill the first doctor who interfered.

Glad It Was All Right

Two painters, doing some decorating for a wealthy woman, told her in order to give it the finishing touch, they would have to have some brandy. She ran and got them the brandy, they drank it, completed the work, then called her in to see how she liked it. She was highly pleased and showed her appreciation. "I'm so glad you could use the brandy," she said. "I was afraid I'd have to pour it out. I gave poor Pido a bath in it just before he died."

An East Side man says that he believes his wife has the hoof and mouth disease. He says she wants to dance half the time, and talk the rest.

Excuse It Please—Diplomas from aviation schools are not printed on fly paper.

The Sunday-school teacher had been telling her class about the benefits of being good. At the end of her discourse, she turned to a bright-eyed girl and asked, "Where do good girls go when they die?" "To heaven," was the prompt reply. "And where do bad girls go?" "To the depot to see the traveling men come in."

Little Willie, a South Side boy is being given boxing lessons by his father, because the tot's mother insists on him wearing curls. The father says a boy with long hair must know how to fight.

Whatever the road to hell is paved with, it is edged with parked cars.

A Bargain

The farmer owned fields on each side of the golf links. It so happened that he was taking a short cut from one to another when the club's worst member was addressing his ball.

The worst member wagged his driver to and fro for several minutes, missed four swings, and finally hit the ball about a dozen feet. Then he glanced up and saw the farmer.

"I say," he protested, "only golfers are allowed on this course, you know."

The farmer nodded. "I do know it," he replied. "But I won't say nuthin' if you don't."

Smile and the world smiles with you.

Frown and you frown alone.

For the cheerful grin will let you in.

Where the frown is never known.

When will the world settle down and realize that its only real trouble is its own foolishness and get to work.

A noted author states that if he were not a writer, he could easily be a swindler. From some of the books we have read lately, there are plenty of writers who are swindlers.

Better Use The Doornat

Mrs. Betty Michaelson, Chicago woman, is sentenced to 30 days in the house of correction and fined $100 for shooting her husband because he walked over freshly scrubbed floors. Scarcely anything makes a woman madder. Both the judge and Michaelson realized it. The husband begged that his wife be discharged, in which plea he was joined by his mother and father. The prosecuting attorney thought it the duty of the son to discourage other wives, who might be inclined to protect the cleanliness of their floors with revolvers, by making an example of Mrs. Michaelson, hence the severity of her sentence. High spirited American wives must be handled more tactfully by husbands.

Saying It With Drugs

Man (in drug store)—I want some "concocted" lye.
Druggist—You mean concentrated lye.

Man—It does "nutmeg" any difference. That's what I "camphor." What's it "sulphur?"

Druggist—Fifteen cents. I never "cinnamon" with so much wit.

Man—Well, I should "myrrh, myrrh!" Yet I "ammonia" novice at it.

Eighty-three University of Michigan youths were arrested on charges of stocking fraternity houses with liquor in preparation for the coming Junior class dance. Now watch the alibis which are put up by heads of other colleges, where of course, this practice is not indulged in by the students. Oh My No.

Pitiful Cases—The red hot mama who got a high fever and blew out three thermometers.

His Fault

Little Emily ran in the house, crying as though her heart would break.

"What's wrong, dear?" asked her mother.

"My dolly—Billy broke it," she sobbed.

"How did he break it, dear?"

"I hit him on the head with it."

Alas! Rotten methods of enforcing a law require rotten men and rotten men give rotten service.

You can tell when people really need Government aid. They starve to death before it gets there.

A young man was standing next to an old woman on a crowded street car in Baltimore. Touching a man, who was seated, on the shoulder, the young man asked him what his seat was worth to him. "Ten cents," he replied. The young man bought it, and turning to the old woman, said, "Will you sit down, madam?" An example of southern chivalry which should have more imitators.

Motionless

Child—Mother, who put the statue under the sink?

Mother—Sh! Sh! That's the plumber.

Jesse James, pioneer train robber and bandit, used to hike out to a ranch he owned in New Mexico, whenever he pulled off a big job, until the excitement blew over. One time Jesse ran out of provisions, as the story goes, and came across a homesteeker with a wagonload of meat and groceries. He hired the homesteeker to work on his ranch until the homesteeker's provisions ran out, then ordered him to move on. That was quite like a modern bandit.

A big house is a nuisance if you don't need it, but few things are more annoying than trying to raise a ten-room family in a five-room house.

"Watch yer car fer a nickel, mister."

"Beat it, kid. This car of mine won't run away."

"Nah, but I kin call yer when it starts to fall apart."

A twenty year old girl out west has been arrested charged with the murder of her 80-year-old husband. Another example of the speed in which this generation lives. She couldn't wait for him to die a natural death in a few more years.

Quite A Joke

A young millionaire and his wife were talking about their tour in Spain. "The Prado was wonderful," the young man said. "What did you like best in the Prado?" his friend inquired. "A Correggio," he replied. "A masterly oil painting of Adam and Eve in the Garden, with the apple and the serpent." Then the young man's wife said with an air: "Yes, that painting interested us especially, because, you see, we know the anecdote."

"Joe, this arithmetic problem of yours about the huckster and the apples is all wrong. You'll have to stay after school and work it out."

"How far wrong is it?"

"It's a dollar wrong," replied the teacher.

Little Joe drew forth a roll of bills and peeled off a dollar. "I'll just pay up, instead of working the thing out," he said.

It is claimed that kissing is unhealthy. Perhaps these people who brag about how good their health is, have never been osculated.

Wrong Order

"Mom," said little Willie, bursting into the house all out of breath, "there's going to be trouble down at the drugist's. His wife has got a baby girl and he's had a 'Boy Wanted' sign in his window for a week."

Today's Storytelle

There was great excitement in the Jones house out on Long Island. A real lord was paying them a visit. He was now sitting at the dinner table and Mrs. Jones fluttered at his side. "My Lord," to eat this and that.

Mr. Jones swollen with a sense of the great honor bestowed upon his household, began each sentence with Lord and ended it in the same way with a worshipful not to say reverential air.

As a special privilege—thinking that he might talk about his mature years—little Willie Jones, aged five, had been permitted to attend the function on condition that he refrain from talking unless spoken to. Mindful of his pledge, the little fellow sat in silence, his large, round eyes fixed in a stare upon the face and form of the stranger.

But when he saw the visitor's eye roaming hither and yon across the laden table as though seeking something, an innate sense of hospitality moved him to speak.

"Mom," Oh, mom!" said Willie.

"What is it, Willie?" asked his mother.

"God wants a pickle."

Condemned murderer spends time writing poetry, says a New York news item, which suggests that he is going from bad to verse.

Not A Square Deal

The husband and wife were having some controversy over money matters when he said: "Don't I give you my pay check the first of the month?"

"Yes, but you didn't tell me you drew your pay every two weeks, you embezzler!"

EVER GO SNIPE HUNTING?

Did anybody ever take you Snipe-Hunting? I don't mean with a gun. I mean with a light and an open sack in the middle of a black night, in strange country. I nearly went just once. . . . I was a strange kid in town and I had to be "initiated." All I had to do was sit in a dark wood and hold open the mouth of a sack while the snipe, attracted by a lamp, hopped and fluttered and coyly drew near and finally walked right into the sack. Then my job was to close the sack and come home. And I almost did it.

But something happened. Perhaps my father explained that it was just a game—that there were no snipe in that wood—that that wasn't the way to catch snipe—that it was an old trick to humiliate a fellow and get the laugh on him and make him feel cheap. Or perhaps some boy in the neighborhood, who didn't enjoy practical jokes, tipped me off. At any rate, I didn't go Snipe-Hunting. Never went myself, never took anybody else Snipe-Hunting. And never liked Practical Jokes from that day to this.

My dislike isn't a virtue. I hate 'em because I'm so gullible. I never suspect them until I'm right in the trap, red-faced and perspiring and hating the practical-joker and wondering what fun he gets out of it. I don't like to be left holding the bag, so I don't like to see other people holding the bag, either.

There's grief enough in this world as it is, there's trouble enough for everyone, without deliberately manufacturing humiliation for other people. If we want superiority, we should earn it honestly; we can't get it through any of the thousands of practical jokes that men use to inflate their vanity and swell their arrogance.

There are Wise Guys in this world, and there are Suckers; and the Wise Guys feel very important and the Suckers don't always know they are the dupes of the others. The Wise Guys hold life cheap and they cheat their friends and they cheat their families and they cheat themselves of the best there is. The Suckers sometimes lose everything they have and they moan and they grieve and they suffer agonies of humiliation—but the Simplest Simon in the world can never lose as much as that man loses who thinks that this world is made just for him and that other people were created just to be taken on Snipe-Hunts for his amusement.

ON COMPLAINING WIVES

While some wives are responsible for the advancement of their husbands, thousands are responsible for the reverse of advancement.

Complaining wives rob husbands of the aggressive spirit. Barring a husband because he has not advanced to the extent of his friends and acquaintances is not the way to spur a man on.

It is a fallacy to think a man can be shamed into doing better.

Greater incentive is what a man needs and kindly expressions of confidence in his ability to progress.

There must be conviction back of it, not merely selfish desire.

If a man believes that his wife is governed by purely selfish reasons in promoting his ambitions he will not respond as wholeheartedly as he would to more altruistic motives.

If a wife's wish for her husband's success is that she may have additional, unnecessary things all the time, it is not inspiring to him.

Married happiness is mutual benefit when there is co-operation.

With one or the other trying to gain selfish ends in advancement, complete family happiness is impossible.

This is one of the reasons for so much discord in many homes.

GOD'S WAY

Of making men strong is sometimes to give them difficulties to overcome.

Of making men wise is to confront them with problems that make them think.

Of making men patient is sometimes by surrounding them with foolish folks.

Of making men sympathetic is by letting them suffer pains of their own.

Of making men humble is by letting them suffer occasional defeats.

Of making men courageous is by implanting within them the spirit of faith.

Of making men good is by exposing them to the winsomeness of goodness.

World Is Moved By Romance Of Royalty And Commoner

Breaking Of Tradition By Prince Lennart Of Sweden Reminds Americans Of Most Popular Tales To Be Found In Fiction

Attention which is given in this country to the romance of Prince Lennart of Sweden, involving royalty and the common people of the country, as represented by Fruelin Karin Nisswand, daughter of a Swedish industrialist, is justified by universal interest in tales of fiction. Official disapproval of the match and renunciation of crown claims by the young man add to the interest expressed. There are predictions of a happy ending.

"The king business," advises the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "doesn't offer much of a future for an ambitious young man. Even the perils of farming are less harrowing. And with Karin at his side, low at his doorstep and youth at his command, Lennart is making the choice the world approves, in preferring romance to royalty, cabbage to kings."

"There is a belief," declared the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "that the main trouble with modern princes is they refuse to come up to romance expectations. Too many wear derbies by hats instead of crowns, ride in sport cars when they might be prancing over the countryside on a white charger; and achieve publicity at Monte Carlo and the night clubs rather than in the fields where where dragons may be fought and beautiful maidens rescued. So the world applauds Gustav Lennart who becomes a plain 'mister' for the sake of a girl he met when he was fifteen and she thirteen. Later, when the appropriate and official frowning has been done and old King Gustav makes Mr. Lennart Wilhelmsson a count, it will be understood the 'objections' were largely those of policy and tradition. For the world which loves a lover and would have its princes romantic includes, in this case a very human grandad who is King Gustav."

"What is it kindred when a youths in love" asks the ALBANY EVENING NEWS, adding the comment as to the Swedish romance: "What is all the world indeed when Cupid, the optician, fits you to rose colored glasses and assures you that hitherto your vision has been all wrong and that these are what you have lacked a long time. The prince and princess style of literature has always appealed to us democratic Americans and we like this story of the prince who gives up his throne to marry the commoner. And just to be sentimental we aren't sure that the prince is not showing good sense for a throne is only a throne and 'kingdom just for two' is a better empire."

"The voice of rebellion against the modern profession of royalty," is heard by the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR as it quotes the answer of the grandson of King Gustav to the question as to his plans for the future: "First of all, I am going on with my agricultural training." The Times-Star continues: "In a world where dictators boss the realm or prelers do all the hard work, the ruler and his sons can do more than personally administer. True, princes do have to dedicate hospitals and orphan asylums, but their low opinion of this calling was expressed recently by the Prince of Wales, when he went on a strike against any more dedications. At present, Wales is headed for South America on the sort of 'mission he likes, stimulating trade. Take away the royal credentials and the Prince would become a super-salesman, as Prince Lennart might become one of the first farmers of Sweden. As it is, within the limitations imposed by birth, they are both doing honest work, while setting a fine example to the rank and file of their countrymen. Thus royalty in 1931 finds a useful niche in a world which has become a better place."

Suspecting that Gustav, now over 70, who is spokesman for the royal house, "in spite of his dignified bearing, has a twinkle in his eye and a ready sympathy for the problem of young folks," the CLEVELAND NEWS offers the comment: "However it turns out, Prince Lennart is prepared to go to work and support his bride, who, rich in her own right, really needs no support. He is a graduate in agriculture and proposes to be a banished real farmer in case he is banished from the palace. He shows the right spirit in a young man of good sense and breeding. Meanwhile everyone hopes the stern grandparent will relent—or that he is playing a game for the benefit of the youngsters themselves. This Swedish royal match is occupying the center of world interest just now."

Calling the prince "a sensible boy" the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST says of the romance: "What does the great-grand-grandson of Jean Baptiste Bernadotte, whose father was a petty attorney in Pau, mean by objecting to the marriage of his grandson to a commoner? Miss Karin Nisswand, the prospective bride, is doubtless of as good blood as ever were the Bernadottes, and her part certainly is better able to set the young people up than was the little French lawyer to do for his son, who as a matter of fact, ran away and enlisted in the marines and had the good fortune to make friends with our Napoleon Bonaparte. An the boy is a grandson, too, of a Romanticist of All the Russias, if that is anything to help him along. It must be thought that these royalties would unbend a little considering the things that have happened to their class in the past few years. Young Lennart, anyway, ought to get along, even if farming is in as bad a state in Sweden as it is in America."

"In popular fancy" suggests the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, "there are few happy marriages of state. Many monarchs have used their progeny as mere political pawns, but Gustav of Sweden is noted for his kindness. His people are willing to reject the harsh old code that the 'human' side of a royal life must be lived solely to further the welfare of the state. They hope he will write the characteristic 'happy ending' to this real life 'fairy tale.' "Americans rather like to see the claims of royalty flaunted and disregarded," says the ALLENTOWN MORNING CALL. That paper concluded "It has ever been the dream of commoners that the good prince will find and marry the beautiful maiden and that they will live happily ever after. It is an ideal that is held as an ideal because it rarely happens."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ROUGH STUFF

Two fishermen were having no luck with flies, so one suggested that they soak an angleworm in whiskey and try that. A fat worm was procured, put into an old can and some bootleg poured over it. The worm, now very animated, was slipped on to the hook and thrown overboard.

Immediately the once placid lake became violently agitated. Something was churning the waters to their depths. The rod bent double and the fisherman grabbed the line. His friend came to the rescue and two of them slowly reeled in. The struggling "something" finally was hauled to the surface.

And it proved to be the angleworm wrapped around the throat of a big trout, choking it to death!

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Now that the country has a good five cent cigar, the next thing that seems to be a necessity is some kind of splash board arrangement for ladies hose. With the weather what it is, the upkeep on silk socks must be terrific, and this column is always ready to give the little gals a hand.

The lady in the postoffice yesterday afternoon whose flesh colored hose looked as though some dog had shook himself nearby would probably be interested.

Not that this weather is to be criticized. Not by a lot. Need the rain too badly. About two weeks of steady downpour would put sunshine into the hearts of a lot of industrial managers, and water superintendents. The past few days have put a smile on the pan of the manager of the local water company. A week of it would send him into hysterics.

Jefferson street had an example of what electric light means. Fact a lot of the western and northern portions of the city had the example. For some reason the lights went out for a few minutes, not many, and customers it was as dark as a mountain of eight balls.

The statement that an electric light is a good policeman was borne out. The streets were excellent places for a nice messy holdup.

Waddya expect in the mail tomorrow? You know, what kind of valentines? Some of these confectory affairs splashed over with hearts and flowers and cupid, and verses about the roses being red and the violets something else, and ending with that "be my Valentine," effect on the end.

Now of course you don't have to loosen the bankroll for those lace and sugar effects. You can say it with flowers, or candy, or gloves. Or stoves or washing machines, or refrigerators. All depending upon what you think of the valentine in question and how much of the roll you are willing to go for.

Spring can't be far away. Saw a gang of boys on Epworth street shooting marbles last night after the lights were lit. Some mother would be wondering how those stockings got plastered with mud, and where her young son had had his hands, but boys must be boys and the ancient traditions must be adhered to. And spring brings marbles.

After looking at the calendar this column is undecided whether to go home and stay in bed, or go up to the police station and ask for a room. Friday the thirteenth. Black cats and strange noises, luck charms, and ladders to walk under. And never forget it's bad luck to lose thirteen dollars on Friday the thirteenth whether it be in the stock market, down a sewer or in a crap game.

Allenru 48 Hour Week-end Treatment For Rheumatism

SUFFERERS NOW JOYFUL—THANKFUL—ASTONISHED
Pain Agony And Swelling Go Over Week-end or Money Back Says Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc.

8 OZ. BOTTLE 85 CENTS

They call this the Allenru week-end treatment for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis because you can go to bed on Friday Night—stay there as much as possible till Monday morning and while there, drive the uric acid from your ailing joints and muscles.

But during that time you must take Allenru as directed—for Allenru acts with double speed when the body is relaxed and rested and this weekend method is particularly valuable to folks who don't want to lose time thru the week. You can purchase Allenru from Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any progressive druggist in America—a large 8 ounce bottle 85 cents—and money back if it doesn't do as advertised.

Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Lee Whitcare, Mrs. Clarence Johnston, Mrs. William Hanna, Mrs. Lale Christy, Mrs. Slater, Mrs. McConnell, and the hostesses, Mrs. Geo. Lawrence and Mrs. I. A. Lytle.

"WHO KILLED EARL WRIGHT"

Ministerial Association To Present Trial At Cathedral On February 22

The trial "Who Killed Earl Wright?" is not in any sense a mock trial. It is the last day of a great liquor trial held in the state of Iowa.

Two young men out of the very finest families in central Iowa went out one morning to spend the day together. During the afternoon they purchased some bootleg liquor, both becoming intoxicated. Along in the evening one of the young men killed the other. Of course he was brought to trial for this murder. The trial lasted a week and because of the prominence of the two boys it was the most sensational liquor trial ever held in that section.

One good man, going through this trial from the first, was so impressed with the last day that he said to his friend, "What have we witnessed here today should be re-enacted in every church in the state of Iowa." This man went to the court records, copied the exact testimony and the proceedings of the last day of the trial. He had this copyrighted and took it to the Anti-Saloon League.

"Who Killed Earl Wright?" has been put on very effectively throughout the district. This dramatic production portrays in a very effective way the prohibition cause and presents a very forceful temperance lesson. In these days when so many good people do not seem to have their feet on the ground on this moral issue, such a presentation as this is what is needed. Every official of the county, city, hamlet and village should see this trial.

This trial will be presented in the Cathedral on Feb. 22 at 8 p. m. at a great anti-saloon service of the churches of New Castle under the direction of the Ministerial Association.

Welsh News

By WILLIAM A. JOHNS (Brython)

Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips of East Reynolds street received sad news this week from Wales that the sister-in-law of Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams has passed away last month at her home in Swansea, South Wales after an extended illness. Mrs. Williams was well known to many of the Welsh people of this city.

Mrs. Samuel Jones is back home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips of East Reynolds street. She has concluded a visit with her brother Frank and his wife at Edenburg.

A prayer meeting will be held at the Emmanuel Baptist church on Sunday morning and evening. After the evening service there will be a business meeting of the church and all members are requested to be present.

The Son of God did not come to stay on the lever of humanity, but to lift humanity to his level.

Thirty Thousand Books Circulate

Circulation Of Books Increases Greatly At Local Free Public Library

Over thirty thousand books from the New Castle free public library circulated through the hands of readers last month. The books that kept moving the more rapidly were fiction and seemed even more popular than in months previous.

Miss Alice Sterling, the librarian, reported recently to the library board of trustees that the circulation has gained 39 per cent over that of January, 1930; the adult 38 per cent and the juvenile 40 per cent.

The gain in nonfiction this past month over the same month of 1930 is 42 per cent. Total adult circulation for January was 15,849—fiction, 13,333, non-fiction, 2,426, foreign, 88. Total juvenile circulation for January was 14,321—fiction, 9,370, and nonfiction, 4,951.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—A man by the name of Edgar Lee Masters has a new book on the market called "Lincoln The Man."
Mr. Masters has nothing against Lincoln except that he was a second rate actor, in law and politics, was actuated only by a wild desire to succeed.
The book is kicking up a terrific cloud of dust in New York literary circles; but it hasn't occurred to anyone yet to inquire of Edgar Lee Masters what warrant he has for serious attention.
So far as his Lincoln trade is concerned, the only justification I can see for it is that Masters had a lot of time on his hands, a well-oiled typewriter, reams of copy paper, a publisher and a good publicity man.
And in this generation of Borah, Boole and Babson...

A COOLIDGE REBUKE
When Rupert Hughes undertook to hurl a few verbal rotten tomatoes at George Washington, somebody asked President Coolidge what he thought of the book.
Cal peered over to where the Washington obelisk pierced the tranquil June sky.
"I see his monument is still out there," he said.

TEXAS VISITOR
Old Ed Howe's son, Gene, journalistic pooh bah of Amarillo, Texas, breezed into town the other day, accompanied by his column features, "O. W."—the old woman—and "Lal-apazooza," as Gene designates his charming wife and their daughter, Jeanne.
He heralded the glad news that Texas has abolished the death penalty on spats. The boys down home, he says, are having their summer exfoliated half-sold, buttoning on tailors and referring to the result as "Hoover Galoshes," out of deference to the administration.
Gene is unique in this: He would take New York as a gift—as a matter of fact, wouldn't mind living here if he had the money to take the same grade of cream that's served with all his meals down in Amarillo.

New York has only one fault to find with the most popular human in the entire Texas Panhandle. Gene and his folks don't hit town often enough.

WOLF! WOLF!
For 20 years or more old Charlie Schwab has been making an annual pilgrimage to Europe for the purpose of telling ship news reporters on his return, that "the United States is on the eve of an unprecedented era of prosperity."
As soon as the editors heard that Charlie had returned again, they'd rush the new "cut" through, and then dig out the old "prosperity" blurb for a two column-set-up on page three and wait for a "release."

This year The Worthy Brothers fooled 'em. The bunch gathered round him on the deck of the steamer. The old timers smiled knowingly.
Charlie cleared his throat.
"Gentlemen," he sighed, "I have nothing to say."
As Ed Howe once remarked: "A reasonable probability is the only certainty."

FINDS ENGLAND'S MAIN STREET

Sinclair Lewis—Sank Center's sweet gift to American Letters—is in dear of Lunn.
He was telling the Britishers that Babbitt is not indigenous to Hamlet—eavens no! Babbitt flourishes in England as well as in the States. "Your specimens are more complicated, more cultural than ours," said "Red" Lewis, "but they're the same, at heart."

He also told the pressmen that "there appears to be less vitality in the air, nowadays, throughout the world."
He'll probably change his mind on that, when he gets back home and renews his acquaintance with the subway.

INTRODUCING AN OPTIMIST
Meet Miss Barbara Barnes—1929 beauty—who has just opened a new Thousand-Dollar Book Shop, where prices will range from $1,000 to $35,000 a volume.

There are 6,000 collectors in the country, 2,500 of whom reside in New York, and to these Barbara looks for support. Many of them, it seems, are hampered for space. The Park avenue apartments, with a bathroom to every bedroom, leave small space for books.
In the struggle for cleanliness and culture on Park Avenue, cleanliness comes first.
But, as Barbara points out, "the less space for books, the more demand for costly tomes."

BRENT

SEWING PARTY

Mrs. Mars of Brent received a telegram on Sunday saying her son James of near Washington, D. C., is seriously ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Mars left for that place immediately.

But why do those Chicago sharpers rig up a faro game when it would take less time to sell their victims Lake Michigan?

Backache, Dizzy

—Anthony's Studio
Mrs. CHAS. A. SPAYDE

New Castle, Pa.—"Dr. Pierce's A-nuric for the kidneys can be highly recommended by me. I had suffered with backache, pains over my kidneys, and got so dizzy at times I had to sit down. I would notice specks before my eyes. My limbs ached, my appetite was poor. I could not rest as I should at night and was very drowsy during the day. Mother recommended Dr. Pierce's A-nuric for me and after taking one bottle I soon began to feel like myself again. All my trouble disappeared, and I cannot praise A-nuric too highly for it."—Mrs. Charles A. Spayde, 118 Federal St., Druggists.

Peter's Adventures

SPEEDING TO SAFETY
"Hey, there, sisters! Get out of the way if you don't want to get hurt!" cried the first of the advancing trouble-makers. Peter and Busy dodged behind a big rock, but Lively started off in another direction.
"I go to warn my mistress!" cried she. "Maybe she will think of a good way to bring peace in the hill once more!"
"I have an idea!" said Busy, suddenly, and clutched at Peter's arm. "Good or bad?" demanded the boy. "Splendid!" answered Busy. "Unless I have forgotten my way about, not far from this rock is an underground passage that leads below the earth for a while and then straight up and out into the meadow. Once at the end of the passage, I am sure I can find my way to the spot where I left the survivors of our hill building themselves a new home."
"Hurrah!" cried Peter. "You lead and I'll follow. I don't think we ought to get mixed up in this scrap, do you?"
"I should say not!" exclaimed Busy, the Black Ant. "In the first place, I hate a scrap, and in the second place it is none of our business. The Redskins and their slaves ought to settle it among themselves."
"Right!" cried Peter. "Where do we go from here?"
"To the foot of that smudge tree," answered Busy. "Keep your head down, so the troublemakers will not see you, and run as you never ran before."
Off sped Busy and away ran Peter close at his friend's heels. Unseen, they slipped into the underground tunnel, and just as Peter was beginning to lose his breath, there was a faint light in the distance that meant the end of the passage and the green meadow and freedom.

NIGHT COUGHING
Quick and Safe Way To Stop It!

Whatever it is due to—cold, catarrhal condition of the throat, dust irritations or smoking—night coughing can and should be stopped! Nothing will pull you down faster, for it not only deprives you of needed sleep, but it tears you to pieces. At the first sign of a cough, take good old "Piso's for Coughs." It does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages and soothes the inflamed tissues. At the same time, it has a cough value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you get "Piso's for Coughs."

Penn. Mother Solves Problem

"My little daughter, Marie, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. Michael Mobile, 339 N. Edgewood St., Philadelphia. "She was listless, didn't want to play and had very little appetite."
"She suffered a lot from constipation until I heard about California Fig Syrup and decided to give her some. Fig Syrup helped Marie remarkably. She is now strong; has no trouble with her bowels; has a good appetite and digestion; is quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headachy, weak, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and elixir of senna.
Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

BRIDGE PARTY AT NANCY BECHTOL'S

Sixty-five members of the Business and Professional Women's club of New Castle and their friends were the guests of Miss Nancy Bechtol, president, and the members of the executive board, Thursday evening, at Miss Bechtol's apartment on East Grant street.

There were about 16 tables of bridge in play and the high score winner at each table was awarded a prize at the end of the evening. The event was greatly enjoyed.

Members of the executive board, at a suitable time, served a delicious lunch. The board consists of the following members: Misses Rose Barber, Garnet Rhodes, Violet Hund, Sara McCune, Della Glenn, Janet Kissinger, Helen Hinkson, Mary Wilson, Emily Rice, Katherine Hite, Alice Stierling, Mary Towell, Edythe Dunlap, Sue Cramer, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Nesbit, Ethel Hunt, Anna Benson, Effie Butz, Elvira Penton, Lucile Lutton, Jeanette Hutton, Verlee Armstrong, Mrs. Hickok, Alisan Leslie, Nance Pugh, Charlotte Emery, Jessie Jenkins, Dr. Rosella Popp, Grace Ackerman, Dr. Mildred Rogers, and Grace Browne. A large number of the board were present.

Presented in Recital

Mrs. Edward W. Conway presented in a piano recital, her pupils at her home on East Washington street, Thursday evening. Compositions of Bach, Beethoven, Paderewski and Schrodienker were used. Those taking part included Twila Nixon, Florence Meyers, Clara Eddy, Marie Gray, William Strawbeck, Carol Jean Rackstraw, Alice Kennedy, Jessie Jane Gilbert, Ruth Peterson, Virginia McGrath, and Virginia Wilson, Marian Shaffer, entertained with a group of readings. At the close of the evening, Mrs. Conway served refreshments, assisted by Clara Eddy.

Social at St. Joseph's

On Monday evening in St. Joseph's hall on South Jefferson street, a charity card social will be given for the pleasure of the members and their friends. This event will be in charge of a special committee, and not the L. C. B. A's as given and published.

VALENTINE PARTY DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Miss Anne Hitchens of Lyndal street, charmingly entertained a group of guests in her home Thursday evening at a Valentine party.

A game of 500 was contested in as the main diversion, and at the conclusion of the feature it was discovered the success awards were won by Robert Becker and Mrs. L. A. Ray. The serving of a very delicious repast by the hostess, assisted by her aunt Mrs. William Wignall and Mrs. Kathryn Mayer followed. The tables were prettily arranged with novelties suggesting the present season, St. Valentine, and place cards, favors, the menu further expressed the same tones.

Mrs. T. J. Evans pleased the guests with a group of piano selections during the evening hours.

Class Valentine Party

Mrs. Wilbur Graham, South Lee avenue, received members of the W. C. B. class of the Wesley Methodist church in her home Thursday evening for the regular monthly meeting and annual Valentine party.

Mrs. Ecker Bacon led the opening period, which included devotionals and a memorial to Abraham Lincoln; Mrs. Harry Masters and Mrs. Ella Rote read prayers of Lincoln's. Mrs. W. H. Britton had charge of the program, which was given over to Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. John Mottinger and Mrs. Will Patterson sang a duet, "The Red, White and Blue"; Mrs. J. C. Baker gave a reading of Lincoln's good deeds and work as president; Mrs. Bessie Rich gave a reading of Lincoln's life and Geraldine Graham recited "Honest Old Abe".

Concluding the program a period of contests was enjoyed and these included puzzles and guessing contests on Lincoln, after which there was an exchange of valentines and much merriment was caused by the opening and reading of these missives.

Mrs. Graham was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs. Grizzle and Mrs. Carroll Graham. Valentine suggestions were carried out in the appointments and menu.

Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. Wilbur Flannery, Mrs. Florence Johnson, Mrs. Roy Cole and Mrs. Clara Beatty.

N. C. T. CLUB HAS ANNUAL DINNER PARTY

A delightful gathering at the Elks Club comprised members of the N. C. T. Club when they met for their annual dinner event Thursday evening. Pope Pius Being Congratulated On His Radio Speech

Telegrams From All Parts Of World Flood Into

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
VATICAN CITY, Feb. 13.—The world upon which he pronounced solemn pontifical blessing yesterday in the most extensive radio broadcast ever attempted, Pope Pius XI today, and in hundreds of telegrams received here congratulated His Holiness for his enterprise in setting a new precedent in papal history.

The voice of the pontiff, addressing himself in sonorous Latin and a second time in native Italian to "all creation" and extending an apostolic benediction to "the city and world," was heard by a world audience of unestimated millions—an audience encompassing the earth and its peoples in a manner undreamed of by any of the 260 preceding popes.

To Senator Marconi, Pope Pius said: "Undoubtedly it is not the same as speaking to a people one can see and count. This microphone makes me panic-stricken."

"I feel like a young priest about to preach his first sermon. What an experience!"

Steady Improvement In Home At St. Paul

(International News Service)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 13.—Physicians today reported continued improvement in the condition of Andrew J. Volstead, former congressman from Minnesota, who underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last Friday.

Volstead is gradually picking up strength, according to his doctors. A heart attack which followed the operation made his condition grave earlier in the week.

Toy Balloon Is Cause Of Stampede

(International News Service)
FAIRFAX, Ala., Feb. 13.—A toy balloon released here traveled 1,500 miles in 18 days, stampeding a herd of 2,000 cattle, killed 163 head, and broke a cowboy's leg, according to a letter from the cowboy.

The letter was received by L. R. Tarrant, principal of a local high school. Tarrant's chemistry class had released a small balloon filled with hydrogen gas and with a note attached asking the finder to communicate with the school.

Eighteen days later, the small bag descended near San Gabriel, Texas, in a herd of 2,000 cattle. The balloon was red and it caught on the horns of an unruly steer, promptly stampeding the herd. A total of 163 were killed and the cowboy's leg broken.

He asked Tarrant to make it a blue balloon next time.

Clean Up Breeding Spots Of Pests

(International News Service)
STONINGTON, Conn., Feb. 13.—The eastern shore of Connecticut, from Thames river at New London, to the Pawcatuck, that divides this town from Rhode Island will be completely cleaned up, as far as mosquito breeding spots are concerned, if plans of residents work successfully. Local residents have subscribed $7,000 for such a program to be carried out this winter, and the Watch Hill colony, just over the Rhode Island line, is to have similar work conducted. Mrs. Frank Dodge, of Stonington, has collected the funds here and turned the money over to the state experiment station at New Haven. R. C. Botsford, of that station, will manage the work.

American Appointed Master Of Hounds

(International News Service)
DORSET, England, Feb. 13.—A. H. Higginson, well known American horseman, who has hunted hounds in the States for nearly twenty years has been appointed Master of Fox Hounds of the Cattistock Hunt.

It is probable, however, that he will be master of another hunt next season, due to his difference with the older members of the Cattistock Hunt.

Higginson introduced into the Cattistock thoroughbred pack some white Welsh hounds which are inclined to hunt other quarry beside the Fox. This action outraged the feeling of the older followers who object to following a pack on the forbidden "lines."

On several occasions the hunt led by the white Welsh hounds resulted in the capture of roe bucks which are very plentiful in the forest of Dorsetshire.

Higginson who rides in the American style, with his knees well up the saddle, would be a sufficiently dashing master for any pack. His riding gives a very unusual appearance, as the M. F. H.'s coat is designed essentially for the rider to ride "long."

Corps To Train Emergency Women

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Women ambulance drivers, women chauffeurs, and women truck drivers during the World War will see the newly organized Betsy Ross Corps a 1931 counterpart.

Headed by Opal Kunz, commander; Gladys O'Donnell, first lieutenant commander; May Haiz-lip, second lieutenant commander; Mary Doig, adjutant; and Jane Dodge, quartermaster, the organization will serve as a training and reserve organization for, women airplane pilots. Designed as a reserve corps to serve in emergency aviation posts in time of war, the corps which will include the nation's most prominent aviatrixes is said to have the support of Secretary of War Patrick Hurley.

The Betsy Ross Corps is to function in wartimes as an auxiliary air corps, not taking part in actual combat but driving aerial ambulances and transports, and piloting the mail planes to take the places of aviators called to serve in the army air forces. In peace it will encourage women to improve their skill and experience in flying, preparing for a time that they will be called on in emergency.

SAYS CALIFORNIA FAILS TO GROW ENOUGH WHEAT

(International News Service)
BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 13.—California to meet the demand, according to a bulletin issued by the University of California college of agriculture.

Once the second largest wheat producing state in the nation, California today is producing less than one half its annual requirements, the bulletin says.

E. W. Braun, author of the bulletin, says that in 1890 California harvested about 40 million bushels, but in the last five years the production has averaged about thirteen and a half million bushels. The decrease in production has made it necessary for the state to import annually more than 16 million bushels. About half of this amount comes from the Northwest, while the rest comes from as far east as the Mississippi river.

Braun believes that the future trend of wheat production in Canada, United States, Argentina, Australia and Russia will have an important bearing upon the world level of wheat prices.

During the immediate future, he says, the trend of wheat production in Europe with its consequent effect on the world wheat price will be very largely determined by the price that may be expected for California wheat. California prices fluctuate with those of eastern markets.

Why blame the filling station man if patrons drink anti-freeze mixture and die? How could he tell they were fools?

Doubtless Governor Roosevelt feels much as Junior does about the car. He hates to clean up Tammany unless he's sure he can use it.

Death Penalty For Kidnaping

(International News Service)
AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 13.—Frequent recent reports of kidnapping in various parts of the country have moved Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg to ask the Texas legislature for more stringent punishment of the offense.

There is now before the legislature a bill by Petsch which would make kidnapping a capital offense.

Mahoning Pupils
Present Program
Lincoln's BirthdaySplendid Program Is Presented
In Mahoning School Auditorium Thursday

A large number of parents were present at the Mahoning school on Thursday morning when a program was presented by a group of students in observance of Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

The program, which was in charge of Miss Jane Young and several other members of the Mahoning school faculty, was presented in the auditorium during three different periods, so that all students of the school could be present to witness it.

The youngest of the pupils saw it last and it was cut a little in order that they could get back to class.

The program follows:

Instrumental selection—"Dancing All the Time," by the orchestra.

Devotion and creed.

Review of Lincoln's Life—by Francis Brookman.

Song—"Our Flag Colors," 3A students.

Reading—"Making Fun of Others," by Catherine Clark.

Patriotic exercise—2A.

Song—"Flag of Flags," boy's chorus.

Reading—"Little Boy Abe," Robert Olmstead.

Play—"Like Lincoln," 4A 2.

Poem—"Pictures in the Fire," by Laura Mae Martin and Jack Cheek.

Songs—"The Flag and the Eagle" and "My Shadow and I," by 5A boys.

Original Lincoln poems by LaRue Blanton, Jane Bollinger, Marion Unanest, Daniel Schnebly.

"A Sure Sign"—Pauline Dominick.

Instrumental selections—"Aud Lang Syne" and "Annie Laurie," by 8A students.

Song—"Flag of Peace," by 8A students.

Song—"Our Flag," by Freddie Thompson.

"Origin of St. Valentine's Day," by Tom Holliday.

FIVE COUPLES HONOR GUESTS
AT BARKER HOMEDinner Given Thursday Evening
In Honor Of Five Young Married Couples

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Barker, of 9 West Madison avenue, entertained at dinner, Thursday evening, in honor of five recently married young couples. Honor guests of the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mick, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gwilym, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Spiker, of this ward, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Leitsch, Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Webb, of Youngstown.

It was a delightful event. The dinner was delicious and was served on tables attractively arranged in black and crystal. At each bride's place was a flower basket favor and crystal trays for the men.

Cards and other games were pleasant pastimes, and later thirty friends came to the Barker home and gave a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Mick.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. O. M. Tozer, of Tahoga Falls, R. H. Barker, Mrs. John Morrissey, Miss Mary Ronan, Richard Gwilym and William Leitsch.

Portrait Given
To Local School

Mahoning school was presented on Thursday with a large framed portrait of George Washington, the gift of Charles M. Mayne, of New Castle.

The picture will be placed on a wall of the school office. Mr. Mayne presented duplicate pictures to each of the 17 New Castle schools.

JUVENILES REHEARSE

This evening at 7 o'clock the children of St. Margaret's church who have a part in the production to be presented Shrove Tuesday evening, February 17, will meet for a rehearsal. The cast of characters is divided into four groups of children. One of these groups consists of the following members: Morris Aquara, Francis Avery, Edward Basterfield, Dorothy Cushion, Rhea Davis, Della Gallagher, Edward Huff, Elizabeth O'Donnell, James Reichert, James Ronan, Martin Ronan, Elizabeth Sullivan, Leo Thompson.

LYCEUM CARD PARTY

The card party held in the Lyceum hall, Thursday evening was an enjoyable event. The hall decorations were carried out in Valentine colors, and the mirth of the patrons reflected the spirit of the season.

Prizes were awarded to the following persons: Mrs. James L. Rocks, Mrs. J. C. Vogus, Harry Wade Thompson, Eugene F. Scanlon, Mrs. W. B. Gillespie, Mrs. C. B. Shriver, Thomas Beatrice, John Ronan, Miss Helen Stritzinger, Mrs. R. C. Gallagher, Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, and Miss Mary Jones.

GIRLS HAVE MEETING

Mrs. R. A. Franklin, of North Cedar street, was hostess to the members of the Girls' Missionary circle of the Madison Avenue Christian church on Thursday evening. It was the regular monthly meeting of the class and following the missionary meeting, a social period was held, with chat and music as pastimes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Franklin. Special guests of the evening were Miss Betty Campbell and Miss Ruth Stanley. Miss Campbell, a student of the New Castle high school, has spent practically all of her life in India, where her parents did missionary work. She told of the people and customs there.

Powers And Lee Plan To Attend Capital Hearing

Margiotti Also To Appear For State At Pardon Board Appeal

District Attorney John S. Powers and County Detective Peck Lee will represent Lawrence County at the hearing before the Pardon Board in Harrisburg on Wednesday, February 18, it was announced today. The hearing will be on the appeal of Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague who are asking that their death sentences be commuted to life imprisonment for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on the Butler road, December 27, 1929.

Special Counsel Charles J. Margiotti will also be present for the prosecution. At the present time he is in Washington, D. C., where he is representing Senator James J. Davis in the hearings before the Nye investigating committee.

Irene and Glenn will be represented by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey of this city, former Senator Benjamin Jarrett of Farrell, and Attorney Percy Allen Rose of Johnstown, Pa. They will base their appeals for commutation upon the charges that a fair trial was not had, that the verdicts were in response to the popular clamor, and that their defendants did not fire the shot that killed Paul. For Irene the additional reason will be pressed that she is a woman and that the policy of this commonwealth has been not to execute women.

Attempt To Cap Wild Oil Well

Workmen Endangered By Oklahoma Well As It Runs Wild

(International News Service)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 13.—An attempt to curb the I. T. I. O. Mary Jane Unsell No. 4 oil well which broke all connections and flowed wild throughout last night was to be made today.

The wild oiler was temporarily gagged at 10 o'clock last night but when it broke loose again all attempt to control it was abandoned until today because of danger to workmen.

Supplemented by fire department experts headed by P. O. Wall, oil field workers believe the well could be brought under control by noon.

Located in the South Oklahoma City field, a mile and a half from the city limits, the well was flowing at an estimated rate of 600 barrels an hour. Clouds of gas also emanated from the well driving out families from the immediate vicinity.

Although the well has been under production it potential danger is regarded as much of a menace as the larger wells that broke loose in the Oklahoma City field in the past.

Professor Ferris Honored At Yale

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 13.—Professor Harry Burr Ferris, who has been a teacher of anatomy in Yale medical school for forty years, has been honored by former students and colleagues who have given the medical school a portrait of Professor Ferris. John Quincy Adams, of Vienna, did the portrait to the cost of which a group of 631 persons contributed. The picture is to go into Ferris room, a library and seminar for all students of anatomy.

Professor Ferris was graduated from Yale in 1887 and from Yale medical school in 1890. Immediately he started as instructor in anatomy in the medical school, and going then through the ranks of assistant professor and full professor. He became E. K. Hunt professor of anatomy in 1897 and still holds the chair.

Eastman Company Arranges Payment Of Wage Dividend

Arrange To Pay Over Million
In Advance To All Employees Of Company

(International News Service)
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 13.—As a means to aid its part time employees and employees who have been laid off because of the business depression, the Eastman Kodak company will declare more than half of its annual wage dividend payable from three to six months early, according to an announcement by the directors today.

The amount to be paid in advance is $1,401,893.64. This year's total wage dividend, ordinarily payable July 1, is expected to exceed "by a substantial amount" the $2,364,068.12 paid last year.

The advanced dividend will be paid to employees laid off during 1930 as a result of the depression, part time employees, and also to those regularly employed during the last year. It is effective throughout the company's plants and stores, the announcement stated.

The dividend amounts to $22.50 for every $1,000 received in wages during the five years ending December 31, 1930.

Pittsburgh Man Suicide Victim

Man Hangs Self In Living Room Of Home On Daughter's Birthday

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Binding his wrists with slip-knots to make his suicide more certain, Frank Hawkins, 58, of Jefferson street, northside, today hanged himself with a clothes line in the living room of his home today, the birthday of his youngest daughter, Dorothy Anne, aged five.

The man's wife, Josephine, 47, returning home from a visit with her mother, arrived in time to see firemen arriving to aid the victim.

Hawkins had knotted the loose end of the rope about a doorknob on the kitchen door. His daughter, Alice, 16, attracted by the rope, had summoned police and firemen to the house.

Boy Scout News

BANQUET AT SEVEN
Scouters, scout parents, scouts themselves and anyone interested in the Scouting movement tonight will gather in the First Presbyterian church dining room at 7 o'clock for a dinner and program formally closing the "Anniversary Week" activities.

ENTERTAIN PARENTS
Boy Scout Troop 6 of the Croton M. E. church observed "Parent's Night" in the place of their ordinary meeting when they convened in the church this week.

Opening ceremonies included the flag salute, scout oath and law and good turns. A pleasing program was then presented and follows: A demonstration in compass, knife and hatchet, first aid and signaling—semaphore and wig wag. Another demonstration was made in archery. The patrols presented patrol stunts in an excellent manner, each one showing they had made plenty of preparations.

The troop contest is now drawing to a close.

Scribe, Bus Wimer.

TROOP 15
Troop 15 had an extra large meeting on Tuesday evening at the First Christian church. Twenty-one members met at 7:30 and troop 17 members were the guests of the evening.

The meeting was opened by Bugler Rusbrook. Color bearers were Bob Heckard and Roy Baynam of troop 15 and Bob Kelley and Bill Shira of troop 17.

Troop 15 won the game "steal the bacon." After this a contest was held in knot tying, with troop 15 winning, in 40 seconds. Christmas of troop 17 was one of the winners and Ralph Montgomery came out ahead in another game. Montgomery is a troop 15 member.

There were six visitors. Sid Smith, scoutmaster, announced that all boys of the troop are to meet at the First Presbyterian church at 7:45 Friday, February 13. The meeting was closed by taps by Bugler Rusbrook.

Scribe, Bill Pherson.

They were alone! The girl was trembling! Said the man: "Every time I look at you I think of revenge!" Oh, but why? wailed the maiden. "Because," he explained slowly, "revenge is sweet!"

Assistant Secretary Of Treasury Resigns

Walter E. Hope, New York,
Will Return To Practice
Of Law

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Walter E. Hope of New York, assistant secretary of the treasury, sent his resignation to President Hoover today.

He will resume the practice of law in New York and Washington. Reports have been circulated that he may become president of Princeton university, of which he is a graduate.

GARY, Ind., Feb. 13.—Chicago can wipe out its organized crime if it ever actually desires to do so, Judge John H. Lyle of Chicago, arch foe of gangdom, told the Gary Bar Association at a monthly dinner meet-
modern alliance between gangsters, judges and other public officials which he said existed in the Illinois metropolis."I'm not hard-boiled as I am reputed to be," Judge Lyle said here.
"I don't sentence men for being drunk or having a bottle on the hip.
I figure it is enough punishment for them to drink the sort of liquor they get to drink nowadays.""It's the big shot in crime that I am after, the men with long criminal records, who are captains and generals in the bands which by virtue of their great wealth make Chicago their playground.""The man in the street is disgusted with the fact that despite the great army for law enforcement in Chicago, composed of over 5,000 policemen, about 1,800 clerks and bailiffs and 98 judges, the comparatively small skulking midnight bands of criminals are not annihilated.""He knows something is wrong in our courts when these men are repeatedly put back on the street after being brought before the bar of justice.""Inspection of Jack Zuta's deposit

Ready For French(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 13.—After three centuries of preparation, the standard
French grammar of the French language is ready to be published. This monumental work was begun when the French Academy was founded."The rules of grammar are not all as arbitrary or as strange to reason as some maintain," said Academician Monsieur Abel Hermant in his report upon the completion of the work, "neither have they fallen into complete disuse, as many unlettered persons would persuade us. It may be that we can no longer say with Moliere that grammar rules even kings, but we can boldly say that grammar has survived many revolutions.""The sole novelty is that there are many persons nowadays who are unaware of the existence of grammar who consider themselves well-bred and educated."Foresters Seek Root

And When Not To PunishBy GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.Those who have been reading my articles have observed that I advocated spanking the child under four or five years of age, as a means of teaching inhibitions in respect to safety, even in respect to care of property and others' rights.But those who spank—and nearly all parents do, whether they believe in it or not—do so as a rule, without a definite, carefully thought through plan.If you do not believe in spanking be ashamed of yourself to be so weak in character as not to be able to stand by your convictions.If you believe in spanking you will avoid some things.
Don't spank just to make yourself feel better for the moment. Perhaps 80 per cent of spanking is for no other reason. You will not punish a child unless you had planned long beforehand the type of instances for which you would spank.Don't spank unless it can be immediate. If the child of two has run out into the street it is too late to spank him after you have carried him into the house. It may even be too late when you have captured him.For good results he should get the pain immediately after he has stepped off the curb so he will surely get the right connection in his nervous system. No use to punish the child who has run away after he has been found. Merely bring him back and do nothing. Show him exactly where the dead line is—the gate, or tree, or stone, or mark on the sidewalk.
Then be on hand every time he has the opportunity to cross that line.
To give him immediate pain. Don't punish him for being caught. Connect the pain only with crossing the line.How absurd and cruel to punish a child on arriving home, for bad conduct at the grocer's. How stupid the tattling mother and the brutal father of the young child punished in evening for an "offense" committed in the morning! Many an innocent infant never knows what the spanking is for. It must be immediate to be effective.To get best results from bodily pain with young children the spanking should immediately follow the first act to be prevented, and on every one thereafter. In most instances, however, the child over three or four should not get pain on the first offense. The offense should be defined and the pain for the second offense announced and certainly received. After a child has got pleasure from doing something several times, think of the pain it will take to keep him from repeating the act. Anything which promises him more pleasure than pain he will do.
How unlikely he is to avoid the act
if he is spanked occasionally for it and gets satisfaction from the deed at numerous other times. There must be no exceptions.To repeat, effective spanking must be immediate, upon the first offense —certainly upon the second—and without exception.Therefore, you would not use spanking or any other kind of bodily pain to prevent such habits as thumb-sucking, nail-biting, swearing and bed-wetting.Plan New Money To FACTS

NO. 11

For income-tax purposes, there can be only one "head of a family."
A head of a family, as defined by income-tax regulations, is a "person who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him (or her) by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." Such person is granted the same personal exemption of $3,500 allowed a married person. Also, he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent, if the dependent is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective, but persons in ill health, or the aged.
Thus, a single man who supports in his home an aged mother and two sisters 14 and 16 years of age is entitled to a total exemption and credit of $4,700. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to husband or wife, though on may be totally dependent upon the other.It should be remembered that every single person, whether or not the head of a family, is required to file an income-tax return if his or her net income for 1930 was $1,500 or more. The fact that the exemption may exceed the net income does not obviate this requirement.Not infrequently returns are received from two or more members of a family, each claiming the exemption of $3,500 as the "head." Theexemption can be granted only to one person and it can not be divided.In the meantime us taxpayers

Radio Stations Must Operate Full Time Or Commission Will Act

All Stations So Designated Must Give At Least 12 Hour Service

After May 1, No Permit For Unlimited Hours Will Be Granted

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Radio broadcasters must give full and 100 per cent service or their time on the air and their operating power will be reduced by the federal radio commission.

Already having ruled that stations must have the maximum power output stipulated in their licenses, the commission today ordered that broadcasters permitted to employ full time operation, must maintain an operating schedule of at least 12 hours daily.

The broadcast day was defined at the 18 hours between 6 a. m. and 12 midnight. In computing the time quotas of stations one hour of night operation, from 6 p. m. to 12 midnight, will be considered the equivalent of two hours of daytime operation.

Iron Clad Rule.
After May 1, no licenses authorizing unlimited hours of operation will be issued to broadcasting stations which are not and do not continuously, thereafter, maintain a minimum regular program of 12 hours per broadcasting day, at least three of which shall be in the night period, according to the new regulation.

"In all cases where the minimum regular operating schedule is not adhered to, such stations may after hearing be required to share time with other stations or be reduced to part-time stations," the commission held.

Complaint has been received of a number of instances where stations are authorized to operate full time but are not taking advantage of this privilege. Because of the demand for radio facilities, far beyond the power of the commission to grant, it was determined to clamp an iron clad rule of the drastic character just announced.

Officials said the time and power ruling would be of advantage to listeners and would give them the choice of a wider range of programs at all hours. In view of recent court decisions which have clarified the authority of the commission in regulation of broadcasting it was expected more drastic orders aimed at improvement of radio reception would be issued shortly.

Fair May Be Held This Year During September, Report

No Definite Date Set At Conference Of Fair Organization Heads In Butler

The New Castle fair may be held this year in September instead of August, the month in which it was held in 1930, according to a report of representatives of the New Castle Fair association who met in Butler this week at a conference of the Coal, Oil and Iron circuit, held in the Nixon hotel.

R. R. McGeorge and A. Clyde Shoaff, who represented the New Castle organization, have two tentative dates for the affair. However, Mr. Shoaff declared the probability is that the fair will be held here this year in September.

The meeting, attended by presidents and secretaries of fairs in western Pennsylvania, was for the purpose of formulating dates for the various fairs.

Executive Board Plans Conference

Speakers Announced For Sabbath School Convention In Cathedral This Year

Robert Strickler, county president of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, presided at the meeting of the executive board held Thursday evening in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Anna Perry, administrative superintendent, planned a conference for March 23, to be held in the First Baptist church for all superintendents of the county. This will be in the form of a dinner conference. At a previous conference the weaknesses of the Sabbath schools were discussed and at this time the remedies for these will be discussed and the Standard B will also be taken up.

The executives all planned to be present Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. when Rev. Ross M. Haverfield conducts a conference for county and city superintendents.

Tentative plans for the June convention of the Sabbath School association, which will be held in the Cathedral, were made and the speakers at this time will be Walter E. Meyers of Philadelphia, secretary of the state association and Miss Lillian E. Reed, children's division secretary.

Truck Demolished At R. R. Crossing

Willard M. Tribby, Jr., Brings Suit Against Pennsylvania Railroad Company

Willard M. Tribby, Jr., has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in which he asks $7,950.20 damages, as the result of losing a truck which was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train on the grade crossing between Edenburg and Hillsville.

Tribby claims that he was driving a five ton truck laden with limestone from a quarry near Hillsville to this city, where he was furnishing limestone for the Woods and Golder Company. On the morning of the accident it was foggy. He says that upon arriving at the railroad crossing he had stopped his truck, got off and went up to the tracks to see that the way was clear.

Not hearing or seeing a train he had got back on his truck and started to drive across, when the truck was struck by a Pennsylvania train, which he claims was going at about sixty miles per hour.

The truck was carried down the track and completely demolished. Tribby escaped with minor injuries. He claims that no whistle was blown nor bell rung for the crossing. The truck, he says, was valued at $4110 and after the accident, only $100. To fill his contract with the Woods and Golder Company he had to hire other trucks which put him to additional expense. Negligence on the part of the defendant is alleged.

Aged Man Hurt; Struck By Auto

Maitland Street Man Walks Into Side Of Moving Auto

George Nutzl, aged 72, No. 16 Maitland street, is in the New Castle hospital with a bad fracture of both bones of the right leg, sustained late Thursday at South Mill and Maitland streets when, according to the information received by the police, he walked into the side of the automobile of Robert L. McQuiston, R. D. No. 3, and was knocked to the street. While no other serious injuries have been determined, his advanced age makes the injury sustained of a more serious nature than had been younger.

According to Mr. McQuiston's statement to the police, he was en route south on South Mill street at Maitland as George Nutzl started across from the west to the east side of Mill street and walked into the side of his car and was knocked to the street. Mr. McQuiston picked up the injured man and removed him to the New Castle hospital.

Prepares To Fill Police Vacancy

Mayor William H. Gillespie today had colleagues during council meeting at the city building request the civil service board for a list of eligible policemen. An appointment to fill a vacancy will be made Friday. Today the council named William Shaner to serve another 10 days as a temporary policeman.

Truck Kills Perry Highway Workman

Sandy Lake Resident Struck While On Duty Near Sheakleyville Swamp

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 13.—Elmer Jewell, of Sandy Lake, aged 38, was instantly killed while at work along the newer portion of the Perry highway not far for the Sheakleyville swamp when he was struck and run over by a loaded gravel truck about 5 p. m. on Thursday.

Details of the accident could not be learned, although it is said a number of workmen witnessed it.

Jewell was a road workman employed by the state.

His body was brought to Mercer shortly after the accident.

Surviving Jewell besides his wife and seven children are his parents, two brothers and five sisters, all residents of the Mercer county district. Funeral services will be held from his late Sandy Lake home on Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Home In Which Famed Poem Was Kept Now Cafe

Author Of "Curfew Shall Not Ring" Tonight Still Living In California

LITCHFIELD, Feb. 13.—The little home in which Rose Hartwick Thorpe, noted poetess, stored her piece of poetry that made her famous—"Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight"—is still standing in the village of Litchfield. However, it has been converted into a restaurant.

Mrs. Thorpe, who now lives in California, celebrated her 80th birthday last July. She is in very poor health having suffered a stroke March 13.

Born in Mishawaka, Ind., Mrs. Thorpe moved with her parents to Kansas after financial troubles had caused them to emigrate to the western country. When Rose was 10 years old they moved to Litchfield.

Disliking school, she wrote poetry rather than interest herself in scholastic activities. On April 3, 1867, as she recalls it, a neighbor gave her a magazine in which she read a story entitled "Love and Loyalty." The next day during school hours she attempted to complete an arithmetic lesson. Instead she wrote her famous masterpiece.

It was three years later, however, before her poem was read by thousands of admirers after she had sent it to the Detroit Commercial Advertiser which published it and later papers throughout the country republished.

How to End RHEUMATISM

New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints and Muscles

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine that acts directly on the liver, stomach and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness.

New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's, has so much confidence in RU-MA that they sell every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not end rheumatism.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Some sixty years ago, there existed across the Neshannock Creek, what was known as the towpath bridge. It was located at a point about sixty feet below the New Mill street bridge and was the means of crossing the creek at that point.

At about the same time, there was in existence on the south side of the creek near this bridge a lime kiln, where lime was burned for agricultural and other purposes.

Hobo Picks Wrong Car For Journey

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Thomas Kelley, whose clothes marked him a hobo, walked into the Des Plaines street police station.

"Could I get a place to flop and a bite of grub?" he asked desk sergeant Thomas F. McLaughlin.

"Where you from?" asked McLaughlin.

"Chicago," answered Kelley.

"Where did you say?" queried McLaughlin, puzzled.

"Chicago," replied Kelley.

"Then where do you think you are now?" asked McLaughlin.

"Cleveland," said Kelley.

It developed Kelley had gone to sleep in a box car, mistook shifting about by a switch engine for a trip to Cleveland and woke up thinking he was where he wasn't.

Three Pennsylvania Fiddlers Hope Their Violins Are 'Strads'

By ARTHUR E. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—Interest of collectors and antiquaries here has been aroused by the discovery, in central Pennsylvania towns, of four old violins, three of which are claimed to be genuine products of Antonius Stradivarius, master Italian violinmaker.

Of the violins, according to Benjamin Prough, of Huntingdon, into whose possession it has come, is 218 years old and is labeled a "Strad." A faded label in the instrument reads:

"Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis Faciebat Anno 1713."

Prough uses the violin every Saturday night when he assumes the role of fiddler for the weekly square dances held at the headquarters of Fire Company No. 2, at Huntingdon.

Another of the violins turned up in Waynesboro. According to J. H. Brinkley, the owner, the instrument is labeled as having been made by Stradivarius in 1736. The violin is very light in weight and is well preserved.

The third instrument believed to have come from the hand of the Cremona master is owned by Walter Prescott of Bainbridge.

Prescott bases his claim to the violin having been made by Stradivarius on a label dated 1721 and bearing a Stradivarius legend.

"I can't prove that it is 'Strad,'" Prescott said, "but I know the man from whom I purchased it three years ago received it when a boy from his grandfather who told him it was a valuable instrument, having been made by Stradivarius."

The fourth antique violin, "daddy of them all," is owned by J. R. Plasterer, of Shippensburg.

The instrument is now estimated to be 307 years old. Plasterer bases the age of the instrument on a label within it which reads:

"Jacobus Strainer in .bfam prope Omipontum, 1624."

Antiquaries of central Pennsylvania are eager to establish the true origin of the violins. If the three so labeled are genuine Stradivarius instruments, it is believed, their discovery will be notable inasmuch as the number of genuine 'Strads' in existence is said to be very small.

Woman Turns In Fire Alarm To Relieve Loneliness

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. Feb. 13.—"Where's the fire, lady?"

Miss Mary Hartsook, proprietress of a photographic studio, looked up the battery of firemen—and blushed.

"Well," she said, "I don't know, exactly. That is, I—I'm not sure there is one. But there might be one. So I sent in a alarm."

"Here, here," interposed a fireman impatiently, "this can't go on. Is there a fire or ain't there?"

"Well," replied Miss Hartsook, "it smells like a fire."

The firemen sniffed judiciously. Yes, they agreed it did smell like a fire. The thing to do was to find the blaze. And so the battery of fire ladders, noses held high, started scouting about. They sniffed in the waiting room, in the developing chambers and in the "posing" room, but without success. Fifteen minutes of this, and they gave up.

"Fun's fun, lady," they said, "but we're firemen, not bloodhounds. And besides, we haven't finished our checker game yet."

So the game broke up. The smoke smell was assigned to an open window through which chimney smoke was believed to have entered.

One of the world's first automobiles, a German car built in 1883 by Karl Benz, has been obtained by Henry Ford for his museum. Mr. Ford purchased the early ancestor of the modern car after examining an even earlier model, a machine that was built in 1885, which is now displayed in a Munich museum.

NOTICE To Local Housewives:

Ordinary City Water and Soaps Will Not Clean Dishes Thoroughly ... Because Water Is Too Hard

For best results in any home washing just add this new water-softening cleanser to soap and water. Takes 1/4 the usual amount of soap—saves 1/2 the time and effort.

WOMEN here are discovering an easy, inexpensive way to avoid the greasy film on dishes and greasy scum in dish pan that follows washing in this hard water. They claim amazingly fine results.

This new discovery is not a soap—but a water-softening cleanser that gives any soap four times its cleansing efficiency by turning "hard" water into "soft".

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a teaspoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly dissolves all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1930, women used over 33,000,000 packages of Climalene—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics, costly china. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them. Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it. Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages.

Lantern Lecture Sunday Morning

"Christ Among the People," might be the title of the lecture illustrated by lantern slides to be given next Sunday morning at the 9:30 a. m. session of the Church School of Trinity church for the 5th and higher grades. Included will be reproductions by the great artists of many of the great signs of God's power manifested in Christ's healing ministry and His preaching of the Word. The period is that usually described as from the Visit to Capernaum to the death of St. John Baptist. Portrayed will be Christ's love, expressed in word and deed of the plain people, the average folk.

On Sunday evening, the concluding chapters of the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, the 27th and the 28th, the final episodes of St. Paul's life as described in the first book of Christian history, will constitute the Bible study.

NATURE'S BESTED

They were seeing America first in the family automobile. Thanks to the wonderful variety of billboards, in traveling from Detroit to Ann Arbor they were able to see Niagara Falls, the Grand Canyon, the Eiffel Tower, the Mediterranean, the Golden Gate, three camels and a de luxe steamship crossing the marshes Pike's Peak, and the headliners in a three-ring circus. Hungry for a bit of natural scenery, little sister looked to the sky.

"Oh! see the pretty clouds," she cried.

"Them's not clouds," Bobby scoffed. "That's a sky writer an' them clouds would spell dad's favorite shirts if it wasn't so windy."

A NECESSARY DETAIL
In the early days of the World war the officer in charge of a British post, deep in the heart of Africa, received a wireless message from his chief. "War declared. Arrest all enemy aliens in your district."

A few days later the chief received this communication: "Have arrested seven Germans, three Belgians, four Spaniards, five Frenchmen, a couple of Swedes, an Australian and an American. Please inform me whom we are at war with."

U. S. And Mexico May Both Ban Undesirables

Secretary At U. S. Embassy Sits In On Immigration Conference

By RICHARD C. WILSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13.—The Mexican immigration conference is being resumed here after a brief suspension with John Farr Simmons, first secretary of the United States Embassy as an informal participant. The participation of Simmons in the conference is at the invitation of the Mexican government. Before being assigned to the embassy here recently Simmons was chief of the visa division of the State department in Washington and it was because of his knowledge of immigration problems that he was invited by the Mexican government to sit in at the conference.

A temporary suspension of the conference was made necessary a short time ago by the illness of the Minister of the Interior Carlos Riva Palacio.

Although Mexican immigration to the United States has decreased until at present it is almost insignificant, the conference, this correspondent learns, will arrange for effective cooperation between United States and Mexican immigration authorities to ban the entry into both countries of undesirable elements.

A second problem to be discussed will be the situation of many Mexicans in the United States, especially in California and Texas, who have been hard hit by the present economic crisis.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S HOME, Mt. Vernon, at Alexandria, Va.

CHARLES K. BRYANT

The 190th anniversary of George Washington's birth on Feb. 22 sees completion of the full-size replica of Mount Vernon, in Paris, as the principal American exhibit for the International Colonial and Overseas Exposition. It is to be furnished and decorated throughout just as it was when the Marquis de Lafayette visited there during the Revolution. Charles K. Bryant, Richmond, Va., architect, who has been in Paris supervising erection of the model, is the only man who possesses architect's plans and specifications for George Washington's home on the Potomac.

Authorities Ban Red Postal Cards

Refuse To Handle Flaming
Post Cards Advertising
Show

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 13.—When the Faculty of Arts Theatre a London play society, decided to send out 10,000 post cards advertising its newest play—incidentally a play that had been banned by the censor for ordinary performances—it hit on the idea of coloring the cards red in order to attract attention to them.

Unfortunately the cards caught the eye of the postal officials first with the result that a hasty conference was called and the Faculty of Arts Theatre informed the cards could not be accepted inasmuch as they "would subject sorters and mailmen to eye strain."

Protests from the theatre people caused the postal officials to issue a statement pointing out that official regulations permitted them to refuse all postal-packets "which would be likely to embarrass the officers of the post office in dealing with them."

"Red is an embarrassing color to the staff," said the statement. "To sort thousands of red-colored cards might easily cause severe eye strain."

The result is that girls employed at the Faculty of Arts Theatre are busily steaming the stamps off ten thousand postal-cards while the theatre officials decide on a less striking color for a new batch of cards.

Scouts' Banquet Ends Celebration

"Anniversary Week" Closes Tonight With Downtown Church Fete

Scout "Anniversary Week" activities will wind up here tonight when members of Boy Scout troops from the city and outlying points in northern Lawrence county, together with their parents and friends, unite for a gala "camp reunion dinner" in the First Presbyterian church at 7 o'clock.

While the occasion has been marked a "camp reunion dinner," scout officials are anxious nevertheless to inform all friends of scouting that it is their privilege as well to attend. The affair is not strictly for scouts.

Scout Executive Herbert Horton, Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis and other leaders in the youth movement here will be speakers after the dinner. Tonight's celebration climaxes a week's observance of the 21st anniversary of the foundation of the Boy Scouts.

Camp songs will be sung tonight to peppy piano music, diplomas for excellent camp service last summer will be given and the new Camp John M. Phillips emblem will be displayed. Camp reservations for the coming season will also open tonight.

Saturday, "Outdoor Day" in the nation-wide program of the scouts, brings to close the anniversary program. A church service last Sunday night, an election of scout city officers on Monday and the special hour of rule over the city which these duly elected officers exerted yesterday have featured the week. Many of the troops plan hikes tomorrow as an appropriate way of observing the day.

New Bedford, New Wilmington, East Brook and other county points in this section have been asked to have delegations in attendance at the banquet tonight.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal, Written For Central Press

The annual forecast of the smart men in the department of agriculture, dealing with farm prospects for 1931, came out a couple of weeks ago, and dismal reading it is.

Prices they say, are likely to advance a little but not before the second half of the year. And this will come about chiefly through improvement in general business, which will increase the demand for what farmers have to sell.

The forecast says that there is little or no indication that farmers are going to plant less acreage of anything, with the possible exception of cotton. Consequently, the supplies of farm products will be as large as ever, and only an improved demand for the stuff can bring prices back.

The course of prices since the middle of 1930 has in fact been a surprise and a shock. Broadly speaking, 1930 was not a large-production year. In some commodities, like potatoes and notably corn, there was distinct under-production. And yet these prices, instead of advancing, as experience shows they should, took a fancy nose dive like all the rest.

The only conclusion to be drawn is that the depression in the cities and towns is of major importance, as the economists say. Prices do not act this way when times are normal, or only slightly upset. Plainly, consuming power in the cities has taken a bad beating. If we needed any further proof of it, here it is.

Out of this set of circumstances, the economists extract what hope they can. They are particularly careful to point out the increases in acreage, the new plantings of fruit trees not yet of bearing age, and all the other indications that food production is being steadily stepped up. They profess to hope, and maybe do really hope, for all I know, that farmers will take these things into consideration, and will hold down or decrease their 1931 crop acreage. And this, of course, would supply the other factor of smaller supply to unite with a recovery of city consumption, to bring back prices next autumn.

I am afraid there are too many "ifs" in this to make it of real comfort and to restore confidence in farm prices. Farmers do not respond that quickly, as a rule.

But we do know that the orderly working of economic law must eventually restore agriculture to a normal profit basis. Demand must recover, and supply must be adjusted to it. Perhaps it will happen sooner than the Washington experts think. They have made in the past plenty of mistakes on the side of too much optimism. Maybe for once they are wrong in the other direction.

Kreisler Likes Jazz; Not Jazzed Classics

Does Not Approve Of Modernizing Old Masters

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., Feb. 13.—Jazz music has its meaning and its place in life as a medium of self-express-sion, according to Fritz Kreisler, Austrian violinist.

"I have nothing against jazz," Kreisler said, "the amazement of his listeners. Jazz expresses rhythm, and power and our broken, nervous contemporary life. It is a distinctive form of music."

Kreisler, whose own playing includes only the immortal compositions of the great masters, had just one taboo for the makers of jazz music.

"They should not jazz the old masters," he asserted. "To do that is the greatest crime against art and life itself.

"You would not want to deface the words of the great prophets nor to distort the words of Shakespeare. The same prohibition holds good where great music is concerned."

Americanism: Buying something we don't need; throwing away something else to make room for it; wondering why we can't get ahead.

Coast Banker Forecasts 1931 As Bright Era

Greatest Development In History For West Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—The greatest development era in the history of the far west will start in 1931, according to A. J. Mount, president of the Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association.

"The field of action extends from the Columbia basin in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, to Southern California and Southern Nevada and from the Pacific's shoreline to the plateaus of the inter-mountain states," Mount told the United Press.

Four outstanding factors in the program of development were listed by Mount as follows:

One—The entry of the Great Northern railroad into the San Francisco area, giving the upper prairie states advantage of San Francisco's world famous harbor.

Two—A highway building program through the west contemplating a new international highway which shall reach and eventually traverse Mexico on the south and British Columbia on the north. The proposed road shall lie west of the Pacific highway, already an international artery.

Three—The Boulder Dam project and the opening of the Columbia river basin, both of which will bring many fertile acres into production.

Four—A shipbuilding program which, among other things, contemplates a crack passenger service between Australia and the South Seas and the American mainland.

"All these developments and scores of lesser projects, will be given their start in 1931," Mount said. "It is not for me to say how far they will go toward bringing business back to capacity production and distribution. But they suggest, at least that the time has come to quit talking and thinking depression."

"It is not going too far to say that 1931 promises much, although its benefits may be delayed somewhat by the uncertainty of public confidence."

"The most helpful sign I see is that these great enterprises that are getting under way are not being forced ahead merely to create high pressure economic areas anywhere."

"They represent normal development and growth. They are being neither delayed nor rushed by the present status of affairs. As far as these enterprises are concerned, the depression is merely an incident."

In regard to depression in 1930, Mount insisted that it had performed a distinct service for the country at large and that it is still functioning on behalf of a substantial and enduring recovery.

"This particular period," he said, "has awakened public consciousness to many problems, economic and otherwise, that were lost sight of under the high tide of our recent prosperity and that now may be analyzed and dealt with so that they cannot again threaten when that tide of prosperity sets in anew."

"The proud owner of the bird says that it will have a home with him for the rest of its natural life. Recently the gander has been used for breeding purposes."

DON'T TRIFLE WITH CATARRH

Many Cases of Consumption Start With Catarrh—Act Promptly When the First Symptoms Appear

Our graveyards are filled with the bodies of people who thought catarrh would "get well of itself." Catarrh, at first, seems nothing more than a bad cold in the head. But soon the poison gets into the system and through the blood stream reaches different parts of the body. At the same time the repulsive catarrhal droppings are swallowed into the stomach. Appetite for food is lost and the little that a person forces himself to eat is not digested. The system is weakened and poisoned.

The remedy which can be of help is one like World's Tonic which helps purify and cleanse the system. This good medicine quickly relieves the catarrhal sores and cleanses the body of the catarrhal poison. Newcomers to America, particularly foreigners, find World's Tonic a veritable God-send. It is different from ordinary American remedies because it is a compound of powerful medicines brought from many parts of the world. That is why it will work on people of different races, when other remedies fail.

Mr. Anthony Dysko of 288 Ore Ave., Rochester, Pa., says, "I grew so thin and weak from catarrh that I could no longer work. I drank lots of water, could sweat very little, my tongue was coated and I had a very bad breath. The food I tried to eat had no taste. I would swell up after eating and had to take different kinds of pills all the time. I watched the little money I had saved get smaller and smaller every week. My good wife gave up the work from the neighbors but that did not bring in enough to pay for our food. I did not know what would become of me, my wife and our five children. Finally I tried World's Tonic which I read about in the paper. From the first spoonful I knew that I was better. It was amazing. Within four weeks I had my old job again and a nice pay check every week. I am absolutely well and strong and I owe it all to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other modern drug stores. (A-7)

Large Crowd At College Frolic Thursday Night

Ben Franklin Girl Reserves Score Hit With Original Three Act Play

A three act frolic, written by Evelyn Van Buren and Ruth Phillips, Benjamin Franklin Junior high school students, was presented last evening for the first time, in the school auditorium by the school Girl Reserve club.

The "College Frolics" which proved to be a highly amusing combination of songs, dances, and farcical drama, and was witnessed by a crowd of 300 or 400 people, was directed by Miss Nellie Dyer of the Y. W. C. A.

Action of the play took place in a college dormitory room, and the characters in the play were a group of "sophisticated sophomores" and "foolish freshmen".

The sophomore girls decided to make some use of their younger and greener fellow students and demanded that they put on an entertainment for amusement. The following acts consist of the stunts of the freshmen—and worthy stunts they were. Hits of the evening were the Spark Plug act, "Cindy Up to Date" and "The Fatal Quest".

Dances, songs, acts—practically everything is original in the play and it went over big with the audience. Every member of the cast is a member of the Girl Reserve club of Franklin Junior high.

The girls will give the final performance of the play this evening, in the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moore, of Youngstown, were in charge last night. At the March 12 dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Francis and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Davies, both of this city, will direct the program.

Those in attendance from distant points last night were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kelley, and Mr. and Mrs. Gail Howe, of Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morley, of Warren, O.; Mr. and Mrs. John Joyce, of Sharpsville, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Baer, of Sharon.

Round Plans To Stagger Lights

Street Illumination Lights To Be Staggered As Experiment

Council met in the City building today and granted permission to Louis Round, Pennsylvania Power Company, to arrange a street light stagger system in South Jefferson street between Washington and South streets. One new light will be installed. Round said the experiment would not cost the city anything. The system was installed in North Jefferson street between Washington and North streets when the poles were rearranged, Round stated.

Asks City To Pay For Auto Damages

Attorney Frank Hoyer today appeared a second time before city council at the municipal building and asked that the city pay $81 for damages caused to the automobile of Clarence White when it was wrecked in Ray street as the result of the condition of the street. He maintained that the automobile skidded, struck a "bump" caused by a washout and the auto plunged against a storm sewer intake. The accident occurred in January. Hoyer reported the condition of the street twice, he told council. It developed that inclement weather prevailed at the time. Solicitor White ruled that the city was not liable. No action was taken at today's session.

High Society In New York Places Approval On Bill

Stamp Of Approval Is Given To Birth Control Measure By Witnesses

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—New York City's high society placed its stamp of approval on birth control today at the Senate hearing on the Gillett Bill which would permit free circulation of contraceptive information, now held as "obscene" and barred from the mails.

Mrs. Douglas Moffat, of New York, prominent society matron and chairman of the Junior League, testified that the Junior League "heartily endorses the Gillett Bill and its aims."

She said letters had been received from local chapters of the Junior League all over the United States endorsing the Bill.

Mrs. Margaret Sanger, also of New York, internationally known birth control advocate urged adoption of the measure.

The proposed law would nullify the work of the late Anthony Comstock, who, in 1873 caused congress to brand birth control literature "obscene and filthy."

Colored Men In Cutting Affray

Police authorities were advised last night about 9:20 o'clock of a cutting scrape and asked to come to 221 West Falls street. Lieutenant Hillers, Detective John Young and Officers Longstreth and Mrs. McKibben answered the call and found Ed. Washington, colored, suffering from severe cuts on the cheek, back of the neck and back, which he claimed had been inflicted earlier in the evening by William Young, colored, at the home of Sam McDonald, 107 Sankers street.

The officers took Washington to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where his injuries were sewed up, after which he was removed to his home. In the meantime a search was made for Young and later he was arrested in bed at his home by Detective Young and Officers M. J. Young and Longstreth.

This morning he was turned over to Alderman Green, where an information was made against him by Washington, charging him with felonious assault and battery with a knife.

Plumber's Statement Satisfies Council

Council today was given a satisfactory explanation by master plumber who it was believed from advertising letters had encouraged the installation of plumbing by persons not licensed to do the work. His letter read that "tools would be rented."

He maintained he desired to "rent" rather than "loan" tools.

It was pointed out that no persons other than licensed plumbers can make connections to the sanitary sewage system.

He stated that he had and would continue to follow the code and inform persons not to attempt to violate the code and to hire registered plumbers when such work was to be done.

Council passed a resolution by which plumbers who send out such letters must carry a sentence warning persons that they should not infringe on the code.

He appeared before council which convened as the plumbing board.

It's a poor earthquake now that cannot push up an island.—The Omaha World-Herald.

Families Camping Out Pitch Tents Near City

Pull up your easy chair a bit closer to the radiator and get a load of this, some of you outdoor camping enthusiasts. The season is on.

Not in Florida or California, or the West Indies but here in Lawrence County where the weather is still an invitation to a pneumonia party and the fellow who discards his red flannels is an unphay.

Out on the Youngstown road, near the airport there are three tents, two of which are the home of families who are passing through. Despite the wind and the rain and the chill outside, the canvas walls house two families and by a strange coincidence, both of them are from the South.

Hold Two Ellwood Men In Connection With House Blaze

Both Reported Admitting Presence In Home Before Fire; To Get Hearing

Two Ellwood City men are held in county jail on a charge of arson in connection with the destruction by fire of a six-room frame home on the Ellwood City-New Castle road, a mile beyond the county home, late Wednesday evening.

The two are Frank Port, 45, who is said to have held a second mortgage on the burned property, and William Hashbach, 20.

They were lodged in Lawrence county jail Thursday following their arrest by State Policemen Richards. The two, according to Richards, admitted to him that they were in the house, the ruins of which are located near the J. C. M. Clements greenhouse, a short time before the house was swept by flames.

A third man also believed to have been an occupant of the place, is being sought, authorities aver. Hashbach and Port will get a hearing in Alderman W. E. Marshall's office Saturday.

State police were quickly notified of the fire, by neighbors in the vicinity. Due to progress made by flames and lack of water, the New Castle fire department did not respond.

According to Officer Richards, the pair denied starting the fire, asserting that it was caused by an explosion.

The house was built by Blair Meermans of Pittsburgh and had not been occupied for four months.

The house burned to the foundation. Scores of motorists and residents were attracted by the flames, which could be observed for a great distance shortly before midnight, Wednesday.

Woman, Two Men Held In Altoona For Embezzlement

Three Former Bank Employees Held Under Heavy Bail By Investigator

(International News Service) ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 13.—Climaxing an investigation by a special agent of the U. S. Department of Justice, three former employees of the Second National bank, including a young woman clerk, were held under bail today for action of the federal grand jury in connection with shortages of more than $30,000 recently discovered in the bank.

Those held are Miss Jean Stone, clerk; Cyril K. Nagle, former trust officer and H. Eugene Nagle, clerk. Charges of embezzlement were preferred against the trio by M. L. Small, of the Department of Justice U. S. commissioner Walter L. Bartram, of Altoona, ordered all held for the next term of federal court at Pittsburgh.

Miss Stone was held under $5,000 bail on a charge of having embezzled $7,000; Cyril Nagle under $7,500 bail charged with having secured $27,000 and Eugene Nagle under $2,500 bail for $925 shortage.

All three were recently dismissed from the bank's staff. The institution at that time issued a statement that the bank would suffer no loss and would be reimbursed through bonding companies.

Steuer To Question Bank Officials As Result Of Closing

Application To Stay Questioning Of Marcus And Singer Is Denied

(International News Service) ALBANY, Feb. 13.—Bernard K. Marcus and Saul Singer, indicted officials of the closed bank of the United States, must submit to questioning by Max D. Steuer as special assistant attorney general in connection with the state probe into conditions which resulted in the closing of the bank.

The court of appeals today denied an application made by Charles H. Tuttle, counsel for the two bank officials, for a stay to prevent Steuer from questioning the bank officials.

Vets To Start Visitations

Big Delegation Will Go To Sharon Monday Night For Maine Day Celebration

Visitation will be started at once by the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in preparation for their commander-in-chief's banquet which will be held here Thursday evening, April 9.

The post has received an invitation to attend the Maine Day celebration to be given Monday evening by the Sharon post and members of the post will make it an occasion to invite the Sharon vets and friends to attend the big banquet.

It is hoped to take a big delegation to Sharon for the first visitation, and Chairman James A. Bell who is district commander, will head the delegation.

Tuesday evening District Commander Bell has called a meeting in Ambridge, Pa., when an effort will be made to revive the Ambridge post. An invitation will also be extended to the vets and their friends from that locality to attend the big banquet.

Next Friday evening, the Youngstown, O., post will be visited. The Ohio post is holding a big initiation service at which the famous Warren, O., degree team will put on the work, and a big meeting is being arranged by the Youngstown boys.

Last Bullet Saves Man From Hurt Lion

(International News Service)

LOVELAND, Colo., Feb. 13.—Losing a foot race with a wounded mountain lion would have proved fatal to Fred Hyatt, Loveland hunter, but for a single bullet.

Hyatt's hounds treed the lion after tracking it for several miles through a mountain canon west of here. Hyatt shot the lion twice and waited for it to fall from the tree.

Instead of falling, the lion sprang from the tree in the general direction of the spot where Hyatt was standing. Hyatt lost no time in getting under way. He expected the animal to drop dead after a few leaps.

The lion showed no signs of dropping, however, but gained on Hyatt. At last, the lion was about to overtake him, Hyatt fired the last bullet in his gun and killed the animal. Hyatt has killed 37 mountain lions near his home ten miles west of here.

Woman Is Killed By Skidding Car

Crossing Road To Reach Another Car When She Was Struck

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Ella Cruikshank, 67, was instantly killed when she was struck by an automobile on the KDKA boulevard, near Saxenburg. She was crossing the road to reach a car which was waiting for her, when the machine, which was driven by Elmer Goepfert of Cabot, skidded and struck Mrs. Cruikshank.

The Goepfert car ran about 150 feet into a field adjoining the highway before it could be placed under control. The driver was shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Cruikshank is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Mary Bell of Tarentum, Mrs. O. H. Hilliard of New Kensington and Mrs. Florence Harbison of Buffalo, N. Y.; a son, Walter Cruikshank, of Buffalo, Mrs. Cruikshank was visiting a sister, Mrs. Rachel Thrower, of the Saxenburg district, when the accident occurred.

"No Hopeless Cases With Jesus"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—1 Timothy 1:15.

By Dr. ALVIN E. BELL

"There are no hopeless cases with Jesus," are the words which might be written large over every page of Luke's gospel. "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost" is his keynote. He illustrates this dominant note in this seventh chapter by showing the Saviour's gracious power exercised toward a Gentile soldier's sick slave, then toward a poor widow's dead son, then toward his own discouraged servant, John the Baptist. Here, according to Matthew, he issued the all inclusive invitation, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

"Friend of Sinners" His enemies contemptuously dubbed him "a friend of publicans and sinners" and in so doing, like Pilate in writing the superscription for the cross, they spoke more truly than they realized. For to Gentile and Jew, man or woman, slave or son, saint or sinner, virtuous mother or public prostitute, Jesus is Friend, indeed, with exactly what each and all need: health for the sick, life for the dead, joy for the mourners, hope for the discouraged, forgiveness for the penitent, censure for the critic. Thus he fulfills his promise of rest to all the weary and heavy laden who will come unto him.

Jesus in the Critics House Simon, the Pharisee, who invited Jesus, as guest into his house, but omitted all the common courtesies of the day between guest and host, represents all those who regard themselves as self-sufficient, needing no grace because they feel no debt of sin. Simon felt that there was an infinite chasm of contrast between himself and "the woman of the city, which was a sinner, who brought an alabaster box of ointment and stood at Jesus' feet, behind him weeping and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment." In Simon's estimation the contrast was all in his favor, for he knew "she was a sinner" but he felt that he was not.

Jesus' Defense of the Sinner But with Jesus there was no such contrast, for both were "debtors" owing the same Creditor: both were equally poor, for "they had nothing to pay" and both were recipients of the same divine grace for "L. frankly forgave them both." The difference between Simon and the harlot was all in favor of her rather than of himself, for she was conscious of her sin and penitent, and he was neither: "she loved much," and he "loved little;" "her sins, which were many, are forgiven," his remain unsown.

The Way of Salvation From consciousness of guilt, she rises through the exercise of faith to pardon and purity, as a result of which she expresses her gratitude in loving service, and receives the blessing of peace. "And he said unto the woman Thy faith hath saved thee, go in peace." Penitence, Pardon, Peace! This is the way of salvation for all.

(The International Uniform Lesson for February 15 is Luke 7:36-50, the subject being "Jesus, the Friend of Sinners" and the Golden Text 1 Timothy 1:15. "This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.")

Sailor Wounded By Own Device

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Burglars visited Captain Peter Lendrescan's little bungalow at Mariner's Harbor on Staten Island last summer while the captain was away on the barge which he commands, and made off with valuable souvenirs which he had collected in his long years of seafaring. Captain Lendrescan was angry.

The next visit, Captain Lendrescan decided, must be a less happy one. With ingenuity peculiar to sailors, Captain Lendrescan rigged up a device that would deter the hardest of burglars from stealing anything from his home.

Captain Lendrescan returned to his barge, secure in the knowledge that his home was safe, and was gone from Mariner's Harbor for four months. Captain Lendrescan returned. He mounted the steps of his modest little bungalow. He unlocked the door. With a sigh of anticipation, he turned the handle.

There was a blinding flash and a loud roar! And Captain Lendrescan received in his left knee the full load of buckshot that he had planned for the marauders.

The captain is now in the General hospital at Staten Island where surgeons had to amputate his leg above the shattered knee. But he will recover.

"I certainly am thankful for the benefits Ten Herbs gave me," said Mrs. E. G. Robinson, R. D. 3, New Castle. "I had suffered with stomach trouble for years. After eating I would fill with gas and my digestion was so poor that I dreaded to eat. Nervousness bothered me and I had severe headaches. My rest at night was broken and I felt tired all the time. I tried Ten Herbs and was surprised at the results. My stomach is in such good condition that I can eat anything without distress. My nerves are stronger and headaches have been relieved. I rest well at night and feel refreshed in the morning. I cheerfully recommend Ten Herbs."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eder's, of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., New Castle, and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

Plan To Start Contest In City

City Wide Beautification Contest Planned For Ellwood City

WILL ALSO AIM TO PROVIDE MANY JOBS

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—To create odd jobs about the home for men who are out of work temporarily, and to give every home in Ellwood more attractive surroundings so that living will be more enjoyable, a city wide yard and garden contest will be sponsored here, starting March 15, with a month for entries, to April 15, and the contest closing September 15. It was announced this morning by the Chamber of Commerce who will conduct the campaign.

Arrangements for the contest will be in charge of five cooperating committees from groups vitally interested in the success of civic projects. J. W. Olfert, general superintendent of the local plant of the National Tube Company has consented to serve as general chairman and he will be assisted by five committees outlined as follows: Committee on entries, committee on judging, committee on publicity, committee on prizes and awards, and the committee on planting information.

With the impelling motive that of creating assistance for unemployed, it is believed that citizens in general will enter eagerly into the campaign to make Ellwood City the most attractive home city in Western Pennsylvania. There will be no entry fee and hundreds of dollars in cash prizes will be given for the best kept gardens.

Small home gardens will have an equal chance with more pretentious grounds in winning one of the many valuable cash prizes which will be awarded and the contest is being so arranged that each contestant will compete at no disadvantage.

The contest slogan "You Win If You Lose" emphasizes the civic value by joining the movement even should a prize not be won. The committee on prizes and awards expect to announce a list of about fifty prizes ranging from fifty dollars down to five dollars.

Each entrant who registers in the contest will be given free a beautiful garden book containing information about plants, planting schedules and other useful garden and lawn information.

The rules of the contest will be announced very shortly and entry blanks will be provided for registration. Clubs, civic organizations, and governmental bodies will be asked to endorse the movement and it is the plan of the contest officials to make the campaign as city wide as possible.

Yes And No Club Honors Aged Man

Robert F. Wallace Is Remembered On His 82nd Birthday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The Yes and No Club had a double purpose in meeting last night. They had gathered first at the home of Robert F. Wallace at Wurtemburg to celebrate his 82nd birthday. Besides the eight members of the club present the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Caughey were special guests with their two children.

The home was gorgeously decorated in Valentine colors with red, white and blue streamers hanging down to the center of the table denoting Lincoln's birthday. A large cake was also placed in the center of the table with 82 candles on it, which designated the age of Mr. Wallace. Then when everybody was seated around the table Rev. Caughey gave a splendid address on the "Lives of Great Men Born in February." Elizabeth Caughey gave a violin selection accompanied by her mother, on the piano. The club then took this opportunity to present Mr. Wallace with a lovely gift. Rev. Caughey also presented one. Mr. Wallace was completely surprised and gratefully accepted the tokens.

Mrs. Teresa Rosenkrantz assisted by Miss Mary Lample and Miss Roberta Haynes served a wonderful dinner, which delighted those present. After this the club members wished Mr. Wallace many happy birthdays to come and then proceeded to the home of Jacob Culp where the regular club meeting was held. The usual business was transacted and then the club members enjoyed a delightful social period.

The club will meet again at the home of Mrs. Ethel Hazen in Wurtemburg on February 26.

Mrs. Ralph Speaks To W.C.T.U. Ladies

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Margaret Kennedy on Seventh street Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. D. P. Ralph, a county officer from New Castle was a special guest on this occasion and gave a very interesting address. Other special guests were the mesdames Emerson, Rose, of Wurtemburg Heights, Roy Porter, Dave Flinner, Mrs. Lloyd Randolph director of the Scientific Temperance Instruction was the leader of the meeting.

Also instructive talks were given by the mesdames J. E. Vangorder, E. C. Harrison, R. A. Snedden, and Mrs. Rodgers.

After the regular meeting and all business was transacted the hostess served a delectable menu assisted by her daughter Helen. There were 20 members of the union present at the meeting.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Earl Rodgers entertained at a dinner Wednesday. High score in bridge was won by Mrs. Robert W. Harris and Mrs. Leonard Hazen. A bountiful dinner was enjoyed.

Speciality Team Wins In Decisive Fashion

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—An inspired Speciality quintet gave the Hot Mills a decisive beating in a play off for first half honors in the Shelby auditorium last night, score 31-18. This not only gave them the lead for the first round but averaged two successive defeats administered to them by the Hot Mills previously. They have now given each other two defeats. The best team will be determined Saturday evening when the defending champions again engage the Hot Mills to inaugurate the second round of the season.

The Hot Mills drew first blood when Freidhoff sank a beautiful shot from the center of the floor. Patterson of the Speciality registered a free throw and Boone repeated Freidhoff's feat and placed his team mates in the lead 3-2. The champions Specialty kept out in front throughout the entire contest. Early indications revealed that the game was going to be fast, close, and exciting. The initial period had ended with the Specialty leading 5-3.

In the ensuing period the champions had continued their policy of outscoring their opponents. The Hot Mills could not score from the court in this quarter. Numerous scoring attempts were made but they could not seem to locate the basket. While on the other hand the defending champions were extremely deadly on this evening—registering from any angle of the court. In general both teams were extremely poor at the charity mark—accrediting 19 out of 40 shots. The Specialty lead again at the half by a 11-5 score.

Upon resumption of rivalries in the third quarter the Hot Mills made a feeble attempt to advance into a more prominent position. Chambers had tallied from the court on a clever play at the opening whistle. But his glory was short lived for Latiano repeated twice and Gardner had contributed in rapid succession to lengthen their lead. Clyde attempted to cut this down but Summers off balanced him again by also scoring. The Hot Mills were outscored 12-8 in this period the score being at the close 23-13.

The champion Specialty did not intend to take any chances with the Hot Mills aggregation of ex-high school stars and were very cautious—not once slacking their efforts in the closing stanza in view of their commanding lead. They continued to use their offensive tactics to the final whistle and as a result again outscored their opponents 8-5, and increasing the lead. The final score was 31-18 for the Specialty.

There were no outstanding stars for the winners—their team work being the feature. All of the players but Boone and Hennon had gotten two baskets apiece. Although the former two had contributed their share with one apiece. Chambers and Fitzgerald were the best bet for the losers.

A fine crowd is expected to be present to witness the Shelby league inaugurate its second round Saturday evening. It will be a double header affair. The two great rivals—Hot Mills and Specialty will battle again and the Office and Mechanicals are the others on the program. The first game will begin at 7:15 and the second immediately following.

Christian Soldier Theme Of Speaker

Lutherans Have Night At Evangelistic Services On Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—Dr. Luther K. Peacock addressed a fine congregation of members of the Lutheran church and others last night in the U. P. church in continuing the evangelistic campaign of city wide interest.

The doctor chose as his subject last night "Christian Soldiers," which was taken out of the text, "Having all to stand." He explained the true character of the real Christian Soldier. He stated that the armor of the Christian Soldier consisted of the girdle of truth, the breast plate of righteousness, the sandals of preparation of the gospel, shield of faith, helmet of salvation, and the sword of the spirit. All this armour is necessary for the true Christian Soldier. He related that the present church members are not observing this. He warned them to obey the word of God as the only step for salvation.

The Lutheran choir rendered some special music at this time. This evening is special night for the members of the Wurtemburg U. P. church.

New Members Of Library Board Assume Posts

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The library board held their regular meeting Thursday evening.

Two new members were properly initiated into the workings of the library at this time. M. A. Riley had succeeded J. J. Dunn and William Bayers succeeded J. W. Smith. Mr. Bayers is the first member of the board, representing Ewing Park.

The librarian Mrs. Catherine Charles reports that there were 9,000 books in circulation during the month of January. This is the largest in the history of the local library.

Also a definite move has been made of placing a sign at the front designated "Library." There has been no sign as yet and a stranger could not tell what the building was. M. A. Riley and William Bayers were a committee of two chosen to look into the matter.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kindness shown during the recent illness and death of our son Edward. Also for use of cars and floral tributes.

Valentines And Bad Luck

By KATE MOOREHEAD

I got up this morning. Maw, she sez to me, "Now Tommy you be a good boy today and don't get into any mischief." "Why?" I asked her remembering the Valentine I sent teacher. "Cause" she sez, it's Friday the 13th and that is bad luck without even a black cat to cross in front of you. Is that so? I tried to speak light but she sez, so's she wouldn't know something was weighing on my mind.

I was going to school. I had my books under my arm and a letter to mail for maw. Jenny Jones, what is the little girl next door, walked beside of me and I carried her books (I had put a nice red heart all trimmed in lace and pictures of Cupid and everything in the Valentine box for Jenny) cause she's my weakness for the moment.

Of course I had put my initials on the envelop so's she would know it wasn't my contemptory George Brown.

By the way, that Valentine box is swell looking. I gaze at it with the pride of an artist who planned it. It is covered with pretty yella paper and decorated with pink and red hearts. There is a whole in the top where you drop Valentines like you do mail.

I arrived at the school house and still being in that state of glow which is caused by walking with your best girl, I dropped that letter in the Valentine box.

Well, this afternoon the box was opened and the fireworks started poppin'. First, then right off Jenny's name was called out cause she got my envelope, and knew my writing right off. She opened it and, say, did my knees shake when I saw

ELLWOOD HIGH PLAYS BUTLER

League Battle Takes Place Tonight In Lincoln Gym

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The Ellwood City High school cagers will entertain Butler in the Lincoln gymnasium here this evening after a week of inactivity. The scheduled game with Union Township had been postponed due to the illness of two Ellwood City stars. This evening is the first of the week, and it will be rather difficult to top such a foe after this period of inactivity. But the Ellwood quintet does not look at it this way. They have been looking forward to this game and have been faithfully preparing for it every day. Coach Ingle had supervised daily work outs in the gym and reports that all members are now in good condition and are rarin' to go.

The local boys expect to avenge their previous defeat at the hands of the Henzer passers at Butler. They had been noed out in the final quarter by the Butler men's superiority at the charity line. The locals had outscored them from the court and the result had proved a bitter defeat to take. Being out of the running for any honors in the league, Ellwood will strive to avenge their previous defeat, at tonight's battle.

Mid-Year Class Graduates Take Further Studies

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The Lincoln high school enrollment has not decreased so much as was generally expected. It had been expected to be decreased at least 65 students who had graduated at mid-year in January. But within two weeks after the second semester had begun over three-fourths of the graduated class had returned for a post-graduate course.

Some had come back to as to make preparations for entering higher education next fall but the main force for this strong come-back was the inability to find work. Cases of this type are encouraged to return as it is the surest way to prevent students from getting in wrong. Present conditions would encourage one to stray from the true path.

Mrs. Gold Proves Charming Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—Mrs. H. S. Gold proved to be a charming hostess to the members of the Thursday Evening Bridge club at her home on Wayne avenue. Valentine decorations were cleverly carried out, which could not help but attract one's attention upon entering.

The members of the club spent the evening pleasantly at cards and discussion. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krauth won the score awards. There were two tables at play.

Later in the evening a delicious repast was served by the hostess, which was enjoyed by all. The club will meet again in three weeks, the place to be later announced.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Helen Powell's class of the Immanuel Reformed church met last night at the home of Lillian and Ruth Haswell on Line Avenue. A delightful social period was held in which games were the main feature, followed by the business session.

Later in the evening a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Ernest Hartman, and Mrs. William Haswell.

The next meeting of the class will be held at the home of Mrs. George Pander on Todd Avenue.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mechanicals Win Over Wampum In Spectacular Game

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—The Mechanicals of the Shelby league nosed out the Wampum Merchants in a hard fought battle last night in the Shelby auditorium in a preliminary to the Specialty-Hot Mills play off, score 27-26. The game was decided when with 10 seconds to play White sank a shot from the center of the floor to give the Mechanicals the victory.

The contest was exciting and close throughout. The score at the half being 10-9 in favor of the Shelby boys. The ensuing period was breath taking. The score was continually being deadlocked and broken by both quintets. The winner was indefinite until that final shot of White's. The fourth period was a repetition of the previous one.

White, Labate and Ferucci were the outstanding performers for the winners while Boone, Aiello, and Demark starred for the losers.

Lineup:

Mechanicals 27.	Wampum 26.
Boyle.....F.....	Boone
Labate.....F.....	White
Kimes.....C.....	Aiello
Ferucci.....G.....	Demark
Garwig.....G.....	McKim
Substitutions—Mechanicals, Maynes for Boyle, Arnold for Kimes, White for Garwig, Wampum Merchants, Ferucci for Boone, Allen for White.
Field Goals—Mechanicals, Labate, Ferucci 2, White 2, Maynes, Boyle, Kimes 1. Wampum Merchants, Boone 3, Aiello, Demark 2, Ferucci, Allen, White, McKim 1.

Birthday Party For Donald Magee

ELLWOOD CITY Feb. 13.—Donald Magee, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Magee was the honored guest at a merry birthday party at the home on Spring avenue. Fourteen boys were present to pay honor to little Donald on this sixth birthday.

The party was a George Washington affair with everybody present wearing the three cornered hats of the colonial period.

Miss Katherine Moorehead was in charge of the games which occurred in the play room on the third floor. After the games everybody came to the banquet room where they found awaiting them a George Washington hatchet filled with candy and other goodies. There were gifts presented, and also flags. The children enjoyed marching around the room.

The centerpiece of the table had a cherry tree with candy cherries hanging and a beautiful cake with six red candles. The laughter of those present revealed that all had a merry time.

OUR OWN VAUDEVILLE

Customer: How did you happen to take up barbering?

Barber: I inherited it. My father used to run a butcher shop.

Husband (to visitor): "When our little boy was born I wanted him called John but my wife wanted him called Harold—so we compromised John, come here and say "How do you do to Mrs. Jones."

God never put a man or woman into the world without giving something to do in or for it.

Defendant Denies Any Conspiracy

Says That Mrs. Neagu Wanted To Leave Her Husband Because Of Ill Treatment

In the case of Pavel Neagu of Cleveland, O., against Nicolas Dolgae, Salomia Dolgae, Marie Daniel, George Daniel and Dan Mayer of Ellwood City, in which a conspiracy to get his wife away from him is charged by Neagu, the defense put on several witnesses before Judge Hildebrand in county court today to show that the reason the defendants had harbored Anna Neagu, wife of plaintiff at Ellwood City, was because it was alleged that her husband was not treating her right.

Nicholas Dolgae told of going to Cleveland in response to a telephone message from Mrs. Neagu, in which she claimed that her husband was abusing her and that she could not live with him any longer. On arriving at Cleveland with several other defendants Dolgae testified that they had gone to the Neagu home. They found Mrs. Neagu in a highly nervous state. She cried when she told them they way of her husband had abused her. She exhibited marks on her person which she said had been inflicted by her husband.

Dolgae said that Neagu had admitted to him that he had quarreled with his wife. He said that the quarrels occurred when he was drunk. Asked how often he got drunk he said that it was usually on Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Neagu declared that she could not stand the abuse any longer and wanted to leave. Dolgae said that he and the others with him tried to affect a reconciliation, but that Mrs. Neagu declared that it would be the same thing over again when her husband became intoxicated. She said that she wanted to go to Ellwood City. It was finally agreed that she should go by train and take her two children with her.

After she had arrived at Ellwood City, Neagu came after her declaring that if she would go back with him he would do better. Mrs. Neagu was afraid to go. Witness wanted Neagu to stay in Ellwood City and he would get him a job, but Neagu declined saying that he did not wish to lose his job in Cleveland. Dolgae declared that he and others had done all in their power to effect a reconciliation and that there was no conspiracy, as alleged, to get Mrs. Neagu to leave her husband.

Several other witnesses also testified as to their efforts to get the couple together. They also denied that there had been any conspiracy to get Mrs. Neagu away from her husband, declaring that it was her desire to leave her husband, and that they had merely given her shelter. The case is still on trial.

SUFFERED FOR 50 YEARS

If you suffer from constipation, read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. R. J. Foster, 108 Broadway, West Plains, Mo.

"I have been constipated for the last 50 years—taken all kinds of drugs with only momentary relief. I have been using your ALL-BRAN six weeks. It has given me permanent relief. I can heartily recommend it to be a certain remedy for constipation."

Eat this pleasant cereal and overcome constipation in a natural, safe way. Two tablespoons of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily. In stubborn cases, serve with each meal. Do this and banish pills and drugs from your life.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Look for the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Prepare School For Observation Of Delinquents

Prevention Of Crime Among Students Will Be Studied

TO TEACH YOUTHS
GOOD CITIZENSHIP

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 13.—By the end of the year, Detroit will have a school of observation for the prevention of crime among public school students. This was assured with the approval by the Board of Education of a plan suggested by its president, Dr. Burt Shurly.

"I believe this school will result in a great deal of benefit to the younger generation of our city," Dr. Shurly said. "We will take boys from our school system, some of whom otherwise would be arrested and sent to the Juvenile Detention home if allowed to continue their course, and, by careful study, teach them to become good citizens. Their defects will be observed and the remedy sought."

With the adoption of the resolution, Superintendent of Schools Frank Cody was commissioned to put the school into operation at the earliest possible time to care for 35 or more boys. Only first offenders and those who become unmanageable will be attendants.

"The school will include boys from elementary to high school age," Dr. Shurly said. "The increase of crime unemployment and failure of prohibition together with other causes have been manifested in our public school system. Our reports show that 5,260 school boys were arrested and placed in the detention home during the year June 1919-June 1930. Fifty per cent of these boys were offenders and 85 per cent were between the ages of 13 and 16."

Man Out Of Work Wants Back To Jail

Finds He Can't Make A Living
Left To Own Resources

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 13.—For nearly ten dreary years, Le Roy Brown, 40, worked in the coal mines of the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing. And now he wants to go back.

Shabbily clad and with a look of desperation on his face, Brown presented himself to Sheriff Harry B. Powers, here.

"They let me out on parole up there October 27," Brown said. "Since then I have found work for only two weeks. I haven't had anything to eat for two days, and I can tell you now, sheriff, that if they don't send me back to the penitentiary I'll become a robber. And I don't want to do that."

Sheriff Powers hear Brown's story of how he was sentenced in May 1919, to serve from ten to 21 years for the robbery of a bank in Heizer, Kas. Nearly all of this sentence was served in the coal mine.

"This man is not going back to the penitentiary," Sheriff Powers said. "He can stay here at the jail for his food and shelter until I find him a job."

Brown said his two weeks employment since he left the penitentiary consisted of shucking corn near Nebraska City, Neb.

Six Hundred Twelve More
Books At Local Public Library During January

In January 730 books were added to the New Castle free public library, according to Miss Alice Sterling. Of that number, 693 were purchased, 29 were given to the library and eight were secured by subscription.

Two hundred forty books were withdrawn from the library shelves. The total addition, that is, the number of new books catalogued, reached 612.

Auto Lights Out Motorist Strikes Butler Police Car

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 13.—It was a bad night for Conrad N. Beighley of the Prospect district.

Driving without lights the wrong way on a one-way street, he crashed into police car at West Locust and North Jackson streets while looking back to see if a motorcycle patrolman was trailing him.

Beighley explained to Motorcycle Patrolman Francis B. Morrison and Patrolman Frank Austel, driver of the police car, that his headlights had blinked out on him and that he was avoiding Main street by traveling on North Jackson street.

Police told Beighley he should watch where he was driving and not go around bumping into police cars. Beighley said he would have the damaged car fixed as good as new.

No action will be taken, police said.

Distinguished Nurse Returns To Near East

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 13.—Her health restored after a breakdown due to the rigors of Near East relief work, Miss Agnes Evon, Detroit war nurse and holder of the United States Distinguished Service Medal, has departed for the scene of her wartime adventures to resume her activities.

Miss Evon, her health impaired by overwork under unsanitary conditions, came to the home of a brother, L. C. Evon, here, a year and a half ago to rest.

She served as war nurse in France and later as a Near East Relief nurse in Turkey, Syria, and Greece. She was one of the first women relief workers at the Smyrna fire, was marooned on the Island of Macronissi with 8,000 disease infected refugees, and established a maternity center for refugee mothers in Beirut raising the funds for its operation through her own efforts.

Her new objective is Kavaja, in Albania, on the shores of the Adriatic, where she will supervise the health of several hundred Albanian children in the schools founded by the Near East Foundation. She has been working on the problem of eliminating malaria from Albania.

Our boiling-down department has at last finished the Wickersham report and submitted its synopsis. If you don't get results in eleven years, take a bigger dose.

Outlines Plan To Act Against Gangsters

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 13.—Professor Wiley Blount Rutledge, acting Dean of the law school of Washington University here, recently outlined in detail his plan to place the legal treatment of gangsters and racketeers on a different plane than the laws concerning ordinary citizens.

The plan, summarized is: Substitute an administrative method for the individualistic one now in use.

Select a commission which would be empowered to decide whether or not a man was a "public enemy."

Soviet Telegram Is Mis-Read Peasants Go Sparrow Hunting

Amusing Political Scandal In Russia As Thousands Of Birds Are Caught

Wanted To Speed Up Grain Storing, But Official Mis-Reads Orders

By EDWARD L. DUESS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Feb. 13.—How the chairman of a district Soviet misunderstood an official telegram and set the population of a whole township to chasing sparrows has just been revealed here. It is one of the many amusing political scandals which have arisen in connection with the five year plan for the industrialization of the country.

The Cooperative Society of Yelansky province, engaged chiefly in buying grain from the peasants, wanted to speed up the work. So telegrams were sent to all district officials reading, as originally drafted, "Speed up the storage."

But each telegram had to have a number for record purposes and bear the signature of the chairman of the society, who happened to be M. Vorobiov.

Wrong Meaning

So the telegrams read: "Speed up the storage 13,532 Vorobiov."

Vorobiov is a common name in Russia but it is also the possessive of the noun Vorobey, which means sparrow. So the chairman of the Yonovoyevovka village Soviet in Central Russia wisely interpreted the telegram to mean that he was ordered to capture and buy "13,532 of Sparrows."

He set the whole district on its ears trapping the birds and spent a hundred times their value in precious grain as bait for the traps. After 2,000 had been nabbed and held prisoners in a shed cats crept up through the floor and feasted on 200 of the birds.

While the sparrow hunt was in progress the district prosecuting attorney and two judges visited the village to hold court. They calmly agreed to postpone the winter session of court until the bird catching campaign was finished.

Finally the district chairman sent an official to the capital to inquire whether the grain trust wanted the birds dead or alive. His folly was then revealed.

Mitchell Scored For "Misleading" Facts To Hoover

Minnesota Senator Accuses Attorney General Of Misleading Hoover

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Attorney General Mitchell was accused of "grossly misleading" President Hoover in his refusal to endorse Ernest Michel for an appointment as a Federal Judge in Minnesota, in letters sent the White House today by Senator Schall (R) of that state.

The controversy between Schall and Mitchell over Michel's qualifications was interrupted by Mr. Hoover's letter to Schall last week in which he said he would not appoint Michel and asked Schall to submit eight or ten other candidates.

As another chapter in the controversy, the President had before him today a protest against his attitude on Michel, signed by Lieut. Governor Henry Arens, of Minnesota, and a majority of the members of the State Senate and another letter from Schall which said: "I agree with you that 'it would be a misfortune if Minnesota should not have the advantage of the establishment of this court during the present session of congress' but I also feel that it is a greater misfortune that you have not been given a true picture of the Minnesota situation and I hope you may have it before you act in the matter."

Senate Committee Reports Favorably On Eugene Meyer

Senator Brookhart And Rep. McFadden Vigorously Oppose Meyer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—For the first time in 36 years a Senate committee today was confronted with a serious attempt to undo the work of the late Anthony Comstock by dropping the bars against dissemination of literature on birth control.

A judiciary sub-committee is considering a bill introduced by Senator Gillett (R) of Massachusetts which would not only legalize such literature, but would permit physicians to give advice and allow the manufacture of certain drugs or devices.

Women To Testify

Margaret Sanger of New York, for many years an advocate of birth control, was the principal witness, has much to tell about the reason for her conflicts with the police in New York and elsewhere during the past decade.

When Anthony Comstock, "purity" crusader, came to Congress more than a half century ago, and obtained legislation banning sale or the mailing "obscene" publications, birth control literature was included in the definition of obscenity.

Gillett's bill would amend the tariff act relating to importation of obscene literature and the criminal code banning such literature in this country. Incidentally, Pope Pius XI recently issued a ruling against birth control to the Catholic clergy.

Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, whose conviction in a New York court of writing a book on sex was reversed by the New York court of appeals, plans to appear before the committee.

Senators Chided For Attending Of High Class Dinner

Farewell Dinner For Senator Deneen, Illinois, Costs $10 Per Plate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Thirty Senators were chided in the Senate today for having attended the $10-a-plate farewell dinner last night of Senator Charles S. Deneen (R) of Ill.

There was some point to the teasing as the banquet forced administration leaders to abandon a contemplated night session of debate bill. It also came on the heels of the ironical resolution, introduced by Senator Brock, millionaire candy manufacturer from Tennessee, asking Senators to go on a "bread and water" diet until the drought bill is enacted. Brock said Senators would get a "deeper appreciation of human suffering" in the drought areas, if they experienced the "pangs of hunger."

Grass Fire Burns Over Seven Acres

George M. Haggerty Claims Fire Was Started By Pennsylvania Section Gang

George M. and Ella Haggerty of Little Beaver township and Edith Burnison of East Palestine, O., have filed suit at the Prothonotary's office against the Pennsylvania Railroad to recover $500 as a result of a grass fire, which burned over seven acres of the plaintiff's land in Little Beaver township.

It is claimed that the fire was started by section men of the defendant company who were cleaning up grass and weeds along the track and spread to a meadow of the de-

The honor guest received many useful gifts.

Dr. Clendening Sees White Bread As Good For Folk Of All Ages

Medical Expert Believes It Healthiest Form In Which
"Staff Of Life" Can Be Obtained And A Valuable Accessory

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

White bread is the healthiest form in which bread can be eaten.

White bread does no bodily harm to anybody (at least after the age of 18 months).

These statements are made emphatic as a result of listening to a discussion on health by a gent dressed in a leopard skin. He had a list of diseases as long as your arm, which he declared were caused by eating white bread. Since his audience apparently believed him, and since I understand there are many more statements of that kind made over the country today, I should like to try to neutralize them to some extent.

Please notice that the statements I made not only declare that white bread does no harm, but is actually the healthiest form of bread that can be obtained.

This is meant as an argument against the half-baked idea so frequently heard that the whole wheat bread is the only healthy form of bread. What does this idea amount to? What is the basis of the argument?

The basis of the argument is that in whole wheat bread the bran of the wheat and the wheat seed germ are preserved. These have vitamins in them and roughage. The vitamins are necessary to health and the roughage helps clean out the intestinal tract.

What the faddists apparently do not see at all is that the two parts of their argument are self-contradictory. The roughage is valuable because it contains vitamins, but the only reason it is valuable as roughage is because it goes through the intestinal tract undissolved or undigested. If the bran does any good as roughage it does no good as vitamin container.

The gent in the leopard skin had not paid much attention to this. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing in this age when there is so much knowledge. The leopard skin would fall away every now and then and show the gent's strong muscles, and all the ladies in the audience would take a deep sigh. I judged he had a strong back and a weak mind.

There is not the slightest evidence that white bread does any harm which is often ascribed to it—it certainly does not cause cancer or any of the diseases, including high blood pressure and tuberculosis which the gent in the leopard skin said it would. It has always been used as an acceptable accessory to other foods—such as bread and milk, sandwiches, bread and meat—and as such is one of the most valuable foods we have.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

J. R.: "What is psoriasis? Can it be cured and is it considered contagious?"

Answer: The winter time always brings out a number of queries about psoriasis. The eruptions usually go away in the summer time. It is not contagious. It can be greatly relieved, but is not adapted to home treatment.

Neptune Is Not Scared; Neither Is California

Not even the bristling armament of the U. S. S. California can scare old "Father Neptune" when something gets his goat.

Striking picture was taken when the leader of the Pacific Fleet encountered heavy weather while on her way to Panama to take part in the naval maneuvers. But she ploughs serenely on her way as if Neptune's mighty blows are only love taps.

County Federation Of Women's Clubs

Women are citizens. Still so new is that appellation for women that few as yet realize its import that carries with it much of responsibility. Many are indifferent to its meaning for them and impatient even, at the thought of a responsibility on their part.

To meet the need of the club women in assuming this newly imposed task of citizenship and to inspire all to see themselves as citizens with an opportunity to serve the government and their community, if they will, The General Federation of Women's Clubs has embodied in its organization a Department of American Citizenship.

Each state federation also, has such a department subsidiary to the national department. The chairman of the Pennsylvania department sends out this question to the federated women. "As club women we profess high ideals of government, but what are we doing about it?" and she follows it with a second question, "are we going to be loyal to our ideals?"

From this citizenship department comes much information concerning the making of laws under which we must live. As citizens we should be alive, alertly so, to these laws while they are in the making and give serious consideration to all proposed legislation. Intelligence and understanding make for better citizenship." And for a better resulting government.

A number of proposed election reforms will come before our own State Assembly soon. Several amendments to the constitution are proposed: to abolish the tax-paying qualification for voting; to create county boards; and to put the power over conduct of elections in these county boards; to appoint overseers of elections from outside the voting precinct. Who so interested in all this as the voters themselves?

Bills will be presented; to provide for permanent registration; to limit assistance in voting; to eliminate chain voting; to demand the declaration of expense accounts of voting precincts. Would these measures, if passed, elicit more active participation in elections? Does poll tax alone arouse sufficient sense of value and responsibility in a careful vote? These things concern the tax-payers mightily.

Much of the proposed legislation is not favored by politicians but recommended most earnestly by thoughtful citizens. The present plan of registration is doubtless kept in force for just one reason . . . to provide patronage. Many useless trips therefore, for busy people, must be made to the polling places just to provide unnecessary jobs for some. Shall we leave these questions to the politicians or as citizens do our own thinking and forward our opinions to our own legislator?

Another issue of vital interest to every citizen will come before the Assembly . . . the abolition of the fee system in the collection of taxes. The tax burden has become a heavy one and yet this fee system has cost the tax-payers many millions of dollars and we continue to tolerate it rather than face the politicians, who can profit in a dishonest way through it, and insist before our Assembly on the straight salary for the assessors.

A broadcast over the radio by the President of Middle West Utilities Company would have us understand that the so-called Power Trust is only a myth; that it is only a small group with socialistic tendencies that is making us suspicious and fearful of this Power Trust and that this same group, if encouraged by success in this fight, would recruit all the radical element against all industries.

Bue the chairman of the Department of American Citizenship of Pennsylvania Clubs says . . . There is illuminating information concerning the public utilities issue. This is a vital question that concerns every homemaker; every good citizen. The Supreme Court in a series of decisions has said that a public utility company is entitled to charge rates which will return seven or eight per cent on the value of property used in its business. When public utilities make as high as fifty to one thousand per cent it is proof that extortionate rates are being charged. What is the effect upon the welfare of the home?

The welfare of the home! The welfare of America! That is why we need to think seriously on these things. What a price we can pay by our indifference and by our lethargy. "Women hold in their hands, if they would use it, the balance of power." May they never be willing to use it without an intelligent understanding of the consequences but use it with all earnestness to bring about a more honest, economic, and efficient government.

How long is the Pacific coast line of the United States? The Atlantic? The Pacific coast line of the United States is 1,366 miles long, and the Atlantic is 1,888 miles in length.

Why is the room where actors and actresses await their entrances called the "green room"? Because the walls of the waiting room used by actors and actresses during the intervals of a play were green to offset the eye strain caused by the artificial lighting of the theater, this room came to be known as the "green room."

Which President is said to have never voted?

It is said that, from the time when he was of voting age, he never stayed in one place long enough to qualify as a voter, Zachary Taylor never voted.

What causes birdseyes in maple? The swellings which appear as eyes are caused by parasitic growths which get into the wood of the maple. These do not harm the wood but make it more valuable.

Where is the cloud that is known as the "Tablecloth"? The sheet of dense cloud which frequently caps the flat tops of Table Mountain, near the city of Cape Town, in Africa, is known as the "Tablecloth".

When was the first photograph taken in America? By whom? The first photograph taken in America was made by S. F. B. Morse who took a picture of the tower of the Church of the Messiah, in New York, in 1839.

How many postage stamps are used in the United States in a year? The United States government estimates that approximately 18 billion stamps are used in this country every year.

When and where was Jack Oakie, the movie star, born? Jack Oakie was born in Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 12, 1903.

Whereas as the first telegraph office located? The first telegraph office was located at Washington, D. C., in 1844.

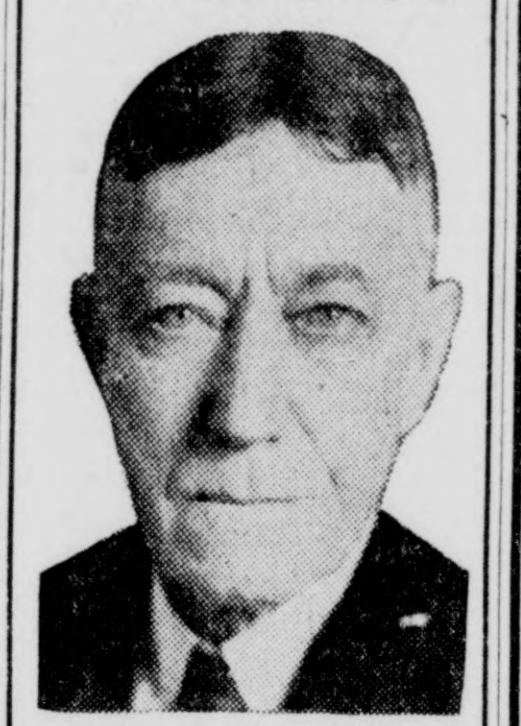

What is meant by sabotage? Sabotage is the wilful destruction of machinery by workers during industrial disputes. It is derived from the French word, sabot, meaning wooden shoe, due to the fact that French workers often threw their wooden shoes into the machinery to put it out of order.

Awful thought. New machines in the next decade may produce twice as much of everything, and we'll all die of want.—The Akron Beacon Journal.

Is Well Along the Happy Road to New Health

Erie Resident, 74, Tells of Relief By Nu-Erb After Two Years Suffering.

"For the past two years I have been in poor health, due to stomach and kidney ailments," says Mr. J. A. Henderson, 1434 Buffalo road, Erie, Pa., who is 74 years of age. "Most any kind of food that I ate gave me severe indigestion after every meal. Gas pressed around my heart, causing a distressed feeling and shortness of breath from which I could get no relief. My kidneys were in a weakened condition. I was troubled with rheumatism and backache. I was a victim to constipation and I couldn't sleep nights.

"Although every medicine that I used had failed to help me, I heard a great deal about Nu-Erb and decided to try it. There is no question but that this new medicine is better than anything I have ever used, for it has entirely overcome the indigestion and that distressing, gassy condition of my stomach. My kidneys appear to be stronger. The backache has disappeared and the rheumatic pains have left my joints and muscles. My bowels are acting regularly every day and I sleep soundly at night for the first time in years. I do not hesitate to recommend this medicine to anyone."

Nu-Erb is made from the liquid extract of twelve herbs, roots, barks and leaves, which act on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. It is guaranteed to contain no minerals, narcotics, or habit-forming drugs. It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

ALLSTATE has consistently sold about a fourth below any other tire of comparable quality—now it sells even lower. The new reductions average 11%—some sizes are reduced 19%. And you save even more than that when you buy a pair. Raw rubber and cotton have come down. And new economies in manufacturing and distributing have been effected as a result of the fact that one out of every ten tires sold for replacement in 1936 was an ALLSTATE. So Sears passed these savings along to motorists by making the ALLSTATE a better tire than ever—and offering it for less than ever.

Cangey To Box Duris At Bowl

Will Replace Bruce And August As Main 10
Round Bout

FANS ANTICIPATE SLUGGING BATTLE

Paris Kid Cangey, the boy with the Powder Flat and Mickey Duris, slugging pride of Johnstown, will top the fight calendar at Castle bowl, Monday night it was announced today. They will replace Sam Bruce and Pete August as the latter injured a hand Wednesday and it was necessary to postpone that match until later. As Cangey and Duris are noted for their sporty hitting ability it is rather certain that there will be a knockout before the tenth and last bell rings.

August and Bruce had been carded but sometime Wednesday August received a gash on one of his hands and notified Jimmy Dime, acting manager that he would be unable to fight Bruce for three weeks. As soon as Ed Fritz received the bad news, he requested Bruce to battle Jackie Brady of Syracuse. Bruce refused. Rather than give Bruce, a week opponent, Fritz decided to hold the match over and substitute two sluggers.

Home Boy Is Main
In looking around he didn't have to gaze far as Paris Kid Cangey, local fighter with two months training under his belt, pleaded for a chance to show himself at the bowl. "I'm a local fighter and you're on record to show as many local fighters as you can," said Cangey. Knowing that Duris had beat Andy Andruci, Benny McArthur and other 140 pounders, Fritz signed the two to fight.

And in signing the two sluggers it looks as though he landed two popular sluggers. Everybody knows that Cangey is managed by Jimmy Dime and that Duris is piloted by Jimmy Dunn.

For a couple of years there has been considerable rivalry between Dime and Dunn and when the match was broached each accepted. It is needless to say that they will send out their proteges to score a knockout.

There is one certainty about Cangey. He will fight. He isn't a "pink tea" dancer. There isn't a better puncher in his class. When he met Frankie Ferro he scored a knockout. Tony Herrera, the Mexican, couldn't stop Ferro. Cangey had the tail and range Maxie Strub reeling and ready for a knockout but left his chin unguarded momentarily and Maxie put Cangey away.

The Committee in charge of the tournament includes Walt Whitman, New Wilmington high school; H. J. Coulton, Bessemer; Porter McCandless, Plain Grove; and Clare Book, Shenango. The college committee to assist the high school group includes Athletic Director Lawrence A. A. McDonald, Chester Ward, and Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald, Chester Ward. While officials were not anxious to express any views on the subject, it is likely that this tournament may develop into an annual affair for class B schools of Lawrence county. Westminster has never before been host to a high school basketball tournament, but the large playing court of the Titans is ideal for such an event.

Trophies donated by Westminster will be given to the winning team in the tournament and also to the team in runner-up position, college officials announced.

WESTMINSTER TO HOLD COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Lawrence County Championships To Be Held March 9 To March 13

(Special to The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 13.—Class B high schools of Lawrence county will play for the county championship in a basketball tournament to be held in the Westminster College gymnasium, March 9 to March 13, it was announced here yesterday.

Eleven high schools of the county have entered teams and will play according to brackets arranged by a committee of school officials held yesterday in the Main college building. These schools include Eton, Princeton, Mt. Jackson and Harlanburg, Bessemer, East Brook, New Wilmington, Wampum, Union, Plain Grove, and Shenango.

Three games are arranged for the opening day, March 9. Eton plays Princeton in the first game of the tournament. Mt. Jackson and Harlanburg are bracketed for the second game. The winners of each of these games meet March 11. On March 9, Bessemer and East Brook oppose one another, and on March 10 New Wilmington and Wampum play. The winners of these two games meet March 11.

Union and Plain Grove play March 10, and the winner of this game will be pitted against the winner of the playoff on March 12. Shenango will play the winner of the playoff on March 12 and the two surviving teams will play for the championship March 13.

The Committee in charge of the tournament includes Walt Whitman, New Wilmington high school; H. J. Coulton, Bessemer; Porter McCandless, Plain Grove; and Clare Book, Shenango. The college committee to assist the high school group includes Athletic Director Lawrence A. A. McDonald, Chester Ward, and Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald, Chester Ward.

Geneva Outclasses Catholic Quintet

(International News Service)
BEAVER FALLS, Feb. 13.—Geneva College's basketballing crew administered a sound thrashing last night to Catholic University, 42-19, in a game which featured by the superior floor work of the Genevans. Their deadly shooting, too, baffled the Cardinals, who had difficulty stemming the barrage of baskets. Pop Manning, playing only three minutes of the second half for Geneva, five, shared high scoring honors with Cliff Aultman, each registering 14 points.

French Runner Out In Front

Sera Martin, France, Wins Easily In 660 Yard Indoor Race

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—Sera Martin of France, who starts in the New York A. C. games next Monday night, really is a good trackster.

The Frenchman, who was defeated in his American debut at the Seton Hall games early in the week, demonstrated his class at the Meadowbrook games last night when he took the 660 in 1:22.6-10, which is one and a fifth seconds behind the world's record.

When it is considered that the arena track here is rather slow, it is easy to believe that Sera is a wonderfully fast man. Sera borrowed Stella Walsh's shoes to travel the 660, as his were too tight.

Conger was another winner. The Illinois A. C. flyer captured the mile to maintain his three-year winning streak. Ray's time was 4:17.6-10 and he had to travel fast in the last stages of the race to escape being pocketed. He won by four yards.

Stella Walsh of Cleveland equalled the world's record in the 40-yard sprint. The record of 0:05.2-10 is held jointly by Miss Rosa Grosche, Miss Walsh and Miss Mary Carew.

Miss Alice Monk, 16-year-old Newark girl, forced Miss Walsh to the record to win.

Managers Attend Baseball Meeting

There was quite a lot of enthusiasm for the resumption of the Lawrence county baseball league last night, at a meeting held in the Sporting Goods store. Five teams were represented by their respective managers. Seven other teams are expected to go along with the league at its next meeting the first Tuesday in March.

The following teams had managers at the meeting last night: West, Pittsburgh, Hillsville, Southside, Wood of Trade, Marshalls and Oakland A. C. The following teams have signed their intention of hooking up with the league: Universal, Enon, Valley and Universal Sanitary. The following teams will be asked to join the league: Wampum, Enery, Brent and Koppel.

Some kind of an organization will be attempted at the next meeting. Alec Samuels and Eddie Conery had charge of the meeting held last evening.

A number of gold coins of a special issue, celebrating the defeat of the French fleet by Edward III of England in 1340, were recently excavated from the side of an ancient road in Wales.

Nats Star Annoyed By Ball Game Near Home

By Central Press
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 13.—"Baseball? Sure, in the ball park. But next door? Never!"

This ukase was subscribed to by one Ossie Bluege, easily identified by baseball fans as the sterling third baseman of the Washington Senators.

Ossie, apparently, isn't as interested in the national pastime in off hours as he is when laboring on the diamond. For he and other property owners of his vicinity have joined hands in protest against the proposed erection of a school in their neighborhood.

Bluege and his neighbors have told district commissioners that if the school were erected near their domiciles they would be subject to great annoyance by the clamor of little boys playing baseball and little girls playing hop-scotch.

All of which goes to prove that even a ball player who may relish the roar of packed stands as he hammers a homer to the far flung skies enjoys his moments of solitude which must not be broken even by a game of baseball.

WANT GAMES
The Coaltown floor team would like to arrange games with all fast teams in the city or county. Games with Coaltown can be scheduled by calling 3366-R and asking for Hib.

Yellow Jackets Top Scienceville

Yellow Jackets, girls floor team handed the Scienceville girls a 49-27 setback in a game played at Youngstown on Wednesday.

The playing of Miss Ruth Patton was outstanding for the Yellow Jackets. Luxon was the best for the loser.

Five Games Are Carded For "Y" Floor Tonight

Baptists And Lutherans Will Battle In Final Game For Championship

Five floor games are on tap for tonight at the "Y" floor. The first three games are regular league affairs, with one of the title a non-league game, while the final game brings together the First Baptist B team and the St. John's Lutherans in the final game of the three-game series for the first-half title.

The first game starts at 8 o'clock. The Central Christian A. team opposes the Wesley M. E. team in the first game. The second game is between the Finnish Lutherans and Sacred Hearts, the third game finds the Wampum Presbyterians and the First Baptist A teams clashing. The fourth tilt is between the Y. M. I. C. and the Polish Falcon Juniors. The final battle will be the championship game with the First Baptist B team and the St. John's Lutherans.

The first Walker-Risko fight, the middleweight champ gave a burly John a shelling in the first round. The fight was a scrap. Maloney upset the applicant by grabbing the duke over Primo who had been, of course, a heavy favorite.

Both shows are attractive. Each bout (they will be held in Miami's fight arena, owned by Madison Square Garden) is a repeater. In the first Walker-Risko fight, the middleweight champ gave a burly John a shelling in the first round. The fight was a scrap. Maloney upset the applicant by grabbing the duke over Primo who had been, of course, a heavy favorite.

Both are good matches and should play to profitable houses. It looks like a couple of smart promoters have put themselves and four fighters in the way of picking up some nice change.

Unless we read the signs wrongly, Walker should take the Baker Boy again and Primo ought to even his score against Maloney. The Risk and Maloney have given plenty of evidence that they've topped their peaks, while Walker and Primo are both striving for the same goal—Mr. Schmeling's heavyweight title.

A defeat by Risko wouldn't do Walker's campaign for a chance at Jack Sharkey and for recognition as a full-fledged heavyweight one bit of good and another win for Maloney over Carrera would cost Primo his, at this time, almost certain crack at the heavyweight crown before the year is out.

Nope, canny Doc Kearns, Walker's mentor, and the board of directors of Carrera, Inc., wouldn't have signed on the line if the Risk and Primo weren't virtually certain of taking their men. Ex look for a nice bull market in Walker and Primo preferred after the Florida inventories are completed.

Incidentally, this is the first winter season in which two bouts in Florida instead of one will be tried. If both shows are a financial success there is a great probability that Florida will see an increasing number of shows each cold spell.

The money is down there when the snow is flying elsewhere. Your tourist has the dough to support good fight shows—or he wouldn't be a tourist. Native Floridians, too, are eager to support big fights in their midst because they create counter attractions to the liquid liberties of Cuba and may do much in the future to keep American coin in America, that is to say, in Florida.

New Castle Plays At Evans City Saturday

Coach Bridenbaugh May Use Revised Lineup Against Fast Evans City Quintet

New Castle Hopes To Win Fifteenth Straight; Ludwig Ostrosky May Start

On Saturday night on the Evans City floor the New Castle high school quintet will play Evans City high. A revised lineup may take the floor for New Castle.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh who has been using different lineups in the workouts this week may use one of his new combinations and if this selection should come through in fine fashion the local mentor is apt to use the lineup for the remainder of the season. The final workout for the New Castle cagers will be held this afternoon.

Evans City fell victims to the New Castle team not long ago and is planning to give the locals a stiff contest. The floor at Evans City may cause the New Castle passers some trouble.

The Tin City boys go in the game with 14 straight victories and will be making a struggle to annex their fifteenth.

The lineup which may take the floor for the locals is Nick Uram and James Shaffer at guards, Andy Lasky at center, and John Uram and Ludwig Ostrosky at forwards. James Shaffer has been playing forward and Coach Bridenbaugh is attempting to make a guard out of Shaffer.

Both promoters of the two cards are enthusiastically over prospects. Frank Bruen, former Madison Square Garden official, who is putting on the Carrera-Maloney extravaganza, and Pa. Stribling, father of Heavyweight Will Stribling, who is conducting the Walker-Risko show, expects sell-outs for their parties. And they are probably correct in their surmise.

Harvey-Dundee Battle Tonight

Englishman Hopes To Reverse Recent Defeat At Hands Of Dundee

WINNER MAY GET CHANCE AT WALKER

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Another attempt to revive interest in the stagnant middleweight division will be made at Madison Square Garden tonight when Len Harvey, British middleweight champion, and Vince Dundee, New Jersey Italian, meet in a return twelve round bout. Harvey is a slight favorite in the betting.

The bout will have an important bearing on the attempt of the New York Boxing Commission to create a middleweight ruler in this state. Mickey Walker is not recognized here.

Seek Knockout
If Harvey or Dundee should win by a knockout tonight, a match between the winner and Walker might arouse interest enough to lure Mickey away from his heavyweight play. Harvey knows that titles are won and lost only in the ring, and would derive no great satisfaction from a title gained by eliminating Dundee. Dave Shade, Vittorio Lavan and Harry Ebbets, the Long Island playboy, The Briton wants to beat Dundee and then take a crack at Walker.

In his first bout with Dundee here Harvey barely missed becoming an overnight sensation. He floored the New Jersey Italian twice in the first round with a snappy left hook for counts of nine. One more second on either knockdown and the rangy Cornishman would have become a powerful local favorite, supported by his record of 200 knockouts and only one defeat in 250 previous battles.

Harvey Tires Easily
As it was, Harvey cooked his own goose. Accustomed to long fights in England, he wanted to meet Dundee over the fifteen-round route and finally compromised on twelve, the end of ten rounds he was far ahead on points, and would have won if he had not insisted on the extra rounds. But Dundee, getting stronger as his opponent tired, rallied to win the decision, however questionable. Vince's damaging body punches were down the Englishman. This time, Harvey declared he will win on points if he fails to register a knockout. He has had time to acclimate himself and the nervousness attendant upon his debut here has worn away.

Lot of Interest
The return bout tonight is creating tremendous interest in England. British fight fans, disillusioned for years by such phantasies as Joe Beckwith and phantoms Phil Scott, are right proud of Harvey. Several London newspapers, stressing the fact that many New York sports writers thought Harvey should have been given the decision over Dundee have been charging that John Bull's boy was robbed of the victory.

Dundee is severely confident of repeating his triumph over the Briton. He sampler Harvey's hardest wallop and got off the floor to make a game comeback. And that's all you can ask of any leather pusher.

Westminster On Trip Next Week

To Meet Waynesburg And Bethany Teams On Their Home Floors

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Feb. 13.—Coach "Pop" Harrison's Westminster College basketball team, with eight victories and only one defeat in district games so far this season, faces a strenuous road trip early next week when Waynesburg and Bethany will be met on succeeding nights.

The Titans leave here early Monday for Waynesburg where the Yellowjackets will be played on the Armory floor. "This gym is of cigar-box proportions, and the Titans will be lucky to defeat the jackets in the cramped quarters. On Tuesday night the miracle team of Bethany College, the point-a-minute quintet, will be played on the small Bethany court at Bethany, W. Va.

No teams have been able to defeat Bethany this season, and visiting teams to the Bison court are usually swamped by overwhelming scores. Only Geneva succeeded in scoring the Bisons in a game which Bethany won 42-40 in an overtime period.

Westminster has not played Waynesburg at Waynesburg for three seasons, and has been unable to defeat Bethany at Bethany for a number of seasons. Next week's road trip, then, is perhaps the severest test the Titans will have away from home. Following this trip, Thiel, Bethany, and Geneva will be played at home.

Coaltown Wins Over I. W. W. Five

Coaltown basketball team split a double bill on Wednesday night, defeating the I. W. W. five 20-18 and losing to the Tin Mill quintet, 18-16 in two extra five minute periods. The summary of the Coaltown-I. W. W. game follows:

Carnegie Quintet Defeats Mahoning

Safeties Trim West Side, 28-7; Penn Victorious Over Sparks In Other Games

Three fast games were played on the Carnegie floor on Thursday night. In the feature game of the evening the Carnegie quintet won another victory when it defeated the Mahoning five, 26-18. In other games played, the Safety Five won over the West Side Five, 28-7 and the Penn eagles handed the Sparks a 25-18 setback.

In the feature game the Carnegie boys lead throughout and were never in danger of being overcome by their opponents. Vigali with 7 field goals was the outstanding player for the Carnegie quint while Compello and Mingione were best performers for the Mahoning five.

In the Safety-West Side game the Safeties outclassed their opponents in every department. At the half the winners held a 17-1 lead. George and DeGenero played well for the Safeties with Davis and Hetrick for the losers.

The Penn Five made a great comeback in the second half to come through victorious over the Sparks. The game was fast throughout. The work of Beck and Kelso was impressive for the Penn passers while Rowe was the best bet for the Sparks.

Fight fans of the tri-state district gave Jack Dempsey a great reception last night when he refereed the Shea-Dombrowski battle at Youngstown. He was introduced as the "champion of champions" and the ovation he got when he entered the ring showed plainly that he is still the idol of the fan though Dempsey is no longer active except as a referee.

Following the bout the writer, Adolph Lang and Albert Snyder of this city and Jimmy Dunn, Cleveland, were invited to Dempsey's hotel quarters. Jack asked the writer about Jimmy Dime, Tom McMahon, George Chip and other notables of the boxing game in this section.

In discussing heavyweights, Jack told the writer that Tony Galento, this city and Jimmy Dunn, Cleveland, were invited to Dempsey's hotel quarters. Jack asked the writer about Jimmy Dime, Tom McMahon, George Chip and other notables of the boxing game in this section.

Jack refereed the Rocco-Griffiths fight at Detroit and Leonard Sachs, his secretary, told us that Jack is overwhelmed with requests to referee bouts. In fact, according to Sachs, Dempsey has to refuse some of the requests because he cannot make the jump.

We asked Dempsey if he would care to come to New Castle next summer to officiate and he replied that he would be only too willing to come here if he is still in the east. His popularity got Gus Clark, the new promoter in Youngstown, away to a big start as every seat in the auditorium was taken.

During last night's visit, Lang asked Dempsey if he remembered meeting Lang and Johnny Kraft, a former News man, in Hamburg. Dempsey said he did, then spoke a few sentences in German. He intimated that sometime in the future he would make another visit to Germany.

Dempsey doesn't show the marks

Emmett Rocco and Knockout Christner have been matched to fight at Akron February 24, according to Suey Welsh. Rocco and Al Zill are at Tampa, Fla.

HUBS TO PLAY SAINTS HERE.

Tonight at St. Mary's auditorium the St. Mary's A. A. team will tackle the strong Hubbard Hubs of Hubbard, Ohio. The game starts at 8:15 o'clock.

Last night the Saints further extended their winning streak by defeating the Patricians of Youngstown. The score was 24 to 20. It was a fast and exciting game.

The game tonight should prove one of the best of the year as the Hubbard Hubs have been champions in Eastern Ohio for the past two years and runnersup up for several years. They are coming here to upset the locals but will find a tough outfit. Father Nee, director of the Saints will have his strongest lineup available for tonight's tilt.

1931 Sphere Boon To Hurlers, Says Tiger Ace, Others

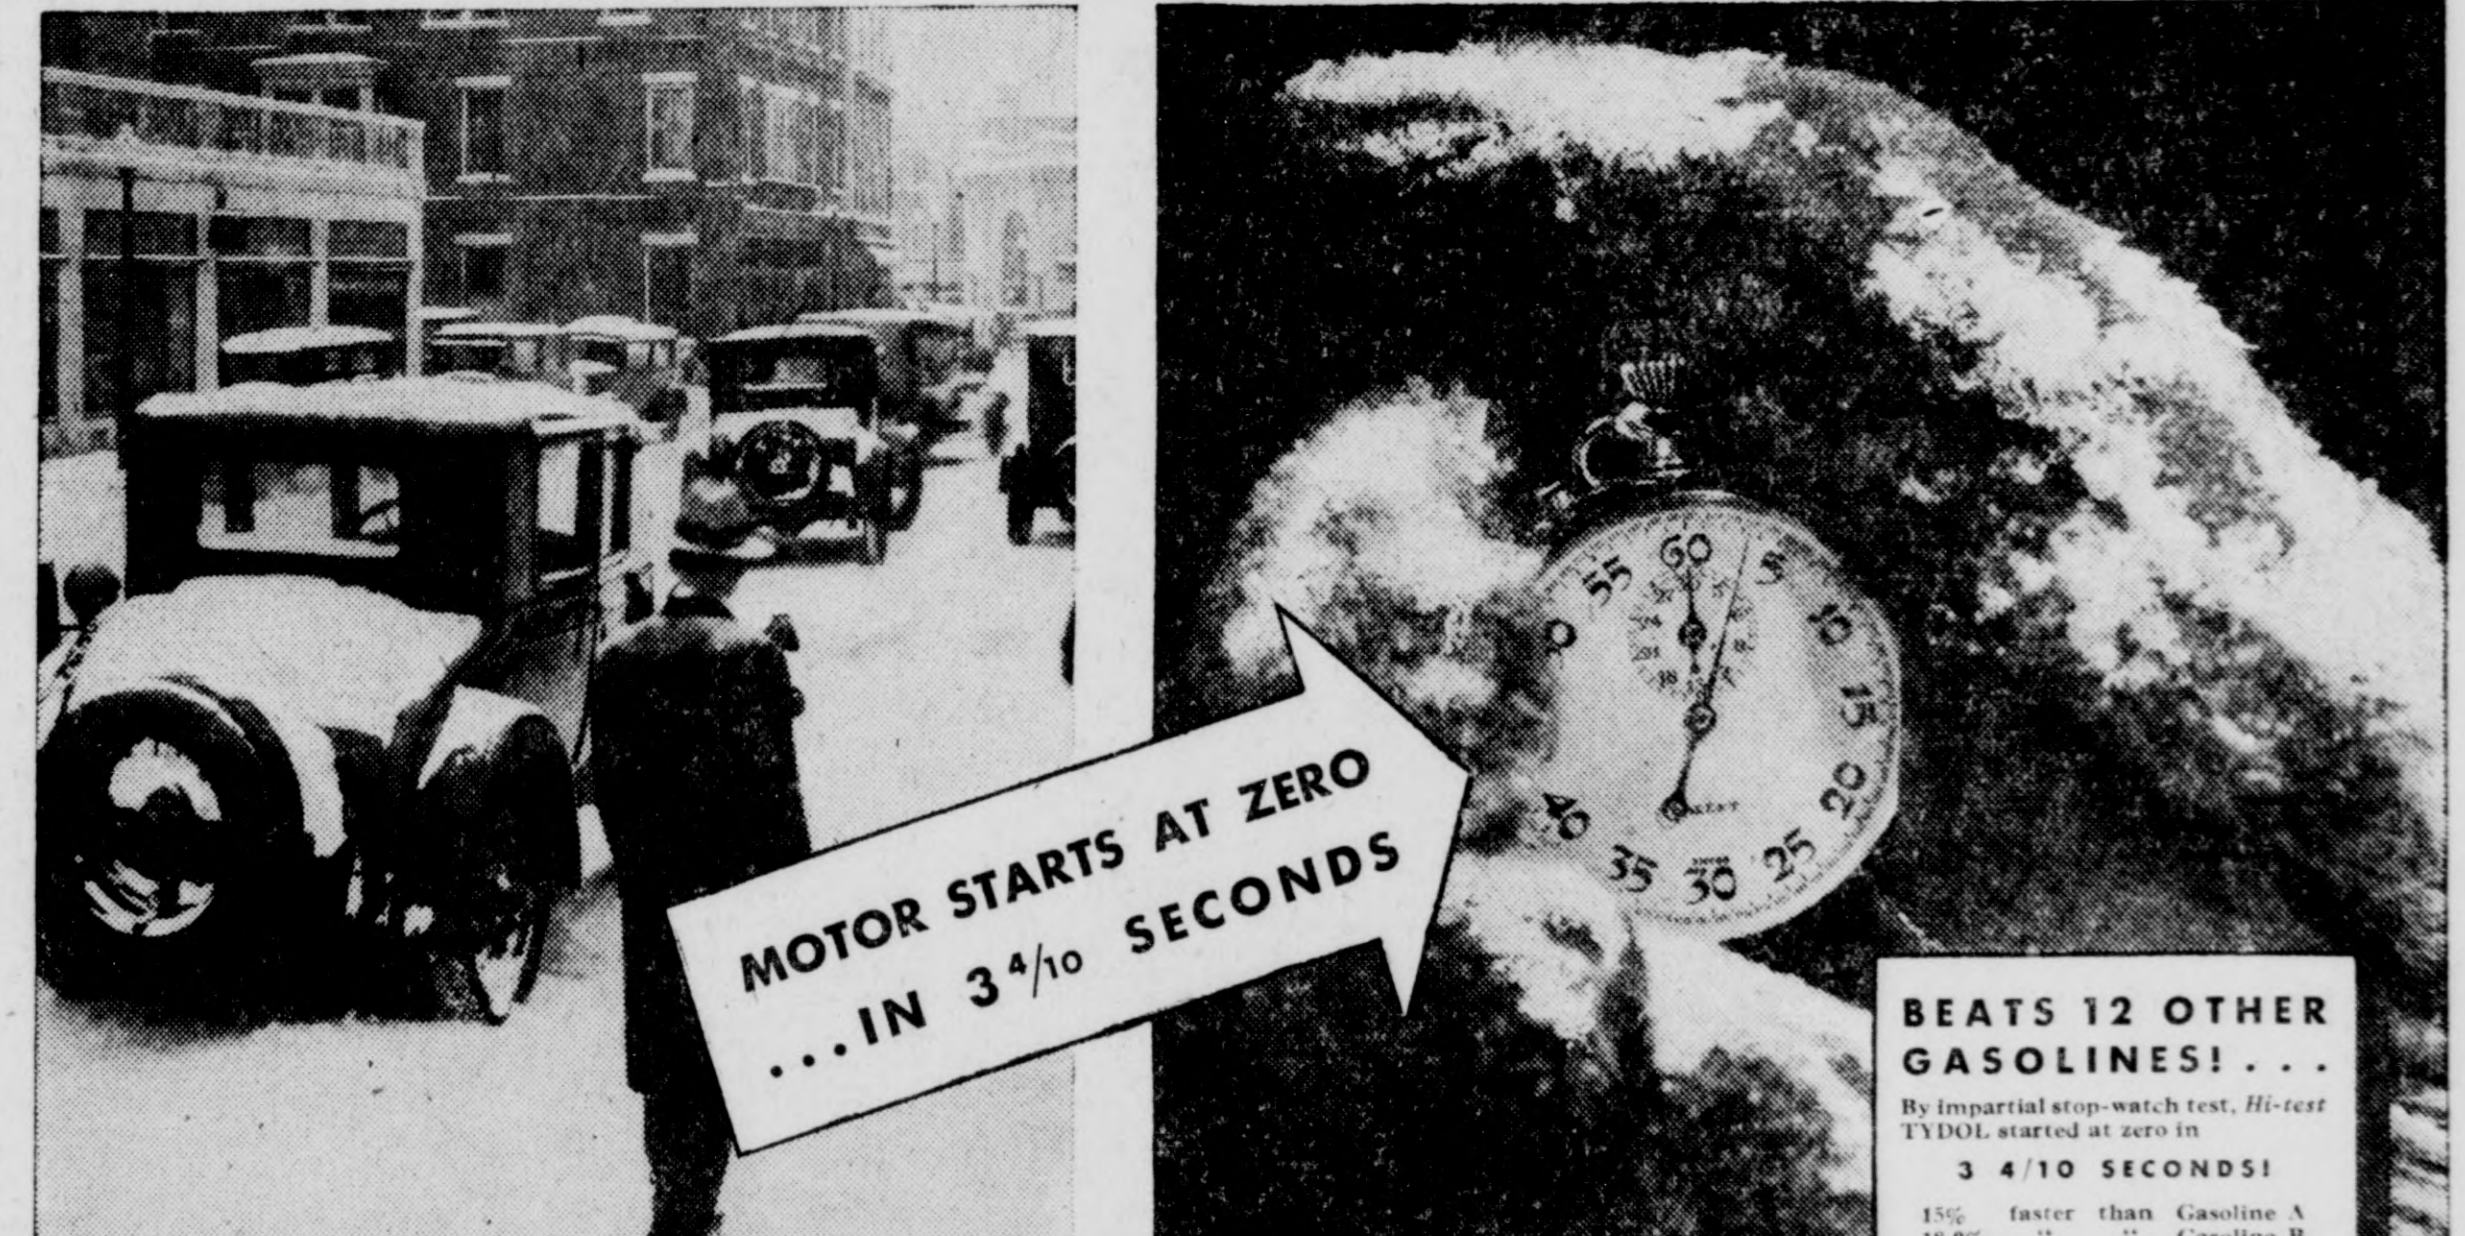

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Artist

"The new ball will lengthen the major league life of some of our pitchers, I believe. It will enable the hurlers to get a better, firmer grip on the sphere and a bigger and sharper curve can be thrown as a result."

George Uhle speaking, Uhle, veteran Tiger slabsman who has hurled more rabbit balls in years past at the volatile bats of Babe Ruth, Al Simmons and other American league sluggers than he cares to count.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stock Market Is Held Back By Profit Taking

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Though higher prices were quoted this morning for the Specialty stocks and a small number of the favored Industrials, the market as a whole was held back by profit taking. An early loss of 2½ cents a bushel for Wheat and 2 cents a bushel for Corn helped to unsettle the market, but trading dried up as prices of the active stocks declined.

Auburn Auto and J. I. Case moved up about 3 points each and new gains of a point or more were recorded in the best grade Utilities. Westinghouse made a further 3-point jump to 98½, and Kennecott Copper carried its rally to 27½, a point from Wednesday's close. United States Steel was freely sold under 147. General Motors lost about a point and most of the Rails were held back by fairly heavy selling.

U. S. Government bonds reflected with higher prices the Washington statements that no new government financing would be necessary in connection with the raising of the loan volume on soldiers' certificates.

All sections of the market slowed down near the noon period, the chief feature of which was the activity and strength in Westinghouse. Call money was in supply at 1½ per cent.

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

How will Rabbit Maranville, most aged of major league infielders in point of service, fare this season?

"The Rabbit will be in there playing a good game, as always," answers Bill McKechnie, Boston Braves manager. "Maranville shows no sign of slipping."

Though none of the infielders doing business in the majors when the Rabbit came up to the Big Time are still active players in the National or American, last season Maranville gave no evidence of cracking.

There was a time when Maranville liked to have his fun, but that is all over. The Rabbit in late years has taken excellent care of himself, to which he owes the fact that he can compete on even terms with men 10 years and more his junior. He's past 38.

"Say," says McKechnie, "you don't have to worry about the Rabbit keeping in trim. When the Braves assemble in the south he's always in better condition than most any other player."

"About all the Rabbit needs during spring training is batting practice. No matter how much care a player may take to keep it during the off season the old batting eyes have to be sharpened each spring."

"Maranville is the wonder man of baseball right now. He's got more pep and fire and color besides ability than a whole lot of the youngsters."

"However, the dope is that the Braves' management will have the Rabbit go slowly during the training grind. He'll be used in only a few exhibition games if any. Despite his apparently boundless energy his strength must be conserved."

The Rabbit has just received one of the greatest compliments a ball club can pay its oldest veteran. McKechnie has declared that Maranville's position at short is the only one he is sure about.

Mountaineers Upset Georgetown Quint

(International News Service) MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 13.—Mountaineer footballmen today were in possession of their second victory this week over the cage team from Georgetown University, the score of the contest last night being 38-22. Three full teams were used by the West Virginia cagers before the game was over, and their lead at no time was endangered. Georgetown garnered only three field goals the second half of the game.

The engagement marked the return of the mountaineers to their home court after playing four consecutive games abroad and in the East.

CANARIES SING BASS AT ANNUAL EXHIBIT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 13.—The annual Roller Canary exhibition and singing contest conducted here recently displayed singing birds from England, Germany and other countries as well as from California.

One group of the songsters entered in the contest were classed as Bass canary birds. Their range of song was low enough for them to sing "Asleep in the Deep," and other bass songs.

Other singing birds were classified as Hollow, water roll, flute, shackle, gunkle roll, deep bubbling water tour and just plain canary.

Congressman Under Federal Indictment For Postal Fraud

Congressman Harry E. Rowbottom, Held By Indictment For Postal Fraud

(International News Service) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 13.—Congressman Harry E. Rowbottom, Republican of Evansville, Ind., was indicted today by the federal grand jury here in connection with post office appointment frauds in southern Indiana counties.

The grand jury charged that Rowbottom accepted money in return for making appointments for postmaster in several cities and for four other postal appointments.

Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell set February 27 as the date for arraignment of the congressman. The Evansville congressman held office for six terms, representing the first Indiana district until his defeat last fall by John Boehne, Democrat, of Evansville.

Rowbottom rose to political power with the Ku Klux Klan which supported him in many campaigns. He was closely connected with D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Klan, who now is serving a life sentence in the Indiana state prison at Michigan City for the murder of an Indianapolis young woman.

Rowbottom steadfastly has refused to make any statement concerning the allegations.

Prothonotary Gets High Post From Elks' Past Exalted Rulers

Ralph M. Campbell, Lawrence county prothonotary is again the president of the Past Exalted Rulers' Association of the New Castle Lodge of Elks, having been re-elected when the membership convened this week.

Abe Levine was renamed as secretary of the organization. Sixteen persons attended the annual dinner, with District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, Earle MacDonald, of Warren, Pa., as chief guest. A program featured the evening.

"Hop, skip and jump, is the latest sport."

Benham Asks For $75,000 To Start Up New Business

Belvidere, Illinois, Investors Asked To Raise $75,000

(International News Service) BELVIDERE, Ill., Feb. 13.—Belvidere's citizens who took part in Albert W. Benham's "50 per cent interest" plan today were contemplating his offer to start up in business again if $75,000 can be raised to finance the project.

Benham announced that he was bankrupt Tuesday after conducting a phenomenal business which yielded 50 per cent interest to investors. Investigators failed to learn how Benham accomplished the financial feat.

After the financial wizard announced himself bankrupt Prosecutor Alexander Strom estimated that his liabilities would amount to $400,000. Benham departed shortly afterward, stating that he was going away for a rest. His desire to start anew in the lucrative business was delayed here by friends, according to Strom.

Man Is Jailed In Stealing Of Rails

Police At Pittsburgh Seek Three Other Men Implicated In Railroad Theft

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Charged with the theft of 14 sections of railroad track, valued at $350, by the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, Roy Anthony, 34, of East Liverpool, O., was held in jail here today while police sought three other men in connection with the alleged larceny.

Filing of the charges against the quartet came as the aftermath of an investigation by Ohio and West Virginia police of the removal of a section of the Panhandle railroad extension east of here.

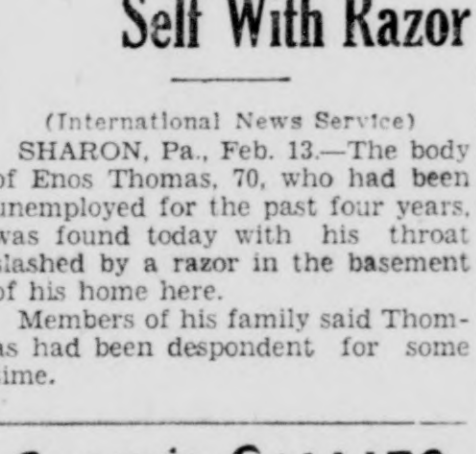

Sharon Man Kills Self With Razor

(International News Service) SHARON, Pa., Feb. 13.—The body of Enos Thomas, 70, who had been unemployed for the past four years, was found today with his throat slashed by a razor in the basement of his home here.

Members of his family said Thomas had been despondent for some time.

The Decision

The court held with the plumbing firm. The judges reasoned thus: Courts hold that one making a contract breaks it by less than full performance. They also hold, however, that an omission which is trivial does not break the contract if a deduction is made for the resulting damage. Here it seems that there was no difference in the quality of the pipe. The rule then was to make some allowance for the omission and to pay the balance.

A certain young Congressman says Americans never will submit to a dictatorship. He is a bachelor. Senators are within their rights when they try to be Chief Executive, but not while Hoover is.

C. W. Herman Hess Will Be Speaker

Will Make Patriotic Address To The Sons Of Union
Veterans

At the annual observance of Union Defenders Day and Lincoln's birthday to be held this evening under the auspices of Oscar L. Jackson camp No. 249, Sons of Union Veterans, the address of the evening will be given by C. W. Herman Hess. It will be along patriotic lines and in keeping with the occasion being observed.

In addition to the address, there will be an interesting program carried out and it is anticipated that there will be a large representation of the members of the various local affiliated organizations of the G. A. R.

The affair will be held in the Sons of Union Veterans hall in the city building and preparations are being made by Jackson camp and its auxiliary to entertain a good crowd.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

Mrs. Chatterer: "Goodby. Thank you for the interesting news."
Mrs. Idle-Gossip: "Be sure and tell everybody not to tell anybody what I told you."

To save time in doing the home laundry fold towels after the last rinsing, run through the wringer smoothly and hang straight to dry; they will not require ironing.

Reformed Crook At Moose Club

"Jimmy, The Trusty" To Speak To Members On Tuesday Evening

James J. Curran, reformed swindler and confidence man, will address members of the Moose lodge

Tuesday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock on the subject "A Voice From the Prison." He will tell some of his experiences during his life of crime.

He is better known as "Jimmy the Trusty", a name given him by New York newspapermen, whom he aided in their work during his stretch at Tombs prison.

He was born in Greenwich Village and comes from the same neighborhood as Mayor Jimmy Walker and Gene Tunney. He has spent more than nine of his 46 years behind the bars, reforming in 1920 through the interest of Warden Hanley, who placed confidence in him and made him a trusty at the front gate of the prison. He has been traveling for the past ten years, pointing out the pitfalls which await those engaged in criminal life.

DOG BITE FATAL AFTER MANY YEARS

(International News Service)
ROME, Feb. 13.—Hydrophobia

from a dog's bite received 24 years ago caused the death of Pasquale Olivieri, local storekeeper who formerly farmed near Naples. Olivieri was bitten by a mad dog during the near-eruption of Vesuvius in 1906. The bite caused little inconvenience at the time, but left a scar. Recently he was admitted to a hospital, where he died after showing all the symptoms of hydrophobia.
